U. S. 31ST HALTS JAPANESE TROOPS IN SHANGHAI AREA

Chinese Charged by Nipponese With Hurling Stones.

CIVILIANS FLEE, CRYING FOR AID

Fighting Is Averted by Narrow Margin as Confusion Reigns.

Shanghai, May 3 (U.P.).—A Japanese marine patrol invaded the American defense sector of the International Settlement tonight, ignored police protests, indiscriminately attacked Chinese civilians, and attempted to defy United States troops until a battalion of the Thirty-first Infantry forced them to withdraw.

The Japanese yielded sullenly and with threats to return in force regardless of the American troops, but a clash between the bluejackets of Nippon and the infantrymen who have been on duty since the Shanghai warfare was averted by a narrow margin.

The incident arose out of Japanese charges that Chinese in the American defense sector of the Settlement had been hurling stones across Soochow Creek at Japanese marines on duty in the native Chapei sector, which was almost destroyed during the recent hostilities. It was in view of possible renewal of such stoning that the Japanese threatened to return and exact vengeance.

Strong Guard Posted.

A strong guard of the Thirty-first Infantry was posted throughout the affected district after the controversy.

The Japanese invasion occurred in the neighborhood of the Wuchen Road Bridge, not far from the Sinza water tower. The recent bombing of five high Japanese officials in Shanghai and the present interruption of negotiations for a truce in the Shanghai conflict had increased tension and the bluejackets swarmed across the bridge to seize the Chinese.

They climbed the locked gates at the bridgehead and launched an indiscriminate attack on all Chinese in sight, using stones, bayonets and rifle butts on the civilian victims of the affray. Many Chinese were maltreated. About a score or more were injured anad some were taken to hospitals in a serious condition. The entire Sinza district was panic stricken when Chinese civilians fled wildly through the streets, screaming and shouting for aid.

Ignore Municipal Police.

Municipal police were summoned from the Sinza station, but their attempts to end the affair were futile. The sturdy, grim-faced marines ignored them and continued their attack on the Chinese. When the police attempted to interfere they were threatened with violence.

Police reserves were called. As they arrived, the Japanese marines were dragging two Chinese coolies from a house. The coolies screamed and fought against their captors. The police called upon the Japanese to hand over the prisoners, who were subject to arrest only by the municipal authorities.

The marines flatly refused and the police appealed to the Thirty-first Infantry. A battalion of American troops under command of Maj. Leo-

Nations Back U.S., Ignoring Pu-Yi Regime

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, in his conversations with statesmen of European nations, found unanimous support for the position taken by this Government in the nonrecognition of the Japanese puppet state of Manchoukuo, it was learned here yesterday. The Secretary sails from Cannes today and will be at his desk in ten days. The opinion generally prevailing in League of Nations circles was that Japan would shortly be faced with a situation beyond her control in Manchuria.

The United States had taken the lead in refusing to extend recognition to the Manchurian republic at the moment of its creation, and other European nations have subsequently followed this example. The priniciple followed the now famous "Hoover Doctrine"

CALIFORNIA IS KEY IN ROOSEVELT DRIVE

Backers Will Seek Support of Favorite Sons if He Wins There.

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

If Franklin D. Roosevelt wins the California preferential primary and adds 44 more delegates to his already formidable list, an organized effort will be made to have some of the favorite-son candidates renounce their own presidential aspirations and come out for the New Yorker.

The negotiations will be conducted by Roosevelt supporters in Congress.

Two men who were prospective favorite-son candidates already have stepped aside in favor of Mr. Roosevelt—Senator Alben W. Barkley, of Kentucky, and Senator Joe T. Robinson, of Arkansas.

The Roosevelt workers at the Capital now have in mind at least three others who might be persuaded to eliminate themselves and let their delegations go to the New York Governor.

These are Speaker John N. Garner, of Texas; former Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri, and former Gov. Harry Byrd, of Virginia.

Texas, Missouri and Virginia will have a combined delegate strength in the convention of 106. If Roosevelt could be assured of these delegates in advance, it is believed, his nomination would be a virtual certainty.

There is considerable Roosevelt strength in all three States. Had it not been for the Garner boom, Texas undoubtedly would have instructed its 46 delegates for Roosevelt. The Missouri delegation will go to Roosevelt as soon as Reed steps aside, which he will have to do sooner or later. The Virginia delegation of 24 is loyal to Byrd, but ready to leap on the Roosevelt bandwagon as soon as the bond of loyalty can be gracefully severed.

These favorite sons would be urged to come out for Roosevelt in order to make it impossible for Alfred E. Smith to deadlock the convention and cause another Madison Square Garden brawl.

The Roosevelt people can not count very heavily on eliminating any of the other candidates in the race. In

COL. LINDBERGH IS OFF NORFOLK IN CONTACT SHIP

Rendezvous With Baby's Kidnapers Believed Close at Hand.

$15,000 IS REPORTED PAID AS GUARANTEE

All Other Clews Are Thought to Have Been Dropped in Hunt for Child.

Special to The Washington Post.

Norfolk, Va., May 3.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh is aboard the yacht Marcon tonight on the Atlantic off the Virginia Capes seeking a contact with the kidnapers of his 22-month-old son, abducted from his New Jersey home two months and two days ago.

Whether or not Col. Lindbergh has made more than one previous trip on the Marcon could not be ascertained tonight, but naval and civilian sources confirmed his presence aboard the yacht before she sailed from Norfolk Naval Base at noon today for a rendezvous that had been interrupted by bad weather for the last week.

High seas kept the Marcon within the Virginia Capes from last Friday night, when Col. Lindbergh boarded the craft in Chesapeake Bay, and she returned to the naval base Sunday night when a marine guard was again thrown about the submarine basin in which she was docked. Lindbergh was seen about the deck of the yacht and identified by naval personnel, and officials of the Consolvo Hotel, whose proprietor loaned the Marcon to the Norfolk negotiators, confirmed his presence aboard.

Others on Yacht.

Also on the yacht are John Hughes Curtis, chief of the Norfolk negotiators; Edwin B. Bruce, of Elmira, N. Y., and Lieut. George L. Richards, naval aviator, who has been detailed for duty in connection with the Lindbergh case almost continuously since March 26. Richards is operator of the wireless installed aboard the Marcon last week to facilitate communications with the naval radio station here and presumably with the kidnapers' boat, believed to be a foreign flag tramp steamer outside the 12-mile limit.

Curtis declined to affirm or deny Lindbergh's presence on previous trips, as did also Rear Admiral Guy H. Burrage, United States Navy, retired, and Dean H. Dobson-Peacock, his conegotiators, who have remained ashore.

Admiral Burrage announced on the return of the Marcon from her second cruise that a number of obstacles had been removed, but further information since that time has been withheld. It is understood, however, that no contact has been made with the kidnapers or their representatives

Mississippi 'Lily Whites' Back Hoover and Curtis

Jackson, Miss., May 3 (A.P.).—Mississippi "Lily White" Republicans, in convention here today, instructed eleven delegates to vote for the renomination of President Hoover and Vice President Curtis at the national convention in Chicago. The delegation faces a contest with a group selected recently by the "Black and Tan" faction of the State Republican party.

The convention went on record as indorsing the Hoover administration and as opposed to repeal of the eighteenth amendment or modification of the Volstead act.

Smith and Roosevelt Are Trailing Garner In California Voting

Winner of Pivotal Democratic Primary in Doubt; New Yorker Wins in South Dakota, Leads Alabama; Hoover Adds to Total Delegates.

(Associated Press.)

The winner of California's pivotal Democratic presidential primary was unknown early today as early returns gave Speaker Garner 81,101 against 15,454 for Alfred E. Smith and 16,256 for Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Tabulation of the returns was slow and a decision was not expected until sometime later in the day. Forty-four votes, the sixth largest block in the national convention, were at stake.

Meanwhile, Gov. Roosevelt took South Dakota's 10 delegates by default, and his slate of delegates at large in Alabama was leading an uninstructed group not unfriendly to him, but opposed to Smith by nearly three to one on the basis of returns from 22 of the State's 2,126 boxes. Alabama has 24 votes in the national convention.

President Hoover, who now has 720 delegates pledged and claimed for his renomination, or well over the 578 majority required, picked up 47 more without opposition in his home State of California.

Early returns from South Dakota gave 11 delegates favorable to the President a slight advantage over a slate pledged to a "Progressive candidate."

Indiana voters nominated twelve representatives in each party in primaries yesterday, but early returns gave no indication of the victors in the important contests in four districts where two Democratic and two Republican incumbents who voted against the Beck-Linthicum resolution for resubmission of the eighteenth amendment were opposed by candidates with wet leanings.

In the senatorial nomination races, Senator Hugo Black took a good lead in the early returns over his four opponents for the Democratic nomi-

125 SIGN HONOLULU PETITION IN HOUSE

McKellar Introduces Bill in Senate for Pardoning Four Defendants.

(United Press.)

Two new moves were made in Congress yesterday toward obtaining a pardon for the four Americans convicted of manslaughter in the Honolulu "honor slaying."

While a petition was being circulated in the House asking freedom for the quartet, Senator Kenneth McKellar (Democrat), Tennessee, introduced a bill in the Senate asking for a complete congressional pardon for Lieut. Thomas Massie, Mrs. Granville Fortescue and the two seamen.

McKellar's bill is similar to the one introduced Monday in the House by Representative Charles R. Crisp (Democrat), Georgia, and stated that inasmuch as Congress exercised complete control over the Territory of Hawaii, it had sufficient power to grant the pardon.

This question, however, has produced a legal controversy, with many experts here maintaining such action was not within the jurisdiction of Congress.

Representative Maurice Thatcher (Republican), Kentucky, sponsored the petition which was circulated soon after the House met at noon yesterday. It said:

"We, as members of Congress, deeply concerned for the welfare of Hawaii, believe that the prompt and unconditional pardon of Lieut. Massie and his associates will serve that welfare and the ends of justice. We.

Morgan Is Guest At Hoover Dinner

Banker Dines With President at Banquet Given by Secretary Adams.

J. Pierpont Morgan dined at Secretary Adams' last night with President Hoover. The Wall street financier arrived here late yesterday afternoon and was met by the automobile of the Secretary of the Navy. He went directly to the home of the Secretary.

Mr. Morgan, as is usual, declined to make any statement. Circles close to him denied there was any significance in his visit here at this time beyond the purely social one of the dinner to the President.

Mr. Morgan intends to return to New York today, although he may stay over for a talk with Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills and Eugene Meyer, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board.

Wisconsin Conservative Enters Race for Senate

Oshkosh, Wis., May 3 (A.P.).—William J. Campbell, of Oshkosh, many years a conservative Republican leader and originator of the State conference system of indorsing Republican candidates for public office, today announced he would be a candidate for the United States Senate.

He will ask for the indorsement of the conservative Republican State convention and will abide by the determinations of that convention, he announced. Before the convention he will oppose John B. Chapple, Ashland editor, who has already announced he will run for the place in the United States Senate occupied by John J. Blaine.

SENATE UNIT BACKS POSTAL RATE BOOST

Increase on Second-Class Matter Is Included in Tax Measure.

By J. B. McDONNELL.

Increased postal rates, reduction of the House tax on stock transfers and elimination of the House provision permitting revaluation of estates for tax-paying purposes were voted yesterday by the Senate finance committee.

The committee not only concurred in the House increase from 2 to 3 cents in first-class postage rates but voted into the $1,000,000,000 tax bill the 1921 rates on second-class matter, except for an increase in the lowest bracket of these rates. The increased second-class rates were estimated to add $5,000,000 in prospective revenue to the bill.

By a vote of 12 to 4 the committee approved a motion by Senator Thomas P. Gore (Democrat), of Oklahoma, to strike out of the bill the House tax of one-quarter of 1 per cent on all stock transfers.

One Republican, Senator Robert M. La Follette, of Wisconsin, and three Democrats, Senators Pat Harrison, of Mississippi; Tom Connally, of Texas, and Edward P. Costigan, of Colorado, voted against eliminating the one-quarter of 1 per cent levy.

Those who voted for the Gore motion were: Republicans (7)—Senators Reed Smith, of Utah, committee chairman; James E. Watson, of Indiana; David A. Reed, of Pennsylvania; Samuel Shortridge, of California; James Couzens, of Michigan; Henry W. Keyes, of New Hampshire, and

Pinned by Horse, Girl Badly Hurt

Barbara Willson, 18, Goes to Hospital; Suffers Brain Concussion.

Miss Barbara Willson, 18-year-old daughter of Dr. Prentiss Willson, of 2940 Albemarle street northwest, was injured last night when thrown from a horse while riding in Potomac Park. She was admitted to Emergency Hospital in an undetermined condition.

Miss Willson was riding around Hains Point with two companions. Her horse suddenly stepped into a deep hole and fell. The girl was hurled to the ground and before she could regain her feet, was pinned beneath the struggling animal.

A passing motorist went to Miss Willson's rescue and, finding her semi-conscious, took her to the hospital. Physicians found she suffered concussion of the brain and severe lacerations to her head, face and body.

Stimson and Staff Sail Today on Liner Vulcania

Cannes, France, May 3 (A.P.).—Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson motored to Monte Carlo for lunch today and on his return to Cannes received Dr. J. Gustavo Guerrero, representative of Salvador at the League of Nations; the Marquis de Grasse, descendant of the Revolutionary War hero, and Dr. Cazagnaire, mayor of Cannes.

Shortly before noon tomorrow the Secretary of State and his staff will board a tender that will take them to the liner Vulcania, on which they are sailing back to the United States.

SWANSON STIRS GENEVA FIRE BY BIG NAVY STAND

TREATY PROTECTION URGED BY VIRGINIAN

Immediate Consideration of Hale Naval Building Bill Voted in Senate.

Geneva, May 3 (U.P.).—Senator Claude Swanson drew the determined opposition of almost the entire Naval Commission of the Disarmament Conference today when he defended the right of the United States and Great Britain to maintain their mighty war fleets.

The American delegate bore the brunt of attacks by other powers seeking abolition of aircraft carriers and battleships.

Japan and France aided in the defense of battleships as "defensive" rather than "offensive" weapons, but Japan was the most vigorous attacker when aircraft carriers were involved. Meanwhile France led an assault on the limits of the London Naval Treaty.

To Work for Accord.

The naval committee finally completed general discussion of the battleship question with a big majority, including Italy, Germany, China, Spain, Sweden, Russia, Norway, Turkey, Roumania, Holland and Persia, insisting that they should be classed as "offensive" and therefore be subject to abolition or internationalization.

The United States alone did not indicate a willingness to reduce tonnage of such ships (averaging 25,000 tons or more) or to reduce their gun caliber. The committee named a subcommittee to attempt to draft a resolution reconciling the opposing viewpoints.

Swanson insisted that aircraft carriers were of a defensive character, stressing the necessity of using naval airplanes to fight submarines.

"It is not in the spirit of the London Treaty to abolish or reduce 'aircraft, without correspondingly abolishing or reducing submarines," he said.

Seek to Protect Pacts.

"No readjustment of the naval strength of the three powers (Britain, United States and Japan), should be made until the London and Washington treaties have expired. We think it is right and proper and just to keep those treaties unaltered until December 31, 1936 * * * when universal naval limitations agreement has been reached and distribution of naval strength is fixed, the three navies should not be altered without consent of the parties."

5 Fishermen, Marooned On Rocks, Are Rescued

Richmond, Va., May 3 (A.P.).—Five fishermen, marooned on rocks in the James River, were pulled to safety early tonight as thousands watched the rescue.

The men, who had walked and waded to their fishing locations, jumping from rock to rock, found themselves surrounded by raging torrents when the city dam floodgates were opened. Rescuers labored for three heurs, tossing ropes and lifebelts to the fishermen, the last of whom was pulled upward to the dam and safety at 7 o'clock.

INSURGENT HOUSE REDUCES SAVINGS BILL TO SKELETON

Low Bracket Federal Wage Cuts, Hoover's Furlough Plan and Army-Navy Merger Are Lost.

ONLY $42,314,000 ECONOMIES REMAIN IN $200,000,000 BILL

$48,714,000 in Curtailed Veterans' Pay Also Defeated; McDuffie Fails to Prevent Passage of His Ruined Proposal.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

The tide of economy swept back from Capitol Hill yesterday. Lost in the receding flood were low bracket Government wage cuts, the President's Federal furlough plan, an Army-Navy merger and $48,714,000 in curtailed veterans' pay.

Left high and dry in the House was all that remained of the wreckage—$42,314,000 in economies reclaimed from a program originally estimated at $200,000,000. Disgusted with the outcome, Economy Chairman John McDuffie cast a futile vote against his own ruined bill.

Heedless of leadership, the House for seven and a half hours pursued its insurgent course, completing disruption of the savings program by refusing approval of veterans' cuts, then reaffirming in nine separate roll calls its former stand against cutting small salaries, furloughing workers and consolidating the Nation's defense forces.

Vainly attempting to stem the tide, the Democratic economy committee at the last minute threw an entirely new pay-cut plan into the gap. It was torn away by impatient members. The proposal was to cut all Federal salaries over $2,000 by 10 per cent, providing that no wage be slashed below $2,000. It was rejected, 231 to 167.

$2,500 Exemption Upheld.

An earlier effort to vote down the Britten amendment increasing exemption from the committee's original 11 per cent cut from $1,000 to $2,500 failed just as decisively. The amendment was approved, 238 to 154, and the omnibus bill now goes to the Senate with this salary reduction clause.

With all decorum out of order, the late afternoon session was colorless except for brief announcements of roll call results on vital votes. From 2:30 until 7:25 the staccato voice of the clerk was heard in almost continuous monotony.

Members "played" to small and, for the most part, disinterested galleries until just before adjournment, when Government workers, anticipating a late night session on the pay-cut issue began to arrive in large numbers. There was no demonstration at any itme, in contrast to the tense sessions held last week, when Representative Lindsay C. Warren in the Speaker's chair had to call repeatedly for order.

Defeat of Furlough Proposal.

The President's enforced Federal furlough proposal went down to hopeless defeat on a motion to recommit, offered by Representative C. William Ramseyer (Republican), Iowa, economy committee sponsor of the plan.

It was discarded, 250 to 146, despite a conciliatory gesture by Representative Ramseyer, who surprised members by increasing exemptions under the plan from the $1,500 proposed last week to $2,000.

Administration leaders had held out the plan as the only salvation for Federal workers under the Senate program of cutting appropriations 10 per cent under House figures.

In official quarters it was pointed out that from 50,000 to 75,000 Federal employes would lose their jobs as result of Senate slashes. It was vainly contended the furlough plan would not only forestall this exodus, but provide work for 25,000 substitutes as well. In addition there was an $82,000,000 saving to be considered.

Chairman McDuffie in a final appeal pointed the finger of doubt at

GOLDSBOROUGH BILL HITS MONEY MARTS

Dollar Drops Off Sharply in Foreign Exchange; Wide Effect Abroad.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

News of the Goldsborough currency inflation bill sent a shiver through the money markets of the world yesterday and started a mild movement of foreign capital from New York to Europe, particularly Paris.

At the same time the dollar dropped off sharply in the foreign exchange trading and United States Government bonds on the New York Stock Exchange, which had been advancing steadily since the new Federal Reserve purchasing policy was initiated some four weeks ago, declined about half a point for the first time in more than a month.

Coupled with the European alarms over the potentialities for unbridled inflation contained in the Goldsborough bill, the continued demoralization of the House of Representatives in its consideration of the omnibus economy bill, served further to cloud the horizon of business and finance.

Monday's action in the House of Representatives on the $100,000,000 widows' and orphans' pension bill, sponsored by the organized veterans, was followed yesterday by a Treasury statement showing a deficit of $2,334,105,142 for the first ten months of the 1932 fiscal year ended April 30.

Meanwhile, the continuance of hearings before the House ways and means committee on the $2,000,000,000 Patman bill to "cash the bonus certificates now" tended further to obscure the promise of drastic Federal economies and a quickly balanced national budget.

Added to all of these depressing factors in the security and commodity markets, the delay of the new tax program in the Senate finance committee has emerged this week as a fourth major question mark on the national financial landscape.

Ticker flashes announcing that less than $50,000,000 remained in the widely proclaimed $200,000,000 economy bill were received in the markets yesterday as notice that effec-

Capital Man Killed As Car Quits Road

Friend Also Loses Life as Machine Is Wrecked Near Keeling, Va.

Two men, one a resident of Washington, were instantly killed early yesterday when the automobile in which they were riding plunged off the highway and rolled 20 feet down an embankment near Keeling, Va. Their bodies were not found until several hours later when the wrecked car was seen by a passing motorist.

The accident victims were James H. Forsythe, 52 years old, of 311 H street northwest, and S. T. Wimbech, of Danville, Va. Wimbech had been visiting Forsythe, according to Mrs. L. W. Dooly, with whom the man made his home, and the pair started out for Danville at 9 o'clock Monday night. Forsythe was at the wheel of the wrecked machine, according to word received by Mrs. Dooly.

Forsythe was tentatively identified by papers in his pockets, and Danville authorities got in touch with Mrs. Dooly. Identification was made certain by Mr. Dooly, who was in Danville attending the funeral of a relative. Mrs. Dooly said Forsythe was married, but separated from his wife. He is the father of two children. Three brothers, all of Washington, also survive.

Glad to Start, Al Capone Says, En Route to Atlanta

Impregnable Escort Sees Him Off at Station; Chieftain Sent to Georgia, Not Leavenworth, to Maintain Split-Up of Incarcerated Mobsmen.

Chicago, May 3 (A.P.).—Closely flanked by half a dozen Federal agents, Al Capone was hurried from his county jail cell late tonight, and started on his way to the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga.

The gang leader, who must serve an eleven-year sentence for income tax violation, was escorted from the jail entrance to one of a caravan of police cars waiting at the curb. The convoy sped swiftly through loop streets to the Dearborn street station, arriving a full hour before the departure of the Atlanta-bound C. & E. I. train.

Capone, smiling broadly, was whisked into the Atlanta car.

"I am glad to get started," were the gang leader's only words as he boarded the train.

In contrast to a sullen, savage mood just before being taken from his jail cell, the massive dethroned gang leader appeared cheerful as he began his journey to eleven years of confinement. He posed for photographers cheerfully, and the station rotunda boomed as a battery of flashlights were exploded.

Federal officials were so successful in shrouding the departure of the gangster with secrecy that few persons were on hand when he arrived at the station. Rehearsed in their roles to prevent any last minute efforts to free Capone, the police and Federal officers swung swiftly into an impregnable escort.

Capone was permitted to take only $10 with him, and a limited supply of his $30 shirts and $10 neckties, as

Long Again Raps Robinson And Demands Committees

Fiery Louisianan Hurls Alleged Power Company Affiliations at Minority Leader; Resignation From Posts Is Accepted by Senators.

(Associated Press.)

Senate Democrats rallying behind the leadership of Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, yesterday stripped his critic, Huey Long, of committee assignments, but the rebellious Louisianan came back with a fresh attack and demanded new committee posts.

The Democratic steering committee accepted the resignations which Senator Long offered last week in a one-man revolt against Senator Robinson's leadership and gave his committee jobs to others.

Later the belligerent Senator Long told the Senate he expected the Democratic caucus to give him new committee assignments. He presented to the Senate what he said was a list of public utility and power companies represented by Senator Robinson's law firm.

The list, taken from a 1930 legal directory, said the firm of Robinson, House & Moses is attorney for the Arkansas Power & Light Co., the Louisiana Power & Light Co., the Mississippi Power & Light Co., the Southern Power & Light Co., and a number of other railroad and utility companies.

Senator Robinson announced the action of the steering committee without comment, and it was later ratified by the Senate while Senator Long sat by without a word.

Later in the day, the Louisianan demanded a quorum call in the Senate, and then presented his list of clients, saying:

"I feel that I owe it to the senator from Arkansas to reciprocate the very

VIRGINIA LABOR ASKS VOTE ON PROHIBITION

State Convention Debates Whether A. F. of L. Rules Are Met.

(Associated Press.)

The Virginia Federation of Labor, meeting in Alexandria yesterday adopted a resolution approving "a legal referendum on the national prohibition question."

The resolution called on Congress "to pass the necessary laws to provide for this referendum in some regular (not special) election and thus make enforcement of whatever national prohibition law there happens to be all the easier and more effective."

C. M. Houston, of Alexandria, who rose in opposition to the prohibition resolution, said, "If you bring back beer you'll put 5,000,000 cows out of commission."

He also said that if the estimates of the yields from a beer tax were accurate it would be necessary for "every man, woman and child to drink 129 gallons of beer a year."

R. T. Bowden, of Richmond, a member of the resolution committee, said the resolution was a substitute for a resolution calling for repeal of the eighteenth amendment and that the substitute was offered to preclude a "wet and dry debate as has occurred at several recent conventions. The resolution was adopted with only a scattering of negative votes.

A heated discussion over whether the Virginia federation has adhered to the American Federation of Labor constitution took place at the closing session of the State organization's convention.

It was participated in by officials of both the national and State bodies and followed reading by Frank Morrison, American Federation secretary, of a decision on State convention representation written by William Green, American Federation president, in 1928.

The decision ruled against seating of certain classes of delegates provided for by the Virginia federation, but R. T. Bowden, of Richmond, former State organization president, said Green had "in effect reversed himself" in the matter later.

W. C. Creekmore and C. M. Whalock, of Norfolk, who agitated the matter, said it violated the American Federation constitution because it granted dual representation to some classes of union members. The individual union locals which compose the "councils" are allowed delegates to the State convention, too.

It was indicated the matter would be carried by Creekmore and Whelock to the American Federation, and Bowden and others asked Morrison to insure them that both sides would be heard.

E. C. Davison, secretary-treasurer of the International Association of Machinists, admonished the State federation to abide by the American federation constitution, stating: "You challenge that law and you won't exist in the American Federation of Labor."

Charles J. Hughes, of Richmond, member of a printers' union, was elected president of the organization, succeeding J. Fred Cherry, of Norfolk, and Cherry was chosen delegate to the American Federation of Labor convention.

Mrs. Julian Keith, Virginia chairman of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, invited the convention delegates to affiliate with the men and women's prohibition reform organizations.

John P. Colpoys, editor of the Trade Unionist, of Washington, said legalizing of 2.75 beer would put 300,000 people to work and "would allow you and me to go out and preach real temperance."

Destiny of the Un'— News, labor publication which President Cherry reported showed a deficit of more than $21,000, was placed in the hands of the newly elected executive board, which Hughes will head as ex officio chairman.

Advice Committee Created on Repairs

Joseph Ehlers to Head Unit Aiding Owners of Property.

Joseph Ehlers, technical director of the national contaruction conference, will head the advisory committee of the "Washington program" for property renovation, it was announced yesterday by H. G. Outwater, director of the property improvement and business cooperation committee of the District of Columbia.

The advisory committee, not yet complete, will function as a counsel for property owners who wish to improve their property. The committee will include a real estate man, banker and architect.

The smaller merchants will be aided in the "Washington program" by the merchandising council headed by Charles R. French, advertising manager of the National Lumber Manufacturers Association.

Young Woman Holdup Shot Dead by Druggist

Oklahoma City, May 3 (A.P.).—A young woman dressed in black was shot dead here today as she fled from a drug store holdup.

The druggist, J. H. Jackson, declared he shot her as she hurried from the place with about $10 of his money. She was identified by L. J. Hilbert, Police Auto Theft Bureau operative, as Lena Hurt, 25. Hilbert said she had been arrested previously on vagrancy and drunkenness charges.

Savings Left in Omnibus Bill After Slash in House

Stripped of economies mounting to $165,714,000, the omnibus retrenchment bill embodied the following items in its $42,314,000 savings total:

	Savings
Eleven per cent salary cuts, with $2,500 exempt	$13,000,000
Automatic pay increase suspension	2,100,000
Retirement of superannuated employes	3,000,000
Abolition of overtime pay	5,600,000
Reduced traveling and subsistence allowances	3,000,000
Restricted Army and Navy transfers	3,368,000
Reorganization of the Shipping board	2,500,000

INSURGENT HOUSE REDUCES SAVINGS BILL TO SKELETON

these claims. The furlough plan, he charged, in the last analysis was a "pay cut."

Under a special rule adopted by the House at the outset of the debate, two motions to recommit the omnibus program were in order, one to be presented by Mr. McDuffie and one by Mr. Ramseyer.

Mr. McDuffie seized his opportunity as soon as what remained of the omnibus bill was approved by a vote of 203 to 42. His eagerness precipitated a partisan controversy. Representative Ramseyer "demanding the right" to be heard first.

Representative Bertrand H. Snell, Republican floor leader, supported his colleague. He disputed Speaker Garner's ruling that a committee chairman had the first right to be heard. The Speaker stood by his guns, and the roll call proceded on the McDuffie substitue pay cut plan.

Make Final Appeal.

Sensing complete rout of their program after a motion by Representative L. Bulwinkle (Democrat), North Carolina, to strike reductions in veterans' allowances, won by a 211 to 119 vote, both Chairman McDuffie and Representative Lewis W. Douglas (Democrat), Arizona, a member of the economy committee, made a final appeal to the House.

In rejecting more than $160,000,000 in economies contained in the bill, the Arizona representative said House members had gone back on their pledge to balance the budget. It was Douglas who estimated savings under the mangled bill at $42,314,000. Independent estimates placed economies at only $36,000,000.

Chairman McDuffie's speech was the resigned gesture of one who had lost. He said he had no intention to "lecture" the House or to question any member's right to vote as he had. He concluded simply:

"The economy committee has discharged its duty."

Items Defeated.

Items previously thrown out of the bill, barred once and for all by yesterday's roll call votes, follow:

Elimination of Saturday half-holidays. On motion of Representative John W. McCormack (Democrat), Massachusetts, Saturday half-holidays will be continued. The McCormack amendment was approved 267 to 132.

Transfer of appropriations within a department up to 15 per cent of an item. The Vinson amendment to strike this provision was confirmed 209 to 183.

Abolition of the Army and Navy Transport Service, and the Panama Railway Steamship Line. The Barbour amendment to continue all three was confirmed 208 to 98.

Consolidation of the War and Navy Departments under a Secretary of National Defense. The Martin amendment to block this move, with its $50,000,000 to $100,000,000 in reputed savings, was adopted 211 to 187.

Savings Remaining.

The omnibus bill, as finally attached to the legislative appropriations measure, gives the President authority to reorganize the Government, savings unestimated; provides for consolidation of all public works, except rivers and harbors, savings unestimated; cuts Federal pay 11 per cent, with $2,500 exemption, saving $13,000,000; eliminates overtime Government pay, saving $5,600,000; reduces printing costs by $4,000,000; suspends Army and Navy transfers, saving $3,368,000; reorganizes the Shipping Board, saving $3,056,000; cuts Federal travel and subsistence allowances, saving $3,056,000; forces retirement of superannuated employes, saving $3,000,000, and suspends automatic pay increases, saving $2,100,000.

Appropriations Chairman Joseph W. Byrns said it was "worth the effort." He announced that Senate 10 per cent cuts in the State, Justice, Commerce and Labor bill will not be accepted by the House in its present form, but will go to conference. Earlier, Attorney General Mitchell wrote a House member that the Justice Department cuts would mean discharging 818 employes and result in "a net loss and not a saving to the Treasury."

The Bulwinkle amendment adopted yesterday provides for a joint committee of seven senators and seven representatives to review the whole field of veterans' benefits and report back in December.

EUROPE BACKS U. S. ATTITUDE IGNORING PUPPET REPUBLIC

seems destined to go down in history as one of the most important contributions to contemporary international legal thought. This was enunciated by Secretary Stimson when he declared:

"The American Government does not intend to recognize any situation, treaty, or agreement which may be brought about by means contrary to the covenants and obligations of the Pact of Paris, or Kellogg Pact."

To this significant principle the League of Nations shortly after gave added weight by enunciating the same doctrine and extending it to cover any infringement of the legaue covenant.

The State Department has been keenly watching the developments of the last few weeks in the Far East and the report of yesterday's clash between Japanese and American soldiers was one of the eventualities which had been anticipated and feared.

The situation in Shanghai has been smoldering ever since the major portion of the Japanese military had been withdrawn from that section. Since then, however, the tension has spread to Manchuria, a region which had been hitherto under the nominal control of Japanese troops and political influence.

Secretary Stimson was able to discuss the broad principles of the Manchurian situation in Geneva and found ready support for the Hoover doctrine of nonrecognition.

Found Gratifying Assent.

In his discussions with other European nations he found gratifying assent to this doctrine from all the important delegates at the disarmament conference. Furthermore it was learned here that all rumors of French support of Japanese claims in the Sino-Japanese controversy in and around the seat of the league were unfounded. While no definite assurances to this effect were reported by the Secretary of State, it is believed that he was assured by responsible French authorities of the complete unanimity of the French delegates with the British and American moves for peace and order in the Far East.

These reports took on a new significance with reports from the Far East yesterday of further disorders in the Shanghai International Settlement. The stability of Japanese control not only in the region of Shanghai but throughout the entire Manchurian district was believed to be considerably less secure than it was three months ago.

Popular dissatisfaction to the rule of Henry Pu-yi, the boy emperor who was installed with the approval of the Japanese military leaders at Chang-Chun, was not long in manifesting itself, and since that time there has been a constant string of uprisings and outbreaks against the new government.

Evacuation Date Withheld.

The Japanese meanwhile have steadfastly refused to fix a date for the definitive evacuation of Shanghai. They insist that this can only be done under certain conditions; attempts of the League of Nations commission of inquiry to discover the real situation and the source of the friction in that region have been met with resistance from Japanese authorities of one sort or another.

Refusal by the Japanese for the well-known Chinese statesman, Wellington Koo, to accompany the commission into Manchuria, was peremptorily challenged by the chairman of the league's commission, Lord Lytton, and the Japanese finally acceded. But the Japanese declined to consider any negotiation on the status of the Manchurian affair because they claim it has already passed from the state of negotiation to a state of fact with the accession to power of the effete descendant of the one-time powerful Manchu rulers.

The Chinese Eastern Railway between Harbin and Vladivostok has twice been cut by the insurgent troops opposed to the Manchurian ruler and military authorities here estimate Japan will require at least twice as many troops as the 35,000 now in service in Manchuria to maintain Japanese influence there. The insurgents number about 20,000 and are composed of former Manchurian bandits opposed to the Japanese as well as the new ruler.

Police of Berlin Baffled By Death of U.S. Singer

Berlin, May 3 (A.P.).—The mystery of the death of Lucille Chalfant, an American singer known professionally as Annie Lind, remained unsolved today. Her body was found in a rooming house Friday, and she apparently was the victim of poison.

Police were still unable to find any passports or other identifying documents, but apparently had established that the woman was Lucille Chalfant through letters. The woman apparently had no money claims against her, and she had paid her room rent to the end of May. The body probably will be cremated tomorrow.

U.S. WORKERS VOTED PROMOTION BENEFIT

Present Employes Will Have Preference in Filling of Higher Vacancies.

Employes in the Government service will be given preference in filling vacancies in higher positions, regulations adopted yesterday by the Civil Service Commission stipulated.

The ruling was recommended by the Council of Personnel Administration, which was created by an executive order on April 26. One of the functions of the council is to fill the higher positions by transfer rather than by original appointment. This extends the career possibilities in the Federal service.

The new regulations provide that, when the Civil Service Commission receives a requisition for eligibles to fill a vacancy in the professional or the subprofessional service, field or departmental, if an employe suitable for promotion to the position is not available, the various departments will be notified, and qualified employes will be informed of the opportunity.

For the present, this plan will be operated in Washington only, but plans are being developed to operate the plan in field branches. In the field service, notice of the vacancy will be circularized in the vicinity of the vacancy.

An opening in the professional positions will not be publicly announced under the new regulations unless it can not be filled by transfer of someone employed in the service. This procedure is one phase of the present economy scheme, which will restrict the filling of vacancies. The plan is designed to keep in the Federal service employes who are trained in their work.

The regulation will include in the preferred group of eligibles for vacant positions, those who have been dropped from the service because of a reduction of personnel in the departments.

In the clerical, administrative and fiscal service the first step to carry out the new regulation will be to fill the higher positions with an employe in the department in which the vacancy exists. If a suitable person can not be found in the department, transfers from other departments will be made.

Vote on Home Raid Bill Looming Today

Senate District Group May Take Action; Mitchell Submits Views.

Armed with a Justice Department report on the Howell "home raid" bill, dry members of the Senate District committee will make another effort this afternoon to report out the drastic enforcement measure.

After a committee layover of several weeks, following colorful hearings before the committee, the bill may be brought to a vote shortly after 2:30 p. m.

A letter from Attorney General Mitchell, who was asked to review the legislation, will be read to the committee.

The group's action may be noncommittal. Senator Robert B. Howell (Republican), Nebraska, author of the measure, formerly told the committee he would not press for a favorable report. He said he merely wanted the bill placed on the Senate calendar.

City Heads Against Amending of Code

Bill Would Limit Amount of Recovery for Wrongful Death.

Adverse action was recommended by the District Commissioners yesterday on a bill to amend the District code by providing "that damages for wrongful death in the District of Columbia shall be proportionate to the pecuniary injury sustained by the next of kin."

The measure proposes to amend sections 1301 and 1302 of the District code. The first section limits the amount of recovery for wrongful death to $10,000, while the second limits the time in which action may be instituted to one year. The bill would increase this time to two years and would permit the jury to distribute the damages among relatives of the deceased.

As to the latter provision, the commissioners say "there does not seem to be logic or sound reason back of the distinction" between dividing the estate of a person dying suddenly as the result of an accident and one dying as the result of a lingering disease.

Poetry on Beer Is Read In Senate After 'Ruse'

(Associated Press.)

A bit of verse featuring beer was read in the Senate yesterday at the instance of Senator Bingham (Republican), Connecticut.

Bearing the name of "Forest Rutherford" as author, it read, in part:

"Beer will balance the budget,
Beer will bring bacon and bread,
Beer will brighten the beggar,
Beer will bring him a bed;
Beer will banish the bigot,
Bereft of balance and blind;
Beer will benefit body,
Beer ever befriended mankind."

When the clerk finished reading, Senator Robinson (Democrat), Arkansas, inquired, "Who called that poetry?"

Senator Frazier (Republican), North Dakota, said that when he yielded the floor for the reading he "didn't know it was that kind of a poem."

MILLS IS ASSAILED AT BONUS HEARING

But Patman Withdraws His Charge of Framing Tax Bill to Aid Self.

(Associated Press.)

A charge, quickly withdrawn, that Secretary Mills "will profit by many millions" through a provision of the tax bill he helped frame yesterday wrote a melodramatic finish to more than three weeks' testimony on cash payment of the soldiers' bonus.

Representative Patman (Democrat), Texas, a leading bonus sponsor, made the assertion shortly before the House ways and means committee ended its hearings and prepared to consider in closed session the plan for making the bonus payment with $2,000,000,000 of new currency issued for that purpose.

Patman's statement drew such a storm of protests from both Democratic and Republican committee members that it was withdrawn almost immediately. The Texan said:

"On the statement of the acting chairman, I shall be very glad to exonerate the Secretary of the Treasury."

Crisp's Explanation.

Representative Crisp (Democrat), Georgia, who presided, had advised Patman that Mills declined any comment on the tax section referred to, which authorizes the revaluation of estates left between September 1, 1928, and January 1, 1932.

"Secretary Mills said he did not care to comment because he would be a beneficiary," Crisp said.

Representative Treadway (Republican), Massachusetts, told Patman he was "slapping this committee very unfairly when he says we have been influenced by Government officials."

Representative Doughton (Democrat), North Carolina, interjected that Mills' attitude "was not subject to criticism," while Representative Childblom (Republican), Illinois, quoted the Treasury head as saying during consideration of the retroactive estate provision:

"The Treasury does not propose to make recommendations * * * because my father died at the height of the boom." The Secretary's father died January 28, 1929.

Patman's charge was that Mills and his attorney, E. C. Alvord, worked with the revenue committee on the tax bill and were in a position to exert "considerable influence" in its drafting.

Patman's Charges.

He said the section allowing an 18-month revaluation period on depreciated estates "will be equal to an inside burglary of the Treasury."

"This provision presents a neffort on the part of the Secretary of the Treasury to receive personally a large sum of money at the expense of the other taxpayers of the United States," his statement said.

Robert L. Owen, of Oklahoma, former chairman of the Senate banking committee, closed for the bonus sponsors. He indorsed an amendment to the Patman bill for an issue of Government bonds to be sold if the purchasing power of the dollar should fall too low under a new currency issue.

"The payment of adjusted compensation in cash," Owen said, "Will raise the commodity values above the cost of production and give a reasonable profit and a motive to encourage production and employment and will, therefore, restore normal industry and commercial activity.

"We are in no danger whatever of having gold leave the United States. Within three months this plan would put us out of the depression."

Sighing Eastern Widow Is Disillusioned in West

By JOHN J. DALY

TIRED of the effeminate men who inhabit the Eastern seaboard, a widow in New England wrote the Governor of a Western State and asked him to help her find "a strong and romantic mate." What she desired was a big, Western he-man, preferably one from the plains, like an adventurous character out of a book.

The good governor, in the kindness of his heart, started a search. He sent out a sheriff and told him to "get his man." True to the traditions of the plains—"We just went out to get him, and we did"—the sheriff finally corralled a fine specimen of manhood—six-feet-two in his stocking feet, a big broad-shouldered cowboy, wearer of a ten-gallon hat, chaps, and high-heeled boots; a man who "rolled his own."

"You write to this lady, at this address," the Big Boy was advised as he looked down the barrel of a Colt's .45.

* * * *

SO Big Boy took up his pen and laboriously struggled with a two-page note of endearment. He had purchased the stationery, selecting his favorite brand at the village drug store, where the cow-hands now hold forth on Saturday nights, sipping chocklate sodys and lapping up charlotte russes instead of, as in the bad old days, making whoopee in the Malamute Saloon.

By Pony Express the letter was dispatched.

In due course of time, as the mails traveled eastward, the lady received the epistle, really a letter of application; for this fellow wanted an Eastern beauty as she longed for a Western hero.

* * * *

WHEN the letter was opened, the widow could scarcely believe her nostrils. The stationery was perfumed, scented like that which sometimes comes from the fashionable girls' seminaries in the East, this side of Where the West Begins.

And so another illusion bit the dust.

Where are those he-men of the old Triple-Bar-X and the 101 Ranch, the broncho-busters and mule-skinners, wranglers all, who answered the challenge of the rodeo, "Ride 'em, Cowboy!" who rode 'em and never touched leather? Where are they?

And echo answers, "Where?"

The West—the wild and woolly West—please answer a plaint from the East.

SENATE BEER BILL RAPPED IN REPORT

Majority Group Hits Plan, but Minority Says It Would Aid Law.

(Associated Press.)

Sharply conflicting views on the effect of legalizing beer were presented to the Senate yesterday as its manufactures committee reported adversely a bill to permit manufacture of 4 per cent brew.

A committee majority of seven asserted in a report prepared by Senator Hatfield (Republican), West Virginia, that it would "add to enforcement difficulties," and retard rather than accelerate economic recovery.

A minority of four, in a statement presented by Senator Metcalf (Republican), Rhode Island, said beer would promote temperance and provide revenue and employment. It decried prohibition, saying its effect "seems to have been the driving of people to hard liquors with a resultant increase in drunkenness, deaths from alcoholism and general lawlessness."

See No Reason for Change.

The majority opposing the beer bill comprised Senators Hatfield, McNary (Republican), Oregon; Goldsborough (Republican), Maryland; Cutting (Republican), New Mexico; Smith (Democrat), South Carolina; Sheppard (Democrat), Texas, and Costigan (Democrat), Colorado.

The minority consisted of Senators Metcalf, Barbour (Republican), New Jersey; Bulkley (Democrat), Ohio, and La Follette (Republican), Wisconsin.

"There is no reason," the majority report said, "for a change in the law which would satisfy neither the opponents nor the supporters of the eighteenth amendment, which would be of doubtful constitutional validity, that would add to enforcement difficulties and which would divert a large share of the purchasing power of the people from the products of essential industries to that of a nonessential, with the result that economic recovery would be retarded rather than promoted."

Increase in Arrests.

The minority report said:

"It is evident that prohibition has not only failed to decrease drunkenness, but that arrests for intoxication have been steadily increasing until they have reached the highest point in American history. * * *

"The hearings brought forth irrefutable evidence that drinking among minors has increased tremendously. * * *"

Saying the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act have "brought terrible havoc in the dignity of law and the respect for its existence," the report continued:

"A real moral crisis exists and the minority believes the wisdom of Congress may best be evidenced in the situation by meeting it with this bill.

Will Decrease Crime.

"It will promote temperance, strengthen the law, decrease crime and generally contribute to the public welfare.

"Immediate employment would be given to a minimum of 500,000 persons and possibly more than 1,000,000 persons within a brief period following passage of the bill.

"The great decrease in expenditure of money for expensive hard liquors would more than offset the expenditure for beer * * *.

"The minority believes that the Federal Government would not only benefit from a huge tax revenue, easily collected, but that the cost of prohibition enforcement would be materially reduced."

Revenue to be derived from beer was estimated by the minority as high as $1,100,000,000 annually.

The minority said: "A significant fact is that there seems to be more hard liquor consumed in the United States at the present time than before prohibition, but much less malt beverages."

Man's Skull Broken As Planes Collide

Naval Pilots Succeed in Safely Landing Both Ships, However.

New York, May 3 (A.P.).—Two naval airplanes scraped wings a thousand feet over Floyd Bennett Field today and though the pilots brought both craft safely to earth one of their passengers received a fracture of the skull. The injured man, Seaman Carl Reindl, was taken to the Brooklyn Navy Yard Hospital in a semiconscious condition.

Lieut. Eugene Detmer, Ensign Hayes Browning and Ensign Robert C. Young, Naval Reserve pilots, were flying in formation and had just come out of a 500-foot power dive when Young lost sight of Detmer as the ships zoomed upward.

Young's plane came up under that of Detmer's, badly damaging the latter's left lower wing and tearing a hole in the right upper wing of Young's craft. As they came out of the temporary clinch, part of Detmer's wing struck Seaman Carl Reindl, riding in the rear cockpit of Young's plane, over the right eye. Young, dazed by the jolt, righted his ship and landed. Detmer and Browning followed a moment later.

Trio Freed on Bond In 'Wine Brick' Raid

Plead Not Guilty to Violating Prohibition Law; Hearing May 24.

Three men arrested in a raid on an alleged "wine brick" establishment on Twelfth street northwest, yesterday entered pleas of not guilty to charges of possession and selling articles designed to violate the prohibition law when they were arraigned before United States Commissioner N. C. Turnage.

They are William W. Galaway, George McGrath, and I. T. Byrams, jr., and each was released on a $500 bond for a hearing May 24.

It was brought out by a Government chemist that by following the directions on the alleged wine bricks, and using benzoate of soda, the process of fermentation was stopped. Agents of the Prohibition Bureau testified they made 12 per cent wine out of the bricks by following their own prescription.

Delaney Is Winner Of Law Club Prize

Essay on Georgetown U. Founder Found Best in Competition.

Thomas J. Delaney, of Takoma Park, a third year student at the Georgetown University Law School, was awarded the annuel prize of the John Carroll Law Club at its twentieth anniversary banquet last night at the Hamilton Hotel. Two other law clubs of the university, the White and Butler Clubs, also held a joint banquet last night at the Carlton Hotel.

The prize was awarded to Delaney for submitting the best essay on Archbishop John Carroll, founder of Georgetown, the club having held a contest among its members. Assistant Attorney General Roy St. Louis was a speaker at the Carroll dinner. Other speakers included Dean George E. Hamilton and Assistant Dean Hugh J. Fegan, of the law school; the Rev. Francis E. Lucy, S. J., regent, and Profs. D. W. O'Donoghue, jr., and J. Frank Staley.

Charles Temple MacDonald was general chairman of the banquet committee and Robert W. Criscuolo, chancellor-elect of the club, acted as toastmaster.

Associate Justice Pierce Butler, of the United States Supreme Court, and Leo A. Rover, United States attorney, were the speakers at the joint banquet of the Butler and White Clubs. Thomas E. Lynch, jr., was chairman of the banquet committee, assisted by James A. Bowes, jr., Edwin J. Watts, Clarence Joseph Malone and William B. Spohn.

Air Mail Subsidy Bill Approved by House Unit

(Associated Press.)

The House commerce committee yesterday approved the Crosser bill to allow mail subsidies to intercontinental airship lines. Under the bill airship operation would be allowed to obtain mail contracts similar to those now granted to steamships.

Army, Navy, Commerce Department and Goodyear-Zeppelin Corporation officials had predicted that if the measure were passed by Congress huge palatial airships within three years would be operated between the United States and Europe and possibly the Orient, besides South America. The maximum rate would be $20 a mile and contracts could be made for ten-year periods. Contractors, however, would be required to operate American-built ships capable of carrying at least 10,000 pounds of mail 2,000 miles or more without refueling.

Hoover Signs Measure Affecting Alien Labor

(Associated Press.)

A bill to authorize the Secretary of Labor to draw $200,000 instead of $100,000 annually from the appropriation for the enforcement of immigration laws for the enforcement of contract-labor provisions of the immigration act of 1917 was signed yesterday by the President.

It does not authorize an increase in appropriations but permits the Secretary of Labor to use the additional funds to enforce laws pertaining to the employment by American firms of alien labor under contract.

CONTRACTORS URGE HUGE FEDERAL LOAN

Would Make $1,500,000,000 Available to Create Public Projects.

Holding that recent changes in the Federal Reserve System have made the Nation's credit "impregnable," the governing board of the Associated General Contractors of America yesterday recommended a $1,500,000,000 Federal bond issue, the proceeds of which would be lent at cost to States, cities and other civic agencies for public improvement construction.

A "productive reconstruction work corporation," to be created by legislation, would administer the bond issue proceeds, under the contractors' proposal.

The launching of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and the broadening of the acceptability provisions and note-issuing powers of the Federal Reserve Banks were hailed by the contractors as important steps toward stabilizing economic conditions, but it was held that further measures are necessary.

Preference would be given by the proposed corporation in making loans to projects involving rehabilitation of slums and the creation of better housing facilities; the construction of sanitary improvements; the modernization of obsolete public utility plants, and the improvement of public transportation facilities.

The contractors' group also urged enactment of legislation to provide for use of uniform Government contracts; the creation of an administration of public works; the establishment of a system of Federal home loan banks, and the repeal of the recapture clause of the transportation act.

C. W. Galloway, vice president of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, urged the contractors to support proposals for regulation of interstate truck and bus operation, which together with subsidized water transportation, he claimed, are working serious hardship on the railroads.

Publicity Writer Leaves Body to Aid Science

New York, May 3 (A.P.).—William J. Guard, veteran publicity man for the Metropolitan Opera House, who died two months ago, bequeathed his body to science for dissection, because "a corpse is the most useless thing in the world." In a will dated June 10, 1924, and filed yesterday, he directed that "as soon as possible after my death my cadaver be turned over to the nearest medical school for dissection in the cause of science."

Mrs. Marguerite McAllister Taneyhill, of Baltimore, Md., a niece, received his estate of $5,000, with instructions to relinquish one-third to her cousin, Mrs. Lorna Barrett Hall, of Parkton, Md., "if she learns typewriting and shorthand and can prove herself self-supporting."

Water From Vesuvius Destroys Nearby Crops

Naples, Italy, May 3 (A.P.).—A rain of caustic water emitted by Vesuvius, has destroyed crops within a square mile on the side of the volcano facing Naples.

The shower fell the night of April 24. It was thought then to be ordinary rain, but it later was discovered that plants had been burned and shriveled. A similar phenomenon occurred in 1926. The volcano now is normal.

APPLE BLOSSOM OFFICIALS ON TOUR OF VALLEY

Officials of the apple blossom festival at Winchester made their first stop on a tour of the Shenandoah Valley at Mimslyn, where they remained several hours. Corsages were presented by delegations of citizens. Left to right—Mrs. B. B. Dutton, chairman of the reception committee; W. W. Glass, former mayor of Winchester; Miss Gladys Knight, member of the coronation committee; Miss Helen Ames Washington, of Overbrook, Pa., Queen Shenandoah IX; Miss Grace Bosserman, maid of honor; Nelson F. Richards, director general, and Mrs. Clark Cooper, chairman of the coronation committee.

LINDBERGH ON SHIP OFF VIRGINIA COAST

at sea so far, and that better directions as to a rendezvous were obtained by Curtis last Thursday and Friday while he was absent on an airplane trip during an interval between the second and third cruises of the Marcon.

A naval amphibian plane returned to the Norfolk base late today from a cruise east by south of Norfolk and is believed to have been dispatched for the purpose of spotting the kidnapers' boat so as to convey information as to her location to the Marcon, which did not pass out of the capes until after dark.

Fairly well authenticated reports have been obtained that a payment of $15,000 has been made by Lindbergh through the Norfolk negotiators or one of them to a representative of the kidnapers as evidence of their good faith.

From information of a fragmentary character dropped by persons close to the Norfolk negotiators, the return of the baby on the present trip of the Maroon is not anticipated. The presence of Lindbergh aboard the Marcon is said to be more for the purpose of demonstrating to the kidnapers or their agents that the Norfok negotiators are in the confidence of the flier and that they are authorized to deal with them.

At the same time reports persist the baby is not aboard a boat at sea, but is secreted along the coast at some isolated spot, accessible to deep water.

There is no explanation available as to the reasons for the long delay in consummating the Norfolk negotiations if the baby can be recovered through this avenue. Lindbergh's presence here, coupled with his reported absence from Hopewell for the last week, has led to the belief all other clews have been eliminated or abandoned, and that whatever hopes may be held for the recovery of the child, if alive, lie in this direction.

Berlenbach Receives Kidnapers' Demand

New York, May 3 (A.P.).—Paul Berlenbach, former world light-heavyweight boxing champion, said today he had received a threat his 22-month-old son would be kidnaped unless he paid $25,000.

The child, almost the same age as Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's kidnaped son, was threatened with "the same fate" as the aviator's namesake. A police guard has been set up at the Berlenbach home.

GLAD TO START, AL CAPONE SAYS, EN ROUTE TO ATLANTA

prisoners are not permitted to carry hampering luggage.

He had made all preparations for his departure earlier in the day. His mother, Mrs. Teresa Capone, his wife, Mae, his son, Alphonse, jr., 12; his sister, Mrs. Mafalda Maritote, and a younger brother, Matthew, said goodby to him in a brief farewell in his cell.

In a last-minute shift of plans, Capone tonight was consigned to the Federal prison at Atlanta.

The Government, with its three-year objective of putting Capone behind prison bars in sight, decided to remove the burly gangster as far as possible from the center of his operations and to split up still more the powerful gang it has crushed with income tax prosecutions.

The change was made only a few hours before Capone was to have been started for Leavenworth, Kans. It was in accordance with the announced policy of "spreading" members of the Capone gang. Ralph Capone, Al's older brother, is in the McNeil's Island Prison on the West Coast, while Jack Guzik, Sam Gizik, Terry Druggan and Frankie Lake are serving their terms in Leavenworth.

Last Hours in Chicago.

Chicago, May 3 (U.P.).—Elaborate precautions against an underworld attempt to rescue Al Capone from his guards marked the closing hours of the big gangster's career in Chicago.

Rumors of a possible assault upon the jail or upon the railway station sent Federal authorities through a series of last-minute maneuvers.

Capone spent the day packing his grips, cursing the Government and muttering to himself. His aged mother, wife and son visited him for a few minutes, under the gaze of Federal guards who have watched him for weeks.

Touching Farewell.

The whole family shed tears when 11-year-old Alphonse climbed upon his father's lap. The youngster is almost an exact miniature of his father, with exception of the famous scar.

Outside the high walls of the jail were other Federal officers hidden with machine guns, ready for any affray which might come up. It was revealed that the machine gunners had been on guard for a week after rumors became current that the "Scarface's" cohorts would make a last desperate attempt to free him.

To his cellmate, Robert Ryan, held for election frauds, Capone threw a pair of military hairbrushes.

"Here, kid," he said, "is something to remember me by."

The "Scarface" then dressed carefully for the first time since he entered the jail last October. He cursed in trying to button a collar around a neck grown too fat for it; grunted in stooping to tie his shoes, and finally wiped his bald spot with a handkerchief when the task was finished.

There ensued several hours of waiting while authorities compiled with the red tape incident to changing the once feared name of Capone to a number inside the Federal prison.

Upon receipt of the United States Supreme Court order denying a rehearing of his income tax fraud conviction, the order was presented to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals here. That court immediately vacated a writ of supersedeas by which Capone had been allowed to remain in jail. The clerk of the Appellate Court then issued a mandate to the clerk of the Circuit Court, whereupon the clerk of the District Court issued a mittimus, causing Capone's removal to prison.

"That's the way the Government is," said Capone, "always taking the hard way to do things."

Rage, which turned his face purple and then caused him to weep in pity of himself upon learning of the Supreme Court order yesterday, had turned to calm. Capone managed a wry grin; even recovered some of his old vanity when he carefully powdered his scar on his left cheek. He received it years ago in a brawl when he was a bouncer in the Four Deuces Cafe.

His Rise to Power.

From that job, requiring brawn, he soon graduated to one requiring brains, as the right-hand man of Johnny Torrio, who owned most of the brothels on the Wabash avenue levee. Capone added inches to his waistline and experience apace, until prohibition was declared. Torrio branched out into the illicit liquor business, but had many competitors. He appointed Capone to exterminate the latter. The "Scarface" did so well that he finally superseded his boss, and Torrio fled eastward. There followed Chicago's hippodrome of crime, marked by such outrages as the murder of Prosecutor McSwiggen, the St. Valentine's Day massacre and the slaying of "Jake" Lingle.

In ten years Capone became the kingpin of the underworld. Unusual was the day that didn't bring a liquor killing or two. Gun battles on Michigan boulevard, in the Loop, and in Cicero frequently sent pedestrians scurrying. Capone owned breweries, distilleries, speakeasies, shady hotels, and gambling houses valued into the millions. He kept a crew of enforcers, experts with bomb, pistol, and machine gun. He bribed police and politicians.

Authorities admitted their inability to convict him of any crime. So the Federal Government stepped in three years ago under the guidance of United States District Attorney George E. Q. Johnson.

Disintegration of Gang.

Johnson obtained income tax fraud convictions of half a dozen of Capone's most important henchmen, then found enough evidence against Capone to bring him to trial before Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson.

After hearing testimony concerning Capone's Florida palace, his $20,000 automobiles, his silk union suits and his highly profitable gambling houses, Judge Wilkerson found him guilty on five counts of evading taxes on an income of $1,038,000 from 1924 to 1928. The judge fined him $50,000, sentenced him to 10 years in the penitentiary and a year more in the county jail.

While Capone's lawyers were appealing in vain to higher courts, his gang was disintegrating. Competitors halved the price of beer; peddled whisky at cut rates in speakeasies they wouldn't have dared even to enter a year ago. The depression ruined gambling and absence of Capone spoiled plans of his syndicate to "muscle" into legitimate business.

Odd Course Taken To Let Contract

Estimate of Second Low Bidder Cut to Reach That Refused.

The District Commissioners yesterday adopted an odd course to satisfy the complaints of a low bidder who had been ruled out of a plumbing fixtures contract because of his failure to furnish required information concerning his status.

Dr. Luther H. Reichelderfer, chairman of the board, informed J. R. McCarl, Controller General, that $113 will be deducted from the contract price of W. L. Gary Co., Inc., the second low bidder, so that this company will get the contract at $2,147, which was the estimate submitted by the Tioga Contracting Co., of Philadelphia.

Thus the Tioga company's complaint to the Controller General on its being refused the contract saved the District government $113, which would have been the extra amount paid the second low bidder, if the procedure is allowed to stand. The plumbing fixtures were for use at the District Reformatory at Lorton, Va.

Honduras Protests to Guatemala.

Tegucigalpa, Honduras, May 3 (A.P.).—A formal protest was filed today with the government of Guatemala, charging that fifteen armed soldiers crossed the border into Honduras last Sunday and fired several volleys in the town of Chachahualia. The Honduran government has demanded that the culprits be punished.

Fess Acts to End Program Frauds

Moves to Halt Solicitors Misusing Name of G.O.P. Committee.

(Associated Press.)

Chairman Fess, of the Republican national committee, acted quickly yesterday to halt solicitors for the national convention program from "misusing the name of the Republican national committee."

In a statement last night, the Republican chairman explained the program for the convention had been let out by contract to a private company by the Chicago citizens' committee. He said word had reached the Capital that solicitors of the company were getting ads by "representing themselves as soliciting advertising for the Republican national committee." He did not name the company printing the programs.

The Ohioan intimated he might discuss the case and some ramifications of it on the Senate floor.

Graf Nears Cape Verde On Voyage to America

Friedrichshafen, Germany, May 3 (A.P.).—The Graf Zeppelin, en route to South America, was reported at 11 a. m. today in 20.53 north latitude and 20.11 west longitude (about midway between the Canary and Cape Verde Islands).

The dirigible expected to fly over the Cape Verdes at midnight.

QUEEN SHENANDOAH GETS CROWN TODAY

Winchester Is in Gay Attire for Start of Apple-Blossom Fete.

Winchester, Va., May 3 (A.P.).—Millions of apple trees in the Shenandoah Valley orchards were in full bloom tonight—and Miss Helen Ames Washington, who tomorrow will be crowned Queen Shenandoah IX, was the guest of honor at preliminary "royal" festivities.

Ruling over a domain, white with the blossoms, of which she is to be queen, Miss Washington will be the central figure in the ninth annual Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival to be celebrated here tomorrow and Thursday. Her court will include princesses representing 35 States. The coronation will be by M. Paul Claudel, French Ambassador to the United States.

Coronation ceremonies will be opened with a parade featuring more than 5,000 school children and 40 bands. The ceremonies will be witnessed by a host of visitors, many of whom arrived during the past week-end and were followed by others now taxing Winchester accommodations to their limit and overflowing into surrounding valley towns.

Remaining Buds Bloom.

The warming sun of today brought forth the few remaining buds, and tonight there was reason to believe that the blossoms tomorrow would be at the height of their beauty.

Miss Washington arrived here yesterday, to be the guest of Mrs. Richart Evelyn Byrd, sr., during the celebration. Her presence and the program for the 1932 festival links the occasion with George Washington, whose Bicentennial birth anniversary is being celebrated this year. She is a collateral descendant.

Today she issued "royal greetings" to her subjects, in which she voiced "grateful acknowledgement of the signal honor conferred on me." She confessed she was "too happy for words." Her home is in Philadelphia.

Winchester Decked in Color.

Winchester, like the queen and the blossoms, is ready for the festival. The city is decorated from end to end, and its people are in a festival spirit.

State and local police shaped plans for handling crowds, expected by authorities to exceed those of former years. Motorcycle patrolmen will be stationed on all main highways to keep traffic moving, and 100 extra local police will be scattered through the city.

The French Ambassador, who is to crown Queen Shenandoah tomorrow afternoon, will be guest of honor at noon at a luncheon given by William E. Cooper, festival executive committee chairman. Other guests will include scores of railroad and public service corporation officials.

Tonight Miss Washington was guest of honor at a dinner party at the country club given by her maids of honor, Misses Grace Bosserman and Anne Brooke Kern.

Fall to Be Freed From Cell Sunday

Good Behavior of Former Cabinet Member Aids; Fine Still Unpaid.

(Associated Press.)

Barring unforeseen delays, Albert Bacon Fall, one-time Secretary of the Interior, will be freed from prison within four days.

Justice Department officials said yesterday that, with time for good behavior, May 8 is the date for the expiration of the year's sentence imposed upon Fall for accepting a bribe while a member of President Harding's Cabinet. So far as is known at the department, the 71-year-old man has been a model prisoner.

The only Cabinet officer ever to be convicted on a felony charge, Fall was also the only person indicted in connection with the leasing of Naval oil reserves to be sent to the penitentiary. H. F. Sinclair and Edward L. Doheny, wealthy oil men, were tried and acquitted. Fall appealed his conviction to the Supreme Court and after it refused to review the case tried to get a suspended sentence because of poor health. This was denied, but he was allowed to serve his sentence in the drier air of New Mexico. Fall was fined $100,000. That is still unpaid.

Three Neanderthal Skeletons Found

Discovery in Palestine Is Declared Greatest in History.

New Haven, Conn., May 3 (A.P.).—Discovery of three adult Neanderthal skeletons near Athlit, Palestine, was announced today by Prof. George G. MacCurdy, of Yale University, who termed it the greatest find of Neanderthal remains in history.

The discovery was reported in a cablegram to Prof. MacCurdy, director of the American School of Prehistoric Research, from Theodore D. McCown, in charge of an expedition sponsored by the school and the British School of Archeology.

"Three adult Mousterians surely Neanderthal," the cablegram said. "Heavy brow ridges, taurodont dentition."

It is the third discovery in eight years of Neanderthal skeletal remains in Palestine, and Prof. McCurdy estimated the bones were at least 75,000 years old.

Adjournment Foreseen By June 12 by McNary

(Associated Press.)

A prediction of adjournment of Congress by June 12 was made in the Senate yesterday by McNary, of Oregon, the assistant Republican leader. "Well," remarked Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, "if the senator could give me assurance of that I would be both astonished and gratified."

The Republican convention opens June 14. Both Republican and Democratic leaders are making a drive to adjourn by then, but some still believe a recess will have to be taken and the session resumed in July.

Tampico, Mexico, May 3 (A.P.).—The Norwegian tanker Noreg ran aground yesterday as it left port with 10,500 tons of petroleum for Philadelphia. The accident was caused by high winds sweeping the harbor.

MINING PACT RIFTS CHARGED BY LEWIS

Labor Head and Operators Clash in Senate at Hearing on Bill.

(Associated Press.)

Charges of contract violations were exchanged yesterday in a clash between John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, and the head of one of Pennsylvania's biggest mining companies at a Senate hearing.

The flare up came during testimony by B. M. Clark, of Indiana, Pa., president of the Rochester-Pittsburgh Coal Co., and two smaller companies all operating in central Pennsylvania.

Opposing the Davis-Kelly bill for Federal regulation of the bituminous industry, he asserted it would compel his companies to "go back to dealing with the United Mine Workers of America." He charged that organization with having violated contract obligations by calling strikes.

Lewis Enters Protest.

Mr. Lewis promptly protested against "going into ancient records" and allowing his organization to be "baited here under the cloak of testifying on the Davis-Kelly bill."

He said Mr. Clark in his own testimony had said the operators themselves violated an agreement with the mine workers.

"We have repudiated no contracts," replied Mr. Clark bluntly. "The gentleman states something that isn't a fact."

Chairman Hatfield (Republican), West Virginia, allowed Mr. Clark to go on with his statement.

Senator Davis (Republican), Pennsylvania, coauthor of the bill, said it provided only for collective bargaining.

Witness Stirs Objection.

Mr. Lewis also objected when another witness, F. O. Sandstrom, of the Colorado-New Mexico Coal Operators' Association, mentioned the United Mine Workers in connection with activities of the Rocky Mountain Fuel Co.

Testimony concerning the business transactions of the company had no bearing on the bill, Senator Davis contended.

When Mr. Sandstrom, in response to questions from senators said he was not connected with the company, Mr. Lewis' objection was upheld and the witness said "that concludes my testimony then."

A third witness was K. A. Spencer, Pittsburgh, Kans., who operates mines in Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma and Arkansas. He said the bill is "dangerous, undesirable, and we don't know but what it's unconstitutional." Instead of Federal regulation, he said, the industry needs a relaxation of the antitrust laws.

Ohio, the favorite son is Gov. George White. However, White will have virtually no control over the Ohio delegation, the real bosses being former Gov. James M. Cox, Senator Robert Buckley and friends of Newton D. Baker. Cox is openly opposed to Roosevelt, and Bulkley is cool toward him. There is, however, considerable Roosevelt sentiment in the State.

Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland would not even be asked to step aside. It is understood that in the event of a convention deadlock, the Smith-Raskob group will first try to put over Owen D. Young, and failing in that throw their strength to Ritchie.

Roosevelt's Opposition.

Senator J. Hamilton Lewis, favorite son candidate of Illinois, has managed to appear neutral, but Anton Cermak, Mayor of Chicago and the Democratic boss of the State, is understood to lean away from Roosevelt.

Gov. Alfalfa Bill Murray of Oklahoma appears to be strongly, even bitterly, opposed to Roosevelt. He is about the only candidate, in fact, who has openly criticized the New Yorker.

There was tremendous interest in the California primary here in Washington. Because of the three hours difference in time, returns were late.

Meantime the politicians sought to interpret the result of the Maryland primary. Democrats were much cheered by President Hoover's poor showing against former Senator Joseph E. France, and also by the extremely light vote. They concluded that Maryland was sure to be found in the Democratic column next November.

Republicans Defend Result.

The Republicans contended that no particular significance could be attached to the Hoover-France contest. The President filed in Maryland, they said, only because it was France's home State. He made no campaign, they pointed out, while France stumped the entire State.

Had Republicans in general felt that there was any danger of France winning, it was argued, the result would have been much different.

Interest in the question of repealing Baltimore's ancient Sunday blue law, it was explained, overshadowed everything else and accounted for the light vote in the preferential primary.

LONG AGAIN ASSAILS ROBINSON IN SENATE

kind compliments he paid to my sundry qualifications the other day by stating that I know him to be a man of great standing in our section of the country."

Senator Long was referring to Senator Robinson's criticism of him, after he attacked the leader and resigned from the committees last week.

Later, off the floor, Senator Long explained that he had resigned from the committees before attacking Robinson because some of the assignments had been given to him by the party leader at his request.

"I would have liked to keep the committees," Senator Long said, "but I couldn't do it under the circumstances. I wasn't going to attack the leadership from which I had asked favors."

Berkman Deportation Is Protested.

Boston, May 3 (A.P.).—A delegation of eleven "hunger marchers," members of a group that marched to Boston in a demonstration for unemployment relief, today went to the United States immigration station and filed a protest against the detention and impending deportation of Edith Berkman.

METHODISTS ATTACK STATE RUM CONTROL

Delegates at Atlantic City Applaud Message Hitting Labor Conditions.

Atlantic City, N. J., May 3 (A.P.).—A "more vigorous" continuance of national prohibition and an immediate reconstruction of existing relations between industry and the worker were called for today by the board of bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church in an episcopal letter to the general conference.

Substitutes and modification plans for the eighteenth amendment were waved aside in the message.

As a rallying cry against State liquor control, the following slogan was put forward:

"We can no more have a Nation half drunk and half sober than in the days of Lincoln it was possible to have a Nation half slave and half free."

The message, read to the quadrennial conference by the elderly Bishop William F. Anderson, of Boston, on behalf of the board, was equally forceful in its indictment of the present relationship between capital and labor.

Monopolies Are Attacked.

The document warned that an ever-increasing monopoly on the part of "favored owners of the resources of production" was making for the eventual destruction of all business, as well as of both society and State. It urged an abandonment of a "might-make-right" system of business.

The letter said that if the continued resistance of capital prevented orderly reconstruction, "a breaking point is sure to come, as a result of which much that is good in our present civilization will perish in the attempt to do away with what is evil."

The Episcopal message, which constitutes the charge of the general superintendents of the church to the conference, is not an official pronouncement of the attitude of the entire church, but it was the opinion of most delegates that the conference would ratify the majority of the paragraphs, especially those on prohibition.

The document also discussed questions of world peace, denominational unity, reorganization of church machinery and mission work.

18,000-Word Address.

The discussion of prohibition and temperance occupied one-sixth of the entire address, which contained 18,000 words and required two hours for delivery.

Although the rules of the conference strictly forbid all demonstrations, the assembly time and again halted the reading on prohibition with ovations of approval and sustained applause.

The applause was particularly great when Bishop Anderson condemned the wet attitude of the metropolitan press and indicted the efforts of wealthy men in behalf of prohibition repeal.

When the bishop, in a ringing voice, declared "during the conflict to preserve the sanctity of the law, the metropolitan press, with rare exceptions, has written one of the most shameful chapters in the history of the republic," the entire assembly arose in a demonstration that lasted several minutes.

When the applause died down, several delegates called on Bishop Anderson to repeat the passage, and the assemblage greeted the repetition with a new outburst of approval.

JAPANESE HALTED BY U. S. SOLDIERS

nard Townsend Girou arrived double-time from their billets.

Maj. Girou demanded of Lieut. Comdr. Katsumo, in charge of the Japanese, that the prisoners be surrendered and that the Japanese return immediately to the Chapel district. Katsumo first attempted to defy the demand and there was a heated argument, after which the Japanese commander yielded.

Katsumo reiterated the charges against the Chinese and declared that in event of recurrence of stoning of marines the Japanese would return in force and exact vengeance "no matter who interferes."

Mrs. Maria L. Storer, Longworth's Aunt, Dies

Cincinnati, Ohio, May 3 (A.P.).—A cablegram from Paris today told of the death there of Mrs. Maria Longworth Storer, 83, aunt of the late Nicholas Longworth, Speaker of the House of Representatives.

The message received from Count de Chambrun, her son-in-law, said she died Saturday. Her body will be returned here for burial.

SWANSON'S BIG NAVY PLEA HIT AT GENEVA

ment conference that the United States intends to build the biggest Navy allowed by existing treaties was sent out by the Senate yesterday in voting to take up the Hale naval construction bill.

Rejecting Democratic proposals that consideration of the bill be postponed to await developments at Geneva, the Senate voted, 46 to 35, to consider immediately the bill authorizing bringing the Navy up to the full strength allowed by the Washington and London pacts.

Although the ultimate fate of the bill depends to a large extent upon the course of the tax bill, which will be given right of way, Navy friends believed they had been given an adequate demonstration yesterday of Senate sentiment.

The motion to take the bill up was made by Chairman Hale, of the Navy committee, author of the measure.

It was supported by 28 Republicans and 18 Democrats. Nine Republicans, fifteen Democrats and one Farmer-Laborite voted against it. Senator Robinson, Democratic leader, proposed to Hale that he postpone consideration of the bill for 30 days to await developments.

PUBLIC DEFENDER'S VANISHING MYSTERY

Phone Message Indicates Slain Woman's Heir Was Abducted.

San Francisco, May 3 (A.P.).—The disappearance of Frank J. Egan, public defender of San Francisco, was linked with the recent mysterious death of Mrs. Jessie Hughes, a widow, who authorities disclosed had named him chief beneficiary in her will. Egan vanished last night after telephoning a police inspector a message indicating he was in the hands of abductors.

As police searched the city for the missing official, Deputy Coroner Jane Walsh said Egan had been willed the larger part of Mrs. Hughes' estate.

Egan called Captain of Inspectors Charles Dullea, presumably from the Ferry Building here, last night and said over the telephone:

"They've got me. Two men have got me here."

"Where are you, Frank?" Dullea said he asked.

"In a booth at the Ferry Building. They think I'm phoning home * * * I'm innocent, captain."

Conflicting Evidence.

Dullea said the telephone connection was broken. He sped to the building, but his search was unavailing.

Police located Egan's sedan in a public garage. The attendant said Egan drove in so fast he nearly struck another automobile.

"He ran out in a state of great excitement," the attendant told authorities.

Thomas V. Kraft, elevator operator in the building where Egan had offices, told police the missing man went to his office at 6:45 p. m. and was still there more than two hours later—at the time he was supposed to be in the Ferry Building calling police.

"When I took him up at 6:45 he mentioned something about an appointment with a man," Mr. Kraft said. "I went off duty at 9 p. m. He had not come down up to that time."

Woman Dead in Street.

Deputy Corner Walsh said Egan declared he was Mrs. Hughes' beneficiary when he came to discuss funeral arrangements for the widow, whose body was found late last Friday night in a street. Police asserted she either had been killed by a hit-and-run motorist, or had been slain and her body taken to the street and an automobile run over it to give the impression of accidental death.

James A. Toner, assistant to Egan, said his superior had complained yesterday that telephone wires into his office had been tapped.

The amount of Mrs. Hughes' estate was unknown, but Deputy Coroner Walsh said Egan had told her there was a $2,000 insurance policy carrying a double indemnity clause for accidental death and another policy of $15,000.

Youth Gets Suspended Sentence for Larceny

Samuel J. Hannah, accused of larceny and receiving stolen goods, was given a suspended sentence of one year yesterday after he pleaded guilty in Prince Georges County Circuit Court.

Hannah, with another youth, was indicted for a theft from Richard H. Steele. A jury in the same court freed Eugene Jackson on charges of larceny and receiving goods stolen from Nettie Henry.

200 EASTERN STARS VISIT MOUNT VERNON

Wreaths Placed at Tombs of Washingtons; Tribute Is Paid by Leaders.

More than 200 members of the grand chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star, which represents the combined chapters of the order in Washington, made a pilgrimage to Mount Vernon yesterday to pay homage to George and Marth Washington.

Officers of the Grand International Order who led the pilgrimage were: The most worthy grand matron, Mrs. Mildred S. Schambacher, of Ontario, Canada; the most worthy grand patron, John Hammil, former Governor of Iowa; the right worthy grand secretary, Mrs. Minnie E. Keyes, and the right worthy grand treasurer, Mrs. Flora E. Campbell.

Among the local officers of the organization who were in the procession were: the worthy grand matron, Miss Edith A. Williams, and the worthy grand patron, Paul Cromelin. The order placed a wreath at the Mount Vernon tombs.

At a meeting of the Grand Lodge, last night, at the Masonic Temple, the invocation was offered by Worthy Associate Grand Patron William A. Duvall. "Washington, the Mason," was the subject of an address by the grand master of the Masons in the District, Reuben A. Bogley.

Gov. Hamill spoke on "Washington, the Statesman;" Mrs. Keyes on "Washington's Home Life," and John C. Palmer, grand chaplain of the Grand Lodge of Masons, spoke on "Washington and Religion."

The distribution of approximately 2,000 tickets to the Order of the Eastern Star pageant, "Washington's Vision of a Triumphant Nation," which will be presented in the Washington Auditorium May 13, was begun yesterday.

The pageant, which will be attended by many of the national officials of the order, will be one of the outstanding features of Masonic Week, which begins May 9. Mrs. Selma Klein, author and director of the presentation, is supervising rehearsals for the entertainment.

Unfavorable Report Due On Old-Age Pension Bill

The District Commissioners are expected to make an unfavorable report today on the Capper bill for old-age pensions in the District despite the plea yesterday of a delegation representing a dozen social welfare agencies in its behalf. The group was headed by Leifur Magnusson, director of the Washington office of the International Labor Organization.

The Commissioners feel that the present institutions caring for the aged are adequate and that the pension is not necessary. The delegation favored the abolishment of the District Poor House should the bill be adopted.

Taxes and National Survival

OPEN LETTER to the Congress of the United States

GENTLEMEN: It is well understood in these trying times that your members are so deluged with letters and telegrams on the problems confronting them, as guardians of the Nation's welfare, that a high proportion of these communications are not even opened. We, therefore, take this means of publicly addressing you.

1. It is universally agreed that the national interest requires the balancing of the budget at the earliest possible moment.

2. The same paramount interest requires that whether or not any particular Senator's or Representative's constituents like it or not, drastic governmental economies must be ordered. All the superfluous and paternalistic bureaus, boards, and commissions established since 1913 should be abolished or reduced to nominal proportions. Certain major departments of Government which have similarly and simultaneously expanded into unwarranted fields, should be curtailed. These changes ought not, however, to be made in too summary a fashion because of the demoralizing dislocation which such violent changes would produce—but they should be planned now!

3. It is absolutely necessary, therefore, that much additional revenue be raised immediately.

4. Attempts to find such sums by imposing increased rates upon the present less than two million individual income tax payers and on corporations would not only further depress the market on all taxable stocks and bonds, but demoralize private industry by the flight of capital from productive enterprise into "tax exempts." Such taxation furthermore would not raise the necessary money. The "soak the rich" formula is not only grossly inequitable, un-American and destructive, but in time of depression is not even a mediocre revenue producer. There are not enough citizens who are rich, and those who are, are not rich enough.

5. Attempts to raise any such amount as is needed by singling out certain industries for special and high excise taxes is unfair, unsound, disorderly, and destructive.

6. The conclusion is unescapable, therefore, that the time has come when the national interest requires that every citizen should pay a share toward the cost of the government which protects him.

7. The general Sales Tax is the fairest, most effective and least burdensome method of raising substantial revenue in both good and bad times. If the "general manufacturers' sales tax" proposed by the House Ways and Means Committee would, as estimated, raise $600,000,000, a more general sales tax on manufacturers, wholesalers, and importers along the lines of the Canadian model would raise somewhere between $900,000,000 and $1,200,000,000 without inflicting a crushing burden on any one. Supposing every one spent all his income on commodities taxed at 2¼ per cent, which is more than could possibly happen.

The $500 a year man would pay to the government	$11.25
The $1,000 a year man	22.50
The $5,000 a year man	112.50
The $10,000 a year man	225.00
The $100,000 a year man	2,250.00
The $1,000,000 a year man	22,500.00

Senators' Opportunity

All of the above facts are now much more widely understood than when the revenue measure was before the House. The Senate not only has the opportunity but the obligation to deal with the subject in the light of this altered situation. It is well known that many of those who voted against the sales tax in the House now regret their action. The general public is now better informed—they are aroused. The sentiment is that something must be done, and a sales tax seems the only hope. We may still expect that the House in a more sober mood will respond to the national interest, see the inexorable mathematics of the situation, and do the right thing. If not it will become clearly evident where the responsibility lies. The Senate, therefore, can and should give the House an opportunity to reconsider.

The present crisis is more ominous than any war-time one with which our country has been confronted. Let our political leaders take a lesson from the experience of the last one.

Then it was argued that any member of Congress voting for the selective draft law would be defeated at the next election. The prediction was emphatically demolished by American citizens who accepted the call to national service with patriotic enthusiasm.

The American people love their country and will make sacrifices to preserve and defend it. In times of public apathy agitators, demagogues, and spokesmen for group interests can mislead them or create a false impression of public opinion, but they are unable to do so when the public is interested and aroused. Such a time is now.

The Nation is unquestionably today in peril but the decisive battle is being waged in the halls of Congress and not in the open field. We are contending against economic ruin and political chaos. The hour has struck for senators and congressmen to respond to the call for national service, even if personal political risks are involved.

The passage by Congress of a fair and sound tax bill and the removal of the threat of confiscatory and destructive taxation would do more than anything immediately possible to arrest depression, restore confidence and promote a decided upturn in business.

In behalf of the Nation's interest we ask that this be done.

GRADUATION DAY SET JUNE 2 AT ANNAPOLIS

Adams Expected to Deliver Address at the Close of Week's Festivities.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., May 3.—June 2 will be commencement day at the Naval Academy, authorities at the institution have announced. The festivities will cover a week beginning Friday, May 27, with an informal dance and band concert as preludes. Secretary of the Navy Adams is expected to deliver the address to the graduates.

May 28 will be "athletic day." Midshipmen teams will present a fine card of dual competitions, featured by varsity baseball and lacrosse with teams of the University of Maryland; tennis with University of Pennsylvania and a field and track meet with Ohio State University. Plebe teams will also stage two contests, meeting the championship teams of the District of Columbia high schools at baseball and on the field and track.

Other features of the day will be ceremonies in dedication of the new "main gates" at the Maryland avenue entrance to the reservation, presented by the class of 1907, and the annual reunion of the Graduates Association, to be followed by a banquet at night. Midshipmen of the first, second and third classes will be hosts at a dance also at night.

On Sunday, Commander Frank H. Lash, chaplain, will preach his farewell sermon to the graduates. Monday will be given over to the observance of the Memorial Day holiday, and the entire student body will be enabled to mingle with their "June week" friends. Band concerts will be given in the morning and afternoon.

Regimental drills are on the program for Tuesday and Wednesday. Outstanding social events include a garden party to be given by Rear Admiral Thomas C. Hart, superintendent, and Mrs. Hart, and the ring dance by the second classmen, both on Tuesday evening, and the farewell ball to the graduates on the eve of commencement day.

At regimental dress parade on Tuesday afternoon, presentation of "colors" for general excellence during the academic year will take place and at a like drill the following day, awards for excellence in the professional branches and athletic honors will be made.

The graduating class has a roll of more than 400 and the recent announcement that commissions would be available for all who qualify relieved a tense feeling that existed for months. Not all will continue in the regular line, however; it is known that a number will be compelled to resign for physical disability, defective vision being the chief cause. A number of others will resign voluntarily. About 25 have elected to accept commissions in the Marine Corps, and several have applied for transfer to the Supply Corps.

$75-Per-Month Limit In Pension Bill Fought

The family welfare and the child welfare committees of the Council of Social Agencies yesterday adopted resolutions asking the Senate District committee to eliminate the maximum of $75 per month for destitue families, as is provided for in the mothers' pension bill which recently passed the House.

The group declared it would do everything in its power to restore the bill to its former status. The bill as passed in 1926 was entirely satisfactory, it was pointed out by Miss Florence Hutsinpillar, specialist on mothers' aid of the Children's Bureau of the Department of Labor, but the clause allowing a maximum of $75 per month per family, inserted by the House, would lessen its usefulness, she said.

therefore, most earnestly urge that such pardon be granted."

Last night the petition had 125 signers and Representative Thatcher said that only one who had been asked to sign had refused. He declined to reveal the member's name.

Honolulu, May 3 (A.P.).—Developments in Washington today held the attention of the four Americans found guilty of manslaughter in the slaying of Joseph Kahahawai, asserted attacker of Mrs. Thalia Massie. These developments included moves for congressional pardon.

Outwardly Calm.

Honolulu, although still buzzing with comment on the sensational case, had settled into outward calm while awaiting the sentencing Friday of Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, Mrs. Granville Fortescue, mother of Mrs. Massie, and E. J. Lord and Albert O. Jones, enlisted men of the Navy.

The first step toward escaping the penalty on the manslaughter verdict returned by the racially mixed jury will be a motion for a new trial.

The defense, headed by Clarence Darrow, admits, however, this will be little more than a technical step for the sake of the record, with little hope it will succeed.

Sentence Friday.

Should Circuit Judge Charles S. Davis pronounce sentence Friday, the next act would be to take the case into the Hawaiian Supreme Court. If the action there is against the defendants, an appeal may be taken to the Ninth United States Circuit Court of Appeals in California.

Judge Davis has given no indication of what his sentence will be. The maximum penalty would be ten years imprisonment at hard labor.

Darrow, assisted by George S. Leisure, of New York, associate defense counsel, began today the arduous task of searching the record for flaws in the prosecution's presentation. The defense is making a particular study of constitutional questions on which to base an appeal to the Federal court.

SENATE COMMITTEE IN FAVOR OF INCREASE IN POSTAL RATES

Wesley Jones, of Washington. Democrats (5)—Senators Gore, William E. King, of Utah; Walter F. George, of Georgia; David I. Walsh, of Massachusetts, and Cordell Hull, of Tennessee.

The committee retained the House tax of 4 cents a share. This tax was urged by Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills, who objected to the addition of the ¼ per cent to this minimum. On the basis of the House estimates of revenue to be expected from the stock exchange tax the finance committee action cut $42,000,000 from the tax bill, leaving $28,000,000 to be obtained from this source. The committee passed over the tax on bond transfers.

Elimination of the revaluation of estates provision added something like $40,000,000 to the House bill figure. More than $100,000,000 was estimated to be saved to the various States which have inheritance tax laws.

Revaluation of Estates.

The House provision permitted a revalution of estates of persons who died between September 1, 1928, and January 1, 1932. Under the existing law estates are valued for purposes of the inheritance taxes as of the date of death. The change was proposed by representatives of many large estates, beneficiaries of which protested that because of the decline in the stock market would mean a tax out of all proportion. They sought and got from the House permission to revalue inheritances at a date eighteen months after death.

The fight against the revaluation provision was led in the finance committee by Senator Connally, but the protests against it were recognized on the floor of the House when Representative Charles R. Crisp (Democrat), of Georgia, acting chairman of the ways and means committee, which sponsored the provision, said the committee had understood only twelve or fifteen estates would be affected, but subsequently had learned that several thousands would be affected.

List Is Presented.

Senator Connally presented to the finance committee a list of estates which, he said, would be affected by the revaluation provision. The list and the value estimated for each included:

George F. Baker, $100,000,000; Dwight Morrow, $20,000,000; Harry Payne Whitney, $100,000,000; Miss Ella Wendel, $100,000,000; Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, $25,000,000; Henry Phipps, $100,000,000; Ogden Mills, sr., $50,000,000; Alexander Cochran, $50,000,000; Edward Bok, $25,000,000; John T. Dorrance, $15,000,000; Coleman du Pont, $35,000,000; Thomas Fortune Ryan, $150,000,000; V. E. Macy, $50,000,000; Percy R. Pyne, $50,000,000. Other names on the list, for which no amounts were given, were Mortimer Schiff, Henry F. Folger, S. W. Strauss, Tom Taggart and Halsey Fiske.

There was a flare-up over the inheritance revaluation proposal before the House ways and means committee during the closing hours of that committee's consideration of the cash soldier bonus. Representative Wright Patman (Democrat), Texas, father of the cash bonus, charged that Secretary Mills would be one of the large beneficiaries of the clause and his attorney, E. C. Alvord, had worked with the committee and been in a position to exert considerable influence to have the committee approve it.

Mills Is Defended.

Democrats and Republicans alike immediately rose to the defense of Mr. Mills. Acting Chairman Crisp and others absolving Mr. Mills of any criticism, saying he had refrained from expressing any opinion on the point because of the pending settlement of his father's estate, and Representative Patman withdrew his criticism.

The committee, which the day before had boosted the tax on wort, used for beer making, at yesterday's session rescinded its earlier action of taxing highball ingredients, reducing the tax on carbonated beverages from 5 cents a gallon to the House rate of 2 cents. It also reduced the 5 per cent tax on chewing gum to 3 per cent.

A 5 per cent tax was imposed on all telegrams and a tax of 10 cents each was voted on all cable and radio messages. Telephone rates were not changed.

Pullman Company Value Fixed at $119,750,000

(Associated Press.)

The Interstate Commerce Commission yesterday fixed the value of the Pullman Co. for rate making purposes at $119,750,000, as of June 30, 1919.

The company's property consists principally of sleeping cars and dining cars with shops for building and repairing the cars. The commission found that the company had $237,786 of property which it did not use for common carrier purposes.

NEPOTISM IS STRUCK NEW BLOW IN HOUSE

Tennessee Democrat Offers Bill to Prevent Hiring of Relatives.

(United Press.)

A second blow at the widespread employment of relatives by senators and representatives was struck yesterday.

Representative J. R. Mitchell (Democrat), Tennessee, introduced a bill to prohibit this practice. He accompanied this action with a statement declaring the public would never believe that the appointment of a near relative was on merit alone. He said the secrecy surrounding the practice was "prima facie evidence of fraud, crookedness and corruption of the rankest kind."

Mitchell said that even a representative can not find out who is on the pay roll of other members.

"Let us begin by having the clerk of the House keep his books open so all the taxpayers and their representatives can know who is eating up their substance here on Capitol Hill," he said.

He challenged representatives to take the stump and say they would appoint relatives to clerkships if elected.

Last week the House voted down 2 to 1 an attempt by Representative Mouser (Republican), Ohio, to amend the economy bill to prevent employment of relatives.

Senator Fess Named.

These developments followed publication by the United Press of numerous instances in which prominent members of Congress were carrying relatives, some of them seldom in Washington, on the rolls as Senate or congressional clerks. The latest instance is that of Senator Simeon D. Fess, of Ohio, chairman of the Republican national committee, whose daughter-in-law, Dorothy Fess, lives in Toledo, Ohio, and draws $2,220 a year for "clerical work" which she does at home. She is officially listed as assistant clerk to the Senate library committee here of which her father-in-law is chairman. Her address is officially given as the Carlton Hotel, where Senator Fess lives, but the clerk said he did not recall her.

Sees Failure of Bill.

Representative Mitchell said he did not expect his antinepotism bill to pass "because there are too many affected by it."

It provides that it shall be unlawful for any member of Congress to appoint to any legislative position any person related to him or to any other member of Congress. A fine of $1,000 to $10,000 and forfeiture of office is provided. The bill follows the outline of similar laws in Mississippi, Nevada, New Mexico and some other States.

Des Moines, Iowa, May 3 (A.P.).—Henry Field, of Shenandoah, candidate for the Republican senatorial nomination, today made charges of nepotism against Senator Smith W. Brookhart. Speaking before the East Des Moines Club, Field estimated the Brookhart family's share of the Federal pay roll at more than $25,000 a year.

S. A. R. Will Honor Two Graves Today

Wreaths to Recall Heroes of Revolution, Dr. Bloomer and Col. Forrest.

The District of Columbia Society, Sons of the American Revolution, which has planned a series of 13 events for the Bicentennial year, one for each of the 13 original States, will hold four of these celebrations this afternoon. It will consist of a pilgrimage to Georgetown and the placing of wreaths on the graves of two heroes of the Revolution, the Rev. Dr. Stephen Bloomer Balch and Lieut. Col. Uriah Forrest.

Members of the society will assemble at the gate of Oak Hill Cemetery at 5:15 o'clock and will march to the graves escorted by a police guard, a band of music, a detachment of soldiers from Fort Myer and a patrol of high school cadets.

John Claggett Proctor, historian of the District society, will deliver a eulogy on Dr. Balch, and the vice president, Dr. Mark F. Finley, will place the wreath on the grave. Past President Selden M. Ely will eulogize Lieut. Col. Forrest, and Past President Albert D. Spengler will place the wreath. A salute will be fired over each grave and taps will be sounded.

U. S. Agent Killed in Crash.

Waverly, Tenn., May 3 (A.P.).—D. P. Wheeler, 46, financial agent of the Federal Government at Hot Springs, Ark., was injured fatally and his wife was seriously hurt near here today in a collision of their automobile and a truck. Virgil Donohue, driver of the truck, was charged with manslaughter.

$2,000,000 in Estate Of Mrs. E. A. Scully

Most of It Will Go to Three Children Under Terms of Will Filed Here.

A $2,000,000 estate was left by Mrs. Enriqueta Angela Scully when she died February 6, it was disclosed yesterday, when her will was filed in the District Supreme Court for probate. The estate was made up of the premises at 1401 Sixteenth street northwest, valued at $50,000, and personal property valued at $1,965,626.71.

Her attorney, Frederick Trapp, was given $30,000; a nurse, Hester M. Nibloe, $10,000; J. E. C. Fisher, Beatrice, Nebr., $15,000, and $5,000 each to Henry Husley, Surrey, England, and Col. J. W. Downes, Shropshire, England.

The remaining estate is to be divided equally among the three children, Mrs. Ida A. H. Parry, of London, England, and Thomas S. and Frederick Scully, of Lincoln, Ill. A later addition to the will provides that £40,000 sterling is to be held from the share of Thomas Scully for the benefit of the four children by his first marriage.

Harry H. Barrows Is Taken by Death

Heart Attack Is Fatal to Assistant Chief in Federal Bureau.

Harry H. Barrows, 58 years old, assistant chief of the Bureau of Agricultural Engineering, Department of Agriculaure, died suddenly yesterday from a heart attack at his residence, 1402 L street northwest. Mr. Barrows joined the bureau in 1910 as engineer in connection with drainage investigations and in the 22 years held the positions of drainage engineer, senior drainage engineer and assistant to the chief.

Mr. Barrows was born in Kent, Ohio, February 5, 1874, and was educated in the public schools at Cleveland. He attended Iowa State College and Ohio State University, and was graduated from the latter in 1898 with degree of civil engineer.

From 1898 to 1910, he held various positions with the Southern and with the Missouri Pacific Railways. He served overseas in the World War as captain of Engineers, U. S. Army, from September, 1917, to July, 1919. He was a member of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers.

He is survived by his brother, E. M. Barrows, New York City, and three sisters, two of whom are Miss Alice Barrows, San Francisco, and Mrs. C. B. Chorpenning, Evanston, Ill.

Rites for Tindall Held in Arlington

Grand Army of Republic in Charge of Rites at Grave.

Dr. William Tindall, 88 years old, oldest employe of the District of Columbia, who died Sunday in Walter Reed Hospital, was buried yesterday in Arlington National Cemetery. The services were in charge of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Members of the Oldest Inhabitants of the District of Columbia, of which Mr. Tindall was a member, attended the brief ceremonies at Almus R. Speare's funeral home, 1623 Connecticut avenue northwest.

Surviving Mr. Tindall are a daughter, Mrs. Kate Samuels, and three sons, Philip, Arba and Nelson Tindall.

CATHEDRAL CROWD PLANS ANNOUNCED

Amplifiers Are Arranged for Overflow at Opening of Great Choir.

The demand for seats for both services in connection with the opening of the Great Choir and Sanctuary of Washington Cathedral tomorrow has been so much larger than the number of seats available, the cathedral authorities have arranged for loud speakers at the foot of the Pilgrim Steps at both services whereby hundreds of persons unable to get into the choir will be able to hear the services, including the sermons and singing.

The formal opening of the Great Choir and Sanctuary will be at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, when President and Mrs. Hoover and other notables will be present. The Right Rev. Dr. James E. Freeman, Bishop of Washington, will preach at this sermon and the Very Rev. G. C. F. Bratenahl, dean of Washington, will be celebrant at the Holy Communion. At 4 p. m. a service will be held in the Great Choir for the National Cathedral Association at which the Right Rev. William T. Manning, Bishop of New York, and honorary canon of Washington Cathedral, will be the preacher.

Architects in Procession.

It was learned yesterday that Messrs. Frohman, Robb and Little, present architects of the cathedral, will be among those in the procession tomorrow morning.

The Pilgrim Steps immediately adjoin the South Transept, which is the entrance for the general public without special cards of admission. Consequently those unable to obtain seats or standing places in the choir can cross the driveway and obtain seats on the Pilgrim Steps, where the amplifiers will be placed. Owing to the great demand for seats, it is specially requested by the cathedral authorities that those unable to use their cards of admission return them promptly to the cathedral offices.

Both the North and South Transept doors and the door to the cathedral through the curator's office, the latter to be used by clergy and members of the procession, will be opened at 9 a. m. and 3 p. m. for the two services. The North Transept, which is the entrance for those with cards of admission to the reserved section, is to be entered by motors at Woodley road and Thirty-sixth street. The South Transept, which is the entrance for those without cards of admission, may be entered by automobiles from Massachusetts avenue. Those with cards to admit them into the procession will also use the Massachusetts avenue entrance for automobiles.

Afternoon Service Plan.

The Massachusetts avenue gateway will be closed to motors at 9:40 a. m., as by that time available parking space in the Cathedral Close will be all taken up. The Woodley road entrance will not be closed to automobiles, but it is to be used exclusively by those with cards of admission.

The afternoon service will have a special section reserved for members of the National Cathedral Association, who will present their invitations as cards of admission at the north transept entrance prior to 3:30 p. m. The invitations do not entitle to bring friends on the same card. Persons without the invitations will use the south transept entrance at the afternoon service or can listen to it from the Pilgrim Steps through the amplifiers.

THE HALL OF COWARDS.

While the House tore from the economy bill the last items which offered relief to overburdened taxpayers the country looked on with a mingled feeling of pity and disgust. The sight of representatives clamoring for recognition to move the continuation of wasteful expenditures on behalf of a special class, while the whole Nation is staggering under the greatest depression in modern times, is revolting beyond description. The House has covered itself with shame. It no longer represents the American people, but only the narrow and selfish political interests of its own members.

The Government faces a deficit of nearly $2,500,000,000. A crushing tax burden must be imposed upon the people to pay for past extravagances. No one has advocated reduction of expenditures in any way comparable to the fall in revenue. The House was asked to strike only $200,000,000, less than 10 per cent of the deficit, from wasteful appropriations. It responded by penalizing underpaid Government workers, but in virtually every case left pork barrel items undisturbed. The few reductions left in the economy bill are utterly insignificant in comparison with the millions that are squandered for political influence.

Elimination of the economies proposed by the Veterans' Administration is indefensible. No veteran would have been deprived of just and liberal treatment. The bill was aimed at parasites and not at any veteran entitled to relief and compensation for disability. Yet the cowardly House did not have backbone enough to support it. Utterly ignoring the urgent demand of the unorganized public for economy, the House passed the buck until after election day. Seldom has that body been so completely demoralized.

Even while the economy measure remained unfinished business the House adopted a pensions bill, calling for the expenditure of about $150,000,000 in the next five years. At the end of that period the cost of these gratuities would be greatly increased, and no one dares to predict what the ultimate expense would amount to. By this one reckless gesture the House would create an obligation more than three times as great as the estimated savings remaining in the emaciated economy bill.

The addition of pensions to the already liberal provisions for the care of veterans and their dependents would be open to serious question at any time. To pass such a measure in this era of distress and drastic taxation amounts to criminal neglect of the national welfare. It brings the electorate face to face with a crisis that can not be met in any other way than through the punishment of congressmen who sell out the country to special interests.

The House has proved itself unworthy of public trust. Democratic leadership has been so hopelessly shattered that the public can not be expected to maintain confidence in any program that it may bring forth. The Democratic leaders have been repudiated by frantic representatives who heed nothing save the pressure of local influences. National spirit has been crushed out of the House by the stampede to write pensions into law and to preserve the sanctity of the pork barrel.

Whatever economy is achieved at this session must come from the Senate. If that body is disposed to treat this financial emergency with serious consideration, it may be possible to force economies through by the conference method. The House is not opposed to economies; it is merely too cowardly to vote for them. A heavy responsibility is thus shifted to the Senate.

Only one thing is lacking to make the chaotic record of the House complete, and that is enactment of the soldiers' bonus. In spite of the opposition that has been registered before the ways and means committee, there is grave danger that if this measure is put to a vote the House will again surrender its self-respect. That would not matter much. With the House running wild the public has ceased to rely upon it. The people must look to the Senate and the President to bring order out of this chaos. There is not much more that the House can do to plunge the country into financial confusion.

END THE UNCERTAINTY.

For the first time since the depression began there is abundant evidence that the public is impatient and annoyed because the business situation does not show greater improvement. With all the assistance that has been rendered, there is a growing feeling that more tangible results should begin to be manifested. But it takes considerable time for the machinery of a plant as large as that of the whole United States to be set going again at its normal pace.

The important accomplishments of recent weeks ought not to be overlooked. If reconstruction had started with conditions merely at a standstill more positive results would have been evident. Instead, everything was headed in the wrong direction. Initial efforts had to be directed towards turning this tide. Deflation has not been entirely checked, but confidence in the banks has been restored and hoarded money is returning to circulation. In many lines disastrous trends have been curbed, and some industries feel that they have level ground under foot.

Much of the uncertainty and timidity with regard to business expansion is due to a desire to know what action Congress is going to take. Until tax questions are settled and business is assured that the currency will not be undermined, it is impossible for trade and finance to make the exact calculations that are necessary in times of low prices and narrow margins of profit.

Congress ought to realize the urgent necessity of closing up these matters before taking a lengthy recess to attend the political conventions at Chicago in June. No tax measure and no economy bill can be formulated that will be entirely satisfactory. The more generally and equitably imposts can be distributed the better it will be for industry and labor, but the all important thing is to end the present uncertainty. Business can adjust itself with remarkable promptness to whatever conditions must be imposed if they are definitely fixed so that calculations can be made for a reasonable period in advance. Congress can make a notable contribution to business recovery by completing its work and adjourning.

JAPAN'S UNHAPPY POSITION.

Behind a brave front and a shield of natural stoicism Japan begins to realize that she has made some mistakes. She is in trouble at home and she has lost her high standing in the opinion of the world. Ever since the World War Japan has been building up respect and admiration among the nations for her calm, broad judgment and reasonable attitude of cooperation in all matters of both peace and progress. Suddenly, with ruthless disregard of treaty obligations and international feelings, she began the campaign in China that has in a few brief months changed the favorable judgment and estimation in which she was held.

Japan's action in Manchuria and at Shanghai apparently must be explained on the grounds that, with all her remarkable transformation and her adoption of modern customs, there are some things Japan has failed to grasp. In particular Japan has not realized that imperialism and conquest are no longer accepted principles.

Japan's latest enterprise in China has contained both surprises and disappointments. It has been prosecuted at great cost by an impoverished treasury. Instead of promptly annexing a rich storehouse of raw materials that Japan needed, the invasion of China has alienated Japan's most important market. Besides famine conditions in the northern provinces of Japan, Tokyo is now concerned with a growing menace of Fascism.

In his radio talk on May Day Premier Inukai said: "Japan is beset by internal worries and international troubles and our rural population is in distress." This is a frank statement of the nation's afflictions. How Japan is to escape the penalties of her present situation is not clear. Retreat is inconceivably humiliating to Oriental races, yet it must be clear to Japan by this time that she will not be able to impose trade and friendship upon all of China by military force.

FIXING PRICES BY LAW.

No more positive demonstration of the reckless mood which prevails on Capitol Hill has been given than the overwhelming vote of the House in favor of price-fixing. The passage of the Goldsborough bill was not a surprise to those who have kept in touch with congressional sentiment. The House has gone beyond the stage of reason and deliberation. It is ready to try any fanatical remedy for the depression that contains hope of relief.

The objective sought in the Goldsborough bill is a worthy one. It is designed to halt the deflation of prices and to restore the price level to the average which prevailed from 1921 to 1929. Its fatal mistake is in trying to bring about that result through a mere legislative gesture. Since all the measures that Congress has enacted in two years have failed to cure the depression, it is nonsense to suppose that the addition of a paragraph to the Federal Reserve act would set the country economically right again.

The House does not intend to do the job itself. It passes the buck to the Federal Reserve Board, the Federal Reserve banks and the Secretary of the Treasury. If the financial experts should succeed, the Democratic majority which initiated this measure would claim the credit. If they should fail, they would be censured for not carrying out the orders of Congress. The Goldsborough bill is a cheap political move that might bring forth disastrous results.

It is a well-known fact that the Federal Reserve Board is doing its utmost to expand credit and start prices upward, without any arbitrary orders from Congress. The Goldsborough bill would not give the board any additional authority. It would merely order the board to accomplish what may be impossible. If the board is left to its own discretion, it will use all of its powers to arrest the deflation and restore a reasonable balance between the dollar and commodity prices. But if Congress should issue a definite order to raise prices to the 1926 level and keep them there, the public would be thrown into a state of confusion, the board would be hampered in adjusting its policy to changing conditions and the entire credit expansion program might turn out to be a fiasco. In that event the country would experience a fresh wave of deflation as a direct result of this congressional blunder.

At present it seems improbable that this bill can pass the Senate, and if it should, it would probably encounter a veto at the White House. Nevertheless, it contains a note of warning to financial institutions throughout the country. If banks do not cooperate with the Federal Reserve system in making the credit expansion program a success, the demand for this or even more radical legislation will gain strength. A positive movement toward credit expansion and higher prices would certainly land the Goldsborough bill in a pigeon hole. But if the reign of fear continues to dry up the sources of credit, it will be impossible to prevent the enactment of drastic legislation to stop the concentration of wealth into money.

ROOSEVELT FOREST.

President Hoover has proclaimed the creation of Roosevelt National Forest in Colorado. This does not imply the acquisition of new land or the expenditure of more money. It represents merely a change in name. The territory formerly was known simply by the title of its location. The President's action is a gracious tribute to his celebrated predecessor, one of the greatest conservationists of modern times.

The Roosevelt Forest extends from near Denver to the Wyoming State line in central Colorado. Its area is 1,101,958 acres, and it ranks among the largest of Federal forests. It was made a national holding in 1905. Western yellow pine, Engelmann spruce, Douglas fir, aspen and lodgepole pine constitute the predominant forest growths, and the park is a sanctuary for elk, mountain sheep, bear, beaver and other wild life. The Arapahoe glacier is within the boundaries—the largest ice formation in the State.

One of the debts which the United States owes to the memory of Theodore Roosevelt is that deriving from his concern for and his preservation of the natural resources of the country. He was the outstanding conservationist of a period notorious for its prodigal waste of natural treasure. When destiny gave him the opportunity to guard the public domain he acted in the forthright manner for which he was famous. His example has been followed by all his successors in the presidency. Now his name has been definitely attached to one of the territories he saved. This is an honor where honor is richly due.

SHAKESPEARE'S LONDON

in "London Life of Yesterday."

Perhaps in no time in the history of London did the city present so attractive, so picturesque, so fascinating an aspect as in the age of Shakespeare. It still retained the quaint charm of Chaucer's time, but the vitalizing influence of the Renascence had intensified its beauty, according it a larger and deeper life.

Certainly she was pleasing enough to the eye both of the artist and the man of business. The latter saw in her black-fronted taverns, places where he could hire seamen for adventuring on the Spanish Main, his eye was taken with the big shops of King street; and he coveted, mayhap, one of the spacious mansions with comfortable gardens which looked into the water south of the Strand. The artist would turn instinctively to the ancient walls, that flung their gray protecting arms around the city, and his gaze would roam over the undulating country flecked with quaint windmills to the north. * * *

The Londoner of today would rub his eyes with surprise if suddenly placed in the midst of his familiar haunts. Piccadilly, a pretty country road, lush with flowers; Charing, a quiet hamlet; the Strand, with its picturesque houses and leisurely gardens; Southwark, a village with its old Tabard Inn and rustic surroundings. Suburban London had reached Whitechapel.

"Both sides of the street," said the chronicler, Stow—"bepestered with cottages and alleys, even up to Whitechapel Church, and almost half a mile beyond it into the common fields; all which ought to be open and free for all men." From Temple Bar to Westminster the way was gorgeous with palaces and stately mansions. Westminster, of course, was a city in itself, with its palace, its great hall, its almonery, its noble abbey. But the traveler who struck up northward would find himself in open country where now curves Shaftesbury avenue. And St. Pancras and Kings Cross were well out of earshot of London: quiet, secluded and rural.

When to all this we add the Thames, gay with silken-covered flitboats, bearing chattering crowds of gallants and ladies—the Thames, with its swans and its salmon and its bright clear waters, it is not hard to realize how picturesque was Shakespeare's London.

HOMEMAKERS.

A shelter for the children and a place for them to play,
A red geranium or two to keep the corners gay;
A little patch of grass to trim, a pair of maple trees,
A path that leads up to the door, and
home is made of these.

Some windows for the sun to find, and curtains white and neat,
and just across the street;
A kettle singing on the stove, a couch
that's built for ease,
A dog that wags his tail at you and
home is made of these.

The smell of cookies baking or of onions in the stew,
The youngsters racing in and out, as children have to do;
Their footprints on the carpet left where every caller sees,
The simple prayers they say at night, and home is made of these.

High dreams of future greatness when the little ones are grown,
More thought about their welfare than is given to your own.
Long nights of anxious battling 'gainst

Then times of song and laughter—

It Is Time to Butcher the Ox if the Family Is Starving.

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

ANY virtue may become a vice and any blessing a curse if carried to extremes.

Machinery, for example, has been a great blessing to mankind; but the continued development of labor-saving devices eventually will pauperize nine-tenths of the population.

Does that seem an exaggeration? Then imagine a world in which all labor is done by machinery. What will become of the millions who once had jobs to earn their bread? And when these jobless millions have no income, who will buy the things made by machinery?

Machinery is a blessing only so long as it lightens the labor of men, increases the wealth of the whole people and enables the ordinary man to enjoy greater comforts and greater security.

The reaper was a blessing. While reaping depended on hand tools, the world remained on the verge of famine. Invention of harvesting machinery lightened man's labor and made food abundant. In this instance, machinery was an unmixed blessing.

The invention of other machines caused temporary hardship, but in almost every instance the ultimate effect was good. If skilled workmen were deprived of their jobs, they soon found employment of another kind. The machines created more wealth, increased demand for commodities and service, and thus provided new and better ways to earn a living.

The internal combustion engine and the automobile, for instance, took jobs from harness and buggy makers and countless hand workers, but added immeasurably to the wealth of the Nation and provided countless new jobs.

But the world nears the saturation point. Machines now produce more than people can buy. Millions are idle, unable to consume because they have no income, and the machines are idle too while awaiting a demand for their products.

What will be done? What can be done, except to scrap the machines that make jobless paupers of former consumers?

One small state in Europe has solved the problem by outlawing farm machinery.

Does that seem a step backward? Not if it increases wealth and happiness.

The goal of mankind is not the perfect machine but the perfect life.

There must be work for all and abundance for all, and "progress" must be checked when it achieves efficiency at the cost of life and happiness.

Gambling vs. Industry.

Topeka Capital.

The country has witnessed the spectacle of many business executives neglecting their jobs to play the market, sometimes in the securities of their own companies. Mr. Brush and Mr. Rockefeller and some other traders who have testified are directors of dozens and even scores of corporations whose securities are listed on the stock exchange. Even if they had compunctions against attempting to rig the market on securities of their own companies, the effect of their gambling operations must extend to the securities of their own companies. Mr. Whitney's case was weakened by the comparison he drew between the short sale, or selling something not the property of the seller, and the practice of the building contractor of bidding on a contract when he did not yet possess the materials to build with. When resort must be had to such obvious sophistries, there is something wrong with the case of legal gambling institutions.

Not Many Fell.

Louisville Courier-Journal.

Representative LaGuardia's exposure is not surprising. It was to be expected that the cost of promoting a bull movement in a particular stock would include the prices of any financial writer susceptible to the temptation. Considering how many there are, the few whose canceled checks the New York congressman produced, appear as rare exceptions to the rule of fidelity.

Maybe.

Topeka Capital.

When the Senate committee concludes its inquisition into the New York stock market it should sum up and if possible balance and give the net results of the evils and good in stock markets. If the evils and costs outweigh the benefits, something might be "done about it." If nothing but Government operation of these public markets would save the good and avoid the evils, the country would accept the verdict.

A Smith Legend.

Topeka Capital.

One of the insubstantial beliefs that is obtaining something of the force of a tradition receives timely puncturing by the Indianapolis News. That is the oft-repeated claim that Al Smith broke all Democratic records with his popular vote of 15,076,143 in 1928. It was a large vote. Smith carried fewer States and received fewer electoral votes than most Democratic candidates; in fact, was beaten worse in the electoral college than any Democratic nominee, yet received 41 per cent of the popular vote. If cities did all the voting it would go hard with anybody who contended with Al Smith.

Nevertheless, the Indianapolis paper goes into the statistics of presidential elections and finds that William J. Bryan in 1896 had 47 per cent of the popular vote, 46 per cent in 1900 and 43 per cent in 1908, in every case a greater percentage than Smith in 1928.

Or Personal Budgets.

While it may muddle through with a budget, one wouldn't trust Congress to balance anything complicated, like nose on a knife.

THE ARMS PROBLEM

By THOMAS H. HEALY, in the National Republic.

We have been such consistent advocates of disarmament by practical example that today many competent and thoughtful authorities are convinced that our national defense is considerably below even the minimum danger line so that we would be in a very precarious situation in case of a major conflict.

* * * *

As much as we are a lover of world peace and in favor of the promotion of the disarmament program, we can imagine no more inopportune moment than the present to hold an international conference on disarmament. We are inclined to believe that the conference rather than decreasing armaments may have the unfortunate tendency to increase them. With all the good will in the world, we do not see how the United States is going to solve this problem.

While the Far Eastern situation is an important factor in the question of armaments, the principal crux of the problem is in Europe. The prime difficulty is not a moral one, as many Americans are prone to think, but rather political. The principal difficulty in the European situation today is that approximately half of Europe wishes a scrupulous observance of the World War treaties, while the other half insists that they be drastically modified. The dilemma thus presented to the United States seems almost hopeless of solution. If we throw our weight in favor of the scrupulous observance of these treaties (and that is where an effective observance of the Kellogg pact and the covenant of the league might lead us), the German group will blame us for perpetuating what they consider to be a nefarious condition and for keeping them in a permanent state of intolerable servitude.

If we throw our weight in favor of modifying drastically these treaties (which does not seem to be feasible at this time under the Kellogg pact and the covenant of the league and which probably can be done only by armed force), the French group might logically say that we are not only illegally depriving them of their rights but that we are undermining international morality by violating sacred treaty obligations.

We believe that the best thing that the American people today can do is to get down to "brass tacks" and face the real facts, no matter how disagreeable they may be. There is reason for believing that a large proportion of the American advocates of peace and disarmament, starting with fundamentally sound ideals, have been so carried away with an enthusiasm, amounting almost to religious fanaticism, that they are overlooking the fundamental facts of the world's political and economic situation today and instead of serving the enlightened interest of the United States there are many indications that they are not only endangering the United States but actually retarding the cause of world peace. An excellent illustration of this is the proposed economic boycott of Japan just offered by a large group of American leaders as a "peace" move, whereas many of our most competent authorities on international affairs are convinced that such a boycott would almost inevitably produce war. Our various attempts to promote the ideals of world peace and disarmament, while apparently ignoring practical realities, have served largely to increase the already dangerous friction.

Instead of trying to save the world (which seems to be an almost hopeless and thankless job), we have a huge task on our hands to save the United States, and in this case there is no doubt whatsoever as to a positive mandate.

* * * *

To sum up matters, it would seem, first, that world conditions preclude any substantial progress in disarmament at the present time; second, that it would be fatal for the United States to proceed with a drastic disarmament program while the other major nations refuse to follow suit, and, third, that we should give careful consideration to the question of the present adequacy of our own national defenses.

Useless Parade.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

It is impossible to see what could be accomplished by such a beer parade as the mayor of New York City proposes for May 14.

The St. Louis Board of Aldermen favors such a parade in St. Louis, though there can be no such thing as legal beer as long as the eighteenth amendment is in the Constitution. It is to deceive the people to pretend that it can be restored to them until the whole prohibition problem is solved. For Congress to authorize it would be to violate the spirit of the eighteenth amendment and presume upon the good faith of the United States Supreme Court.

13 HORSES ENTERED IN GOLD CUP EVENT

Feature Race at Warrenton to Be Run Late Saturday Over Famous Course.

Special to The Washington Post.

Warrenton, Va., May 3.—Thirteen horses are entered for the Virginia Gold Cup race, the eleventh annual running, for Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The race is over 4 miles, a timber course, with stiff fences that will not give, and will be run over the Elway Hall Estate. The gold cup now in competition has to be won three times by the same owner, but not necessarily by the same horse or in consecutive years. No single owner has over one leg on the cup.

The entries are: Sea Soldier, Milk Creek Stables, owner, Lee Wilson, rider; Grenadier Guard, Mrs. T. H. Somerville, owner, Noel Laing, rider; Mob Law, Mrs. Paul Abbott, owner, Richard Wallach, jr., rider; Bulgold, R. R. Bishop, owner, R. O. Duffy, rider; Melita II, Flying Horse Farm, owner, Jack Skinner, rider; Lighthampson, Flying Horse Farm, owner, William Almy, jr., rider; Soissons, Flying Horse Farm, owner, Jack Skinner, rider; Ostend, Mrs. Frank M. Gould, owner, William B. Street, rider; Barleycorn, Mrs. T. W. Durant, owner; McCarty Moore, Mrs. T. W. Durant, owner; Pantheist, T. W. Durant, owner; Silvery Jim, Duncan E. Read, owner, to be ridden by owner. The owner of the winner is to receive, in addition to a leg on the gold cup, a silver cup worth $300.

Other Feature Event.

The Warrenton Hunt Cup race, to be run at 12 o'clock over a flagged 3½-mile course over Clovelly. The estate of Robert C. Winmill has eight entries, as follows: Lewis Rutherford's Halo, ridden by owner; Mrs. Joseph Wilshire's Sandown, ridden by Thornton Greene; Mrs Paul Abbott's Mob Law, ridden by Richard Wallach, jr.; Mrs. Frank Gould's Ostend; Frank Gould's Lee Cooper; Mrs. T. W. Durant's McCarty Moore; Mrs. T. W. Durant's Fugitive, and Mrs. T. W. Durant's Faro.

At 12:30 o'clock the North Wales Cup will be run over a brush course of 2½ miles over the R. C. Winmill farm.

Sixteen entries have been received by Chaffraix Lelong, secretary of the Virginia Gold Cup Association for this race. They are: Wreckage, owned by Tontaine Maury Thraves, Thomas A. Watson, rider; How Divine, owned by Lewis Rutherford Stuyvesant, ridden by owner; Palm Off, owned by Mrs. T. H. Somerville and ridden by Noel Laing; Imp Whiskey, owned by Thomas B. Gay; Whison owned by David E. Smith and ridden by Robert Roby; William Kennett, owned by William Almy, jr., and ridden by owner; Shingle, owned by Mrs. Mary Stevens Baird and ridden by Thornton Greene; Aunt Hoper, owned by Better Dixie Stables and ridden by J. T. Carpenter.

Other Entries in Race.

Arundel, owned by Mrs. T. W. Durant; Drapeau, owned by Mrs. T. W. Durant; Fugitive, owned by Mrs. T. W. Durant; Polynal, owned by Mrs. James Hamilton and ridden by A. R. Hamilton, jr.; Fordham, owned by James Hamilton and ridden by owner; Blockhead II, owned by Jack Skinner and ridden by owner; Slaughtan Boy, owned by Walter Bowes and ridden by Charles Castleman; George Jessoll, owned by F. W. Bennett and ridden by Gordon Weeks.

Following the three races, the Virginia Gold Cup being the last, two dances will be held Saturday night. One dance will be at North Wales Club. The other will be a dance given at the Carter residence, in Warrenton, by a committee consisting of Chaffraix Lelong, Jerry Clarke and Ian S. Montgomery. This dance will commence at 10:30 and the music will be furnished by Jack Ralston and his Club Rendezvous Band of five pieces.

This dance is usually largely attended. Tables will be placed on the lawn around the spacious old residence. The dance is a subscription affair, on invitation. Other entertainments will feature the weekend, both Friday and Saturday night, including a number of dinners and luncheons.

Smith Asks Party To Repay Raskob

Denies Fund Will Be Used to Promote Candidacy of Any Individual.

New York, May 3 (A.P.).—Former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, asserting "no one man should be permitted to finance the party," urged the National Democratic organization in an address tonight to repay the $320,000 debt it owes John J. Raskob, national chairman.

Every Democrat should contribute toward wiping out the deficit, Smith said. He emphasized the desirability of obtaining as many small contributions as possible.

Reports that the campaign fund would be used to promote the candidacy of some individual were denounced by the former governor as "cruel, mean and wicked."

Smith, who spoke before the women's division of the Democratic Victory Campaign, criticized the party for lack of national organization. He declared this defect was particularly in evidence when he ran for President in 1928.

Smith Backers Claim 5 Canal Zone Delegates

New York, May 3 (A.P.).—Supporters of Alfred E. Smith for the Democratic presidential nomination claimed today at least five of the six Panama Canal Zone votes in next month's national convention.

The claim was made on the basis of a letter received by the former governor from Louis Townsley, Democratic national committeeman in the Canal Zone.

TARIFFS ON FILMS REDUCED BY BRAZIL

Decree of President Vargas Gives Relief to Motion-Picture Industry.

Rio de Janeiro, May 3 (A.P.).—Aid for the national film industry and owners of movie houses, as well as to Hollywood producers and sellers, has been given in a decree just issued by President Getulio Vargas which cuts customs duties to a minimum.

Under a previous decree several weeks ago, imposing heavy duties, the movie men here declared that half or more of the theaters throughout Brazil would have to close as they would be unable to pay the high cost of customs.

Under the present decree the tax educational films has been reduced by 90 per cent and on ordinary films by 60 per cent, producers say. A board of censorship is created consisting of five members and this board will do the censoring, for all Brazil, films once passing them being subject to no further official scanning. A small charge per foot is made for the censoring, money from which goes into the school funds.

The minister of education and public health has the duty of declaring how much educational film shall be shown at every performance.

GARNER LEADS CALIFORNIA

nation in Alabama, while Senator Peter Norbeck (Republican), South Dakota, led his nearest opponent by more than 2 to 1.

Race in California.

San Francisco, May 3 (A.P.).—Alfred E. Smith and Franklin D. Roosevelt were running neck and neck in the first complete returns from scattered precincts in today's California Democratic presidential primary while John N. Garner piled up a big lead in Los Angeles County.

Returns from 141 complete precincts scattered over 33 counties gave Roosevelt 2,457, Garner 2,172, Smith 2,401. There are 10,271 precincts in the State.

Incomplete returns from 947 precincts, all but 47 of them in Los Angeles County, gave Roosevelt 16,258, Garner 31,101, Smith 15,454.

The uncontested Republican delegation pledged to President Hoover received 7,362 votes in 141 complete precincts, and 75,671 in 947 incomplete precincts, 900 of which were in Los Angeles County.

McAdoo Aids Garner.

These returns bore out predictions that the Texan would run strong in the heavily populated districts of Los Angeles County, where he was aided by the active support of William G. McAdoo, former Secretary of the Treasury, and by the strong opposition to the State oil control referendum, which was losing and which was opposed by McAdoo.

It had been expected that Smith would poll his strongest vote in the two large cities of the State, and that Roosevelt would lead out-State. The complete returns, from scattered precincts in 33 of the State's 58 counties, placed Roosevelt in the lead, but he was closely pressed by Smith.

Complete returns from 164 precincts and incomplete figures from 1,147 precincts indicated the Sharkey oil control referendum measure, which would have set up a commission to control petroleum production, would be badly beaten.

The figures were: For the measure, 39,913; against, 143,911.

Returns from 947 incomplete precincts, mostly in Los Angeles, on the referendum preventing the leasing of State tide lands for oil drilling, were: Yes, 105,190; no, 45,317.

Roosevelt Leads Alabama.

Montgomery, Ala., May 3 (A.P.).—Delegates-at-large pledged to vote for Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt for the Democratic nomination for President at the national convention piled up nearly a 3-to-1 lead tonight as returns from today's primary trickled in.

A. E. Carmichael, of Tuscumbia, leading the Roosevelt ticket, had 880 votes in 22 of the State's 2,126 ballot boxes, while Hugh Mallory, of Selma, high candidate on the "uninstructed" slate, polled only 332.

Senator Hugo L. Black stepped out in front in the five-man race for nomination to the United States Senate. With 103 boxes counted Black had 2,063 votes; former Gov. Thomas E. Kilby, of Anniston, was runner-up with 1,447; J. Morgan Burns, of Selma, prohibition repeal candidate, 383; Charlie C. McCall, of Montgomery, referendum and "home control" advocate, 248, and Henry L. Anderton, of Birmingham, dry, 164.

Black has been regarded as a dry and was designated as such by the Antisaloon League, while Kilby, who as governor, signed many of the State's dry laws, has advocated a referendum on prohibition.

Assured of Eight Votes.

While the Roosevelt delegates in the State-at-large race, commanding four of the State's 24 votes, piled up a lead, in the districts the New York Governor's supporters also pulled to the front.

Roosevelt is assured of eight of the district votes. In the Sixth the only two candidates are committed to him and in the Fourth all three are definitely supporters of the New Yorker. In addition to the Second, Third, Fifth and Eighth only one candidate for delegate in each was against the New Yorker or considered as doubtful by his managers, leaving at least one sure delegate from each district.

In the Fourth District congressional race, with 27 of the 200 boxes in the district reported, Hunt Frazier, of Selma had 365 votes and Representative Lamar Jeffers, of Anniston, 339.

In the Fifth District 14 of 295 boxes gave Representative Miles B. Allgood 219; Burns Parker, of Cleburne, 93; Representative LaFayette L. Patterson, 93, and W. M. Rayburn, of Gadsden, 68.

Green Ahead in Dakota.

Sioux Falls, S. Dak., May 3 (A.P.).—Gov. Warren Green apparently was certain of the Republican renomination as his lead over former Gov. Carl Gunderson continued to increase with additional returns from today's primary election.

Returns from 598 of the State's 1950 precincts gave: Green, 28,579 votes; Gunderson, 16,167. Tom Ayres, the third candidate, was trailing badly with 3,251 votes.

Senator Peter Norbeck was running away with the Republican senatorial contest. Returns from 586 precincts gave him 34,575 votes to Harry Brownell's 14,553. Charles Hartsough received only 2,163 votes.

The fight in the Democratic ranks for the gubernatorial nomination continued close, with L. E. Corey holding a slight edge. Corey had a total of 5,704 votes in 325 precincts to Tom Berry's 5,024.

U. S. G. Cherry continued to lead Lewis W. Bicknell by a few hundred for the Democratic senatorial nomination. Mark Sheafe, jr., the third candidate, was being outdistanced. Cherry received 3,563 votes in 300 precincts; Bicknell 3,109 and Sheafe 1,665.

Delegates favorable to President Hoover's candidacy continued to hold a lead over the "progressive," or avowedly anti-Hoover slate, on the Republican ticket.

With 248 precincts reporting the regular or Hoover delegates had 5,824 votes against 4,184 for the "progressive" slate. The count in this contest was proceeding slowly.

The Democratic delegation, with ten votes in the Chicago convention, was assured Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, there being no contest involving them today.

Will R. Wood Leads.

Indianapolis, May 3 (A.P.).—Indiana voters, many of whom expressed themselves indirectly on the prohibition question in today's primary election by the support they gave wet or dry candidates, tonight awaited tabulation of their votes. Local contests slowed the count, however.

Incumbent United States representatives in the Fourth, Sixth, Eleventh and Twelfth Districts who voted against the Beck-Linthicum resolution for resubmission of the eighteenth amendment, were opposed by strong candidates of wet beliefs.

The incumbents who watched the count of the votes are David Hogg, Republican, Fourth District; Fred Purnell, Republican, Sixth; Dr. William H. Larrabee, Democrat, Seventh, and Louis Ludlow, Twelfth.

For the first time in many years Democratic and Republican voters had no opportunity to name their choices for United States senator, governor or for President. The 1931 Legislature put those contests before State conventions, which will meet in June.

Will R. Wood, Republican, who for many years has been on important committees in the Congress, was opposed for renomination by Claude S. Steele, a former State senator, in the Second District. Wood appeared certain of renomination on the face of early returns. The vote in most parts of the State was heavy, despite rainy weather, with the Democratic voters outnumbering those of Republican belief.

Democrats Show Gains In Oregon Registration

Salem, Oreg., May 3 (A.P.).—A gain in Democratic registration in Oregon for the May and November elections, and a loss in Republican strength, was announced today by the secretary of state.

The Democrats have registered 121,833, an increase of 13,191 over two years ago. The Republicans registered 293,774, a decrease of 6,347. The registration for the May 20 primary in all parties is 425,162. Prohibition, Progressive and Socialist parties experienced a loss of membership. Two years ago 253,779 votes were cast out of a registration of 420,127.

Hoover Increases Lead Over France

President Polls 26,619 Votes to 16,920 for Maryland Foe.

Baltimore, May 3 (A.P.).—President Hoover made a slight increase in his lead over former Senator Joseph I. France today as all but a dozen of the State's voting places reported their unofficial totals from yesterday's primary. The President, on the face of the returns, polled 26,619 votes, to 16,290 for France.

State Senator Wallace Williams was assured of the Republican senatorial nomination over Linwood L. Clark on the county unit system, although his opponent gained the popular vote, 23,883 to 16,602. Williams carried enough counties to get the majority of the State convention delegates.

Representative Stephen W. Gambrill and Representative William P. Cole, Democrats, were renominated in the Fifth and Second districts by overwhelming majorities.

Mayor of Los Angeles Leading in Recall Vote

Los Angeles, May 3 (A.P.).—Mayor John C. Porter was leading in the fight against his recall tonight on the face of incomplete returns from 448 scattered precincts in the city, the vote being for recall 32,026; against recall, 44,805.

New Weather Device Bared At Meteorologists' Session

Bureau Official Explains Forecasting of Conditions Through Use of Latest Scientific Indicator; Gradient Lines Are Discussed.

Weather conditions throughout the country can be predicted by a new indicator described yesterday by J. B. Kincer, chief of the agricultural meteorology division of the Weather Bureau, before members of the American Meteorological Society.

Pointing out that the analysis of temperature records for the East and Central sections of the United States during the last twenty years shows that variation periods are closely related to the Savannah-Bismark gradient, Mr. Kincer declared that when the barometic pressure at Savannah, Ga., is higher than that at Bismark, S. Dak., the majority of the country can expect warm weather. The greater difference in pressure, he said, the warmer the weather.

Mr. Kincer explained that a gradient line between any point in the Southeast and the Northwest would serve as well as that between Savannah and Bismark.

It was pointed out that changes in the pressure gradient are reflected over the country very rapidly. The relationship between the pressure gradient and wind velocities also was described by Mr. Kincer.

T. E. Reed, of the Weather Bureau's Boston office, presented a study of weather conditions involved in forest fires which sweep New England's vast forest range. Humidity changes, he said, are a great factor in starting the fires.

Other speakers included W. R. Gregg, who discussed aviation weather forecasts, and L. P. Harrison, who explained the mechanism of storm operating in the upper atmosphere.

MONEY MARKETS NERVOUS BECAUSE OF INFLATION BILL

tive reduction of governmental expenses will be long delayed, if indeed, it ever is realized. And this, in the face of the European alarms over the inflation proposals in the House, kept prices in their headlong dive to new low records for the depression.

Almost without exception the day's market summaries dwelt at length upon hesitancy and uncertainty in business sentiment which centers upon the inability of Congress to give definite direction to affairs by clarification of the budget question.

Heavy Selling of Dollar.

Government officials here and the principal international banking houses in New York were brought up suddenly yesterday morning by the heavy selling of the American dollar in Europe. Semiofficial assurances that no serious thought had been given the inflation measure in the Senate failed to check the pressure, and when the European markets closed the selling was carried over to the New York money market.

Although the decline of the dollar was world-wide its losses in relation to European gold standards were particularly striking. Belgian francs and Holland guilders went to new high prices, and the movement of large balances from New York to London was reported before noon.

At this point the Bank of England stepped in to soften the pressure against the dollar by selling sterling bills freely as an offset. But even this action failed to stem the advance of Europe's exchanges until both Belgium's and Holland's currencies had passed the gold export point.

General Effect Abroad.

European reactions to the proposed inflation were on hand in New York yesterday for the opening of the markets. Vienna newspapers chronicled the House vote on the Goldsborough bill as "inflation in the United States!" and in Prague, the National Bank published a formal public announcement to the effect that the proposed new policy in America would in nowise affect the Czechoslovak gold standard.

In Berlin some newspapers heralded the Goldsborough bill and a portent of an era of general currency inflation, but the financial community took a more sober view and appeared unwilling to believe that the House action truly reflected American national sentiment.

Dollar Quotations Down On Heavy Foreign Sales

New York, May 3 (A.P.).—The American dollar lost ground in the world's principal foreign exchange markets today.

Heavy foreign selling sent dollar quotations down and foreign currencies up. French francs advanced 7-16 point to 3.94¾ cents. Sterling cables were quoted at $3.66⅝, up ⅜ cent. Dutch guilders advanced 5 points to 40.57 cents. Swiss francs ran up 4 points to 19.47 cents. The rally of French francs and sterling reversed a previous trend which had been toward lower levels.

SOCIETY

President and Mrs. Hoover and Several Out-of-Town Guests at Dinner of Secretary and Mrs. Adams.

THE PRESIDENT AND MRS. HOOVER were the guests in whose honor the Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Charles Francis Adams entertained at dinner last evening. The other guests were Chief Justice and Mrs. Charles Evans Hughes, Representative Ruth Baker Pratt, Mrs. Nathaniel Thayer, of Boston; Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Morgan, of New York; Miss Katharine Parker, of Boston; Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Hilles, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Loring Young and Mrs. Louis A. Frothingham, of Boston; Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan, of New York; Mr. Sinclair Weeks and Mr. Louis K. Liggett, both of Boston, and Mr. Eliot Wadsworth.

Mrs. Hoover was present yesterday morning at the formal opening of Dumbarton House, known formerly as Bellevue, the new headquarters of Colonial Dames. She also attended the sale of garments made by Washington's unemployed held at the rooms of the Junior League, and went to the meeting of the Girl Scouts of the District of Columbia at their headquarters, 1825 M street northwest. The First Lady, to complete a strenuous morning, received the members of the American Woman's Legion.

Mrs. Hoover will be guest of honor at the annual luncheon to be given by the District of Columbia Federation of Women's Clubs, Thursday, June 2, at the Mayflower Hotel.

Mrs. Edward Everett Gann will return today from Lancaster, Pa., where she went yesterday to deliver an address.

Mrs. Robert Patterson Lamont, wife of the Secretary of Commerce, is the guest in whose honor Mrs. Silas Strawn, wife of the president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, will entertain at luncheon today at the Shoreham. Her guests will include several of the Colonial Dames who are here from Chicago, and a number of Washington friends.

Senator and Mrs. Keyes Entertain Twenty at Dinner.

The Italian Ambassador and Donna Antonietta de Martino, and the German Ambassador and Frau von Prittwitz und Gaffron were the ranking guests at dinner of Senator and Mrs. Henry W. Keyes last evening in their Georgetown home, when they had a company of twenty. This is the first party they have given for many months because of the illness of Mrs. Keyes, who is now recuperating.

The Italian Ambassador and Nobil Donna Antonietta de Martino will be hosts to the Italy-America Society at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, May 14, at the embassy. This will be the last gathering this season of the members of the society that maintains headquarters at the Mayflower.

"The Message of Goethe" will be the subject of an address to be given at the meeting by Prof. Giuseppe Antonio Borgese, eminent Italian author and literary critic, of the University of Milan, who occupied the chair of Italian culture at the University of California during the past winter session.

Early in his career, Prof. Borgese won honors by publishing books and articles of literary history and criticism but since his early youth has been devoted to poetry. From 1910 to 1917 he held the chair of German literature at the University of Rome, from which he went to the University of Milan, where he holds the chair of esthetics.

The French Ambassador, M. Paul Claudel, will motor today to Winchester, Va., to attend the crowning of the Queen of the Apple Blossom Fete. The ambassador will be accompanied by his daughter, Mlle. Reine Claudel, and the Attache of the Embassy, M. Claude-Achille Clarac.

Mme. Claudel had as her guests for tea yesterday afternoon M. Michael Clemenceau, son of the late premier of France, and Mme. Clemenceau, who are passing a few days at the Mayflower en route to Mme. Clemenceau's former home in Los Angeles.

The Belgian Ambassador and Mme. May entertained at dinner last evening for Senator Maurice Lippens and Mme. Lippens, of Brussels, who will leave Washington today for a tour of the United States.

The Brazilian Ambassador and Mme. de Lima e Silva will entertain at dinner this evening in the embassy.

Chilean Ambassador On Way to Mexico City.

The Chilean Ambassador, Senor Don Miguel Cruchaga Tocornal, accompanied by Mr. Ben Cohen, left Washington last evening for Mexico City, where they will be for about a month.

Mrs. Richard S. Aldrich, wife of Representative Aldrich, and her daughter, Miss Dora White, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. I. Goddard in Providence, R. I., for a few days.

Representative J. Banks Kurtz and his daughter, Miss Dorothy F. Kurtz, of Altoona, Pa., have taken an apartment at the Shoreham.

Commander Zenshiro Hoshina, Assistant Naval Attache of the Japanese Embassy, entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Carlton. The company numbered five.

Senorita Maria Sacasa, daughter of the former Nicaraguan Minister and Senora de Sacasa, and Senorita Maria Cristina Reyes Spindola, sister-in-law of the Mexican Ambassador, are the guests of Miss Helen Doherty at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York. They will motor to Warrenton, Va., tomorrow and will attend the Gold Cup race on Saturday.

Col. and Mrs. Fielder Montgomery Magruder Beall entertained at dinner last evening for their granddaughter, Miss Grace Beall Everett, daughter of Lieut. Col. and Mrs. George Thomas Everett, whose marriage to Lieut. William Arthur Davis, jr., U. S. A., son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Davis, of Montclair, N. J., will take place this afternoon at 5 o'clock. The guests at the dinner included the bride and bridegroom elect, their parents, members of the wedding party, and also Mrs. eall Frost, of San Antonio, Tex.; Mrs. Orie Clarke and Mrs. A. L. Stout, of Philadelphia.

Col. and Mrs. Walter C. Short have as their guest Miss Jane Harden, of Oklahoma City.

Antiquities Group Plans Tour of Historic Places.

A special meeting of the Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities was held at the Willard Hotel on Monday at 2:30 o'clock. At this meeting, it was decided that the pilgrimage which the association plans each year for the benefit of its interesting work will be held this year on Tuesday, May 17. Buses will leave the south entrance of the Treasury Building at 9 a. m. Information and reservations may be obtained from Mrs. S. McDowell Meek, 3306 Nineteenth street northwest.

Some of the points of historic interest to be visited on this pilgrimage will be Rippon Lodge, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Ellis in Virginia; Aquia Church with its three pulpits; the "Sentry Box" in Fredericksburg, opposite Ferry Farm, George Washington's boyhood home, where the cherry tree incident is supposed to have taken place; Dr. Mercer's Pharmacy, recently completely restored; the Mary Washington House, with its interesting interior, also newly restored, and the home of Betty Washington Lewis, Kenmore. Other interesting spots will be visited including "Federal Hill," an estate now owned by Mr. Keim, near Fredericksburg.

Mrs. Copley Amory, Mrs. Alan Chenery, Mrs. Whitman Cross, Mrs. Arthur Gilbert, Mrs. Gilbert Grosvenor, Mrs. Ridley McLean, Mrs. A. F. A. King, Miss Helen Nicolay, Miss Helen Seymour, Miss Florence P. Spofford and Mrs. John B. Kendall have very kindly lent their names as patronesses for the benefit card party for the Washington League for the Hard of Hearing to be given at the Washington Club, Seventeenth and K streets, on Saturday afternoon from 2:30 to 5:30 o'clock. For those who do not play cards, there will be anagrams and picture puzzles. Tea will be served from 4:30 to 5:30.

The Georgia State Society will have an informal cotton ball on Friday evening, May 13, at Meridian Mansions, 2400 Sixteenth street, at 9 o'clock. This will be the last of the series of dances this season. All Georgians in Washington at that time have been invited to attend.

During intermission there will be an interesting program which consists of Mr. George B. Chapman, of Boston, who, by special permission, will impersonate Sir Harry Lauder; Miss Hazel Lee, Miss Betty Lou Perron, and the Carmody Dancers of the Carmody Studio.

For those not wishing to dance there will be bridge, under the direction of Mrs. S. Gordon Green.

Family Class in Horse Show To Be Feature on Saturday.

The one feature of the afternoon card of events at the Preece Riding Club show scheduled for Saturday, in which youngsters will show, is the family class, always of interest to spectators. Parents will ride with their children, and performance only will count in the judges' decision.

Among those who will show in this class are the Countess Szechenyi and the Countess Cornelia, Mr. Irwin Laughlin and his daughter, Gertrude; the German Ambassador and his small daughter, Marissa; Chester Gwinn and his daughter, Helen; Mrs. F. M. Andrews with her daughter, Janet; Mrs. John Caswell, jr., and her daughter, Peggy; Maj. William Grimes and his daughter, Peggy; Capt. Christopher R. P. Rodgers and his daughter, Virginia; Mrs. William Hill with her daughter, Margaret; Mrs. C. L. Mitchell and her daughter, Annabel; Maj. George Patton with his daughter, Beatrice, and Mrs. Patton with young George.

Mrs. Benjamin R. Holcombe, always a familier figure at the Preece show, will not be present this year, but her small daughter Marsyl is coming down from Newport to ride. Moreover, her own pony is being shipped down for the show. While in town Ittle Miss Stokes will stay with her grandmother, Mrs. Gibson Fahnestock, who has taken a box for both morning and afternoon performances.

A wealth of attractive features will fill the afternoon and evening of Friday, May 20, with enjoyment for those attending the Colonial Fete Champetre at the National Woman's Country Club. The fete was to have been given May 10 but has been postponed until May 20. Enthusiastic committees are arranging the multitude of details necessary for the carrying out of the program which is to provide a continuous round of entertainment.

A prize will be given in the archery contest. Miniature golf can be enjoyed, and a tournament is being arranged by Mrs. Guy V. Henry and Mrs. Brereton.

Silhouettes, which were so dear to past generations, will be cut by Miss Catharine Critcher, and will be particularly fascinating to those who will wear colonial costumes. Fortunes will be told in an atmosphere arranged to heighten the effect of real gypsy lore and will be under the direction of Mrs. James Hamilton Lewis.

Children will be intrigued by the fish pond, the Lady of the Lake and other delightful grab bags in charge of Mrs. Frank W. Mondell and Mrs. Carl Droop. Ponies available for riding are expected to be much in demand.

Choice flowers culled from many of Washington's famous gardens will be sold at the flower booth over which Mme. Lombard and Mrs. W. A. Scully will preside, assisted by a group of debutantes of the past season.

Mr. James Francis Burke, of Pittsburgh, is at the Willard for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Davies entertained at dinner last evening in honor of the president of the United States Chamber of Commerce and Mrs. Silas Strawn. There were sixteen guests.

Mrs. Cloyd Heck Marvin Fetes Columbian Women.

Mrs. Cloyd Heck Marvin, wife of the president of George Washington University, entertained yesterday afternoon at her home, 2439 Tracy place, for the Columbian Women.

The occasion was the annual meeting of the organization which is composed of women associated with the George Washington University.

Mrs. Marvin was assisted by Miss Harriet Garrela, first vice president, and by the other officers.

Mrs. John D. Bellamy, of Wilmington, N. C., accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. J. Walter Williamson, and her granddaughter, Miss Emma Bellamy Williamson, are spending the week at the Carlton. Mrs. Bellamy is the wife of Mr. John D. Bellamy, former member of Congress from North Carolina, and the party is in Washington to attend the opening of Dumbarton House and the George Washington Bicentennial Celebration of the National Society of Colonial Dames.

Mrs. John Hay Whitney, of Llangollen, Upperville, Va., and Mrs. J. Mackenzie Tabb, of Middleburg, Va., are guests at the Hotel Powhatan for several days.

Mrs. Joseph D. Noell is in New York at the Weylin Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Loesch, of Chicago, will arrive in Washington this morning for a few days' visit and will be guests at the Mayflower. While here Mrs. Loesch will attend the meeting of the Colonial Dames.

A tea will be given in honor of the delegates to the convention of the Association for Childhood Education in the clubhouse of the American Association of University Women tomorrow afternoon from 4:30 to 6:30 o'clock with the officers and members of the education committee acting as hostesses. Assisting Dr. Martha MacLear will be Miss Ethel Summy, Miss Harriet Ahlers, Miss Katherine Watkins and Miss Julia Wade Abbott. Mrs. O. L. Veerhoff will head the receiving line, and among those assisting her will be Miss Sibyl Baker, Mrs. Henry G. Doyle, Dr. Jessie M. Ferguson, Miss Rose Lees Hardy, Mrs. John Herrick, Miss Edna B. McNaughton, Mrs. William F. Notz, Mrs. Horace G. Torbert, Miss Mabel B. Turner and Miss Agnes Winn.

Apple Blossom Ball Details Completed.

The final details for the first annual apple blossom ball to be held at the Shoreham on Friday have been completed. The queen, Miss Anne Wyant, with her maid of honor, Miss Mary Stuart Birdsall, and her ten ladies in waiting, will be escorted to her throne at 11 o'clock through a line of 60 of the floor committee, composed of post debs, debs and subdebs and the young cavaliers of Washington. The patronesses will receive the guests at 10 o'clock, when the ball starts. After the queen is seated on her throne, Marian Chace and Lester Shafer will dance the exquisite minuet in G of Beethoven. Reservations are being made through Mrs. Helen Ray Hagner, many of them coming from Virginia and Maryland. The main ballroom will be beautifully decorated with apple trees in blossom and sprays of the same.

The annual Charity Ball will be held at the Mayflower Hotel on Saturday, May 14, at 9 p. m. Already there is a great demand for box reservations. The net proceeds of the ball will be divided between the Associated Charities and the District of Columbia Unemployment Commission.

The Minister from the Irish Free State and Mrs. MacWhite, the French Ambassador and Mme. Claudel are among the boxholders. Others include Senator and Mrs. Warren Austin, Senator and Mrs. Jesse Metcalf, Representative and Mrs. Wigglesworth, Miss Eva Walling, Mrs. Cora Noyes, Mrs. Daniel E. Moses and Miss Dorothea Anderson.

The reception committee will be headed by Mr. Elmer E. Field, executive chairman, assisted by Miss Ruth Paugh, Mr. Laurence Moran, Miss Betty Durr, Mr. James Sullivan, Mr. C. S. Carter and Mrs. Lena Dakin Gibbs. The ball will be preceded by a cabaret floor show with leading artists of stage and radio donating their services for the affair. The New Jersey State Society is the latest organization to sponsor the ball.

The final affair of the Pennsylvania Society will be held at the Willard in the grand ballroom on May 11. As this event marks the twenty-fifth anniversary of the organization of the society an interesting program has been arranged for the meeting. Those in charge of the arrangements are Representative Samuel A. Kendall, president of the society; Mr. Robert Smith, Judge J. Russell Leech and Representative James Wolfenden.

Mrs. William M. Conrad has gone to New York to attend the Charity Society cornival this evening, and of which her daughter, Mrs. Eugene W. Ong, is the executive chairman and Mrs. Edward F. Hutton the honorary chairman.

Mrs. Conrad, who is a member of several of the carnival committees, will return to her apartment in Wardman Park Hotel on Thursday evening.

Convent's Junior Committee Will Discuss Garden Party.

This afternoon at 3 o'clock the junior committee will meet at the Convent of Perpetual Adoration, 1419 V street, to complete arrangements for a garden party to be given on the afternoons of May 23 and 24, weather permitting. A partial list of committee members includes Mlle. Claudel, Miss Debuchi, Countess Cornelia Szchenyi, Miss Dorothy Crosby, Miss Hydee Leitner, Miss Mathilde Boal, Senorita Marie Diez de Madina, Senorita Marie de Sasca, Miss Evelyn Walker, Miss Norah McIntyre, Miss Mary Hunt, Miss Polly Foote, Miss Winifred Crosby, Miss Sally Lightley, Miss Louise Harrison Gwynn, Miss Leslie Wright, Miss Isabel Perry, Miss Mary Louise Johnson, Miss Elenora Hunt, Miss Anna Maria Sherwell, Miss Teresa Saul, Miss Mary Lightley, Miss Marie McIntyre, Miss Helen Walker, and Miss Mary Ellen Carter.

Chaperones for the junior committee are Countess Roncalli di Montorio, Frau Rudolf Leitner, Mme. L. A. H. Peters, Mrs. Colman O'Donovan, Mrs. Merchant Mahoney and Countess Pumasoni-Biondi.

The freshman class of Immaculata Junior College will entertain the sophomore class at luncheon at the Shoreham Hotel today. Miss Anna Mae Ryan, president of the freshman class, will be in charge of arrangements and the guests will be Miss Helen Hile, Miss Elizabeth Cahill, Miss Dorothy Donovan, Miss Anne Egense, Miss Virginia Egense, Miss Anne Russell, all of Washington; Miss Jean Kennedy, of Wellsboro, Pa.; Miss Betty Jane Frankland, of Cincinnati, Ohio; Miss Helen Hess, of Asheville, N. C.; Miss Gertrude Eisenman, of Bradford, Pa.; Miss Mary Jane Whyte, of Kansas City, Mo.; Miss Winifred O'Meara, of Bradford, Pa.; Miss Phyllis Krafft, of Alexandria, Va., and Miss Ruth Morrison, of Binghamton, N. Y.

Mr. William P. Blocker, who is located at Juarez, Mexico, in the consular service, is at the Willard for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Meloy, of New York, motored to Washington and are guests at the Shoreham for a few days on their way South.

Mrs. Thomas R. Hartley, of Philadelphia, is at the Carlton for several days, accompanied by Miss Margaret T. Scully, of Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Henry Hughes Hough, who arrived in New York yesterday on the Olympic, will be at the Weylin for a time before coming on to Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Walcott Smith, Madison, Conn., are at the Dodge for a brief sojourn.

Mrs. Roy A. Young, wife of Gov. Young, of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston, arrived in Washington Monday night and will be at the Mayflower for the remainder of the week.

Mrs. Augustine J. Crane entertained at luncheon and bridge at the Shoreham yesterday, when her guests included Mrs. Edward Crane, Mrs. J. R. Eastwood, Mrs. L. B. Hord and Mrs. J. O. Owens.

Miss Ella Svestad, of Ulefass, Norway, arrived Monday from New York and is at the Dodge for a week's stay. Miss Svestad is manager of the School of Home Economics in Norway and is spending several weeks in this country in connection with her work.

Several Colonial Dames Are Stopping at Carlton.

Miss Annie B. Jennings, of Fairfield, Conn., is at the Carlton for the duration of the meeting of the National Society of the Colonial Dames to be held here today, tomorrow and Friday.

Other members of the society who are stopping at the Carlton during the meeting, include Mrs. James P. Andrews, president, of Hartford, Conn.; Mrs. Holmes Forsyth, of Princeton, N. J.; Mrs. John Lowell and Mrs. Henry Endicott, both of Boston; Mrs. Frederick A. Packard, Mrs. B. Frank Clapp, Mrs. C. Howard Colkett and Mrs. J. M. Kennedy, all of Philadelphia; Mrs. Harold A. Freeman, of St. Davids, Pa.; Mrs. Charles W. Walker, of Devon, Pa.; Mrs. William R. Verner, of Wayne, Pa.; Mrs. W. L. Lyons, of Louisville, Ky., and Mrs. S. Westray Battle, of Asheville, N. C.

Mrs. Dayton H. Mudd and her daughter, Miss Margaret Mudd, of St. Louis, Mo., who have been on a motor trip through the New England States, are guests at the Shoreham for a few days en route to the Kentucky Derby.

Mr. and Mrs. K. B. Warner, of West Hartford, Conn., are at the Carlton for a short stay.

The Governor of Porto Rico, Mr. James R. Beverley, who recently arrived in Washington, is at the Willard for the duration of his visit.

BRAIN TIMBALES SERVED WITH LATTICED POTATOES.

FOR tomorrow our menu is to specify an unusual dish, calves' brains in timbales, with latticed potatoes, which are always attractive, and good "ole Dixie biscuits," from away down yonder in the cornfields! Which should, we're athinkin', be enough by way of temptation to try our menu. But no, we've also for you a mocha surprise cake, which friends who have tried it report as justifying its name exceedingly well. However, here it is, all in proper form for your approval.

THURSDAY'S DINNER.

Brain Timbales
Latticed Potatoes
Buttered Spinach
Dixie Biscuits
Stewed Rhubarb
Mocha Surprise Cake
Coffee

Brain Timbales.

2 sets brains
2 thick slices bread
½ can mushrooms
4 eggs
½ cupful milk
½ teaspoonful salt
Dash of pepper
2 tablespoonfuls nonalcoholic sherry flavoring

Scald and clean brains. Rub through sieve. Soak bread in milk, add salt, pepper, sherry flavoring, mushrooms and eggs, beaten, separately. Steam in mold 1¼ hours.

Sauce.

1 tablespoonful butter
1 tablespoonful flour
1 cupful milk
½ can mushrooms
¼ teaspoonful salt
1 teaspoonful Worcestershire sauce
Dash of pepper

Melt butter, add flour and seasonings. Cook until bubbling, add milk slowly, stirring constantly until thickened. Add mushrooms and Worcestershire sauce.

Dixie Biscuits.

2 cupfuls flour
1 teaspoonful salt
2½ teaspoonfuls baking powder
2 tablespoonfuls shortening
1 egg
1 cupful milk

Mix dry ingredients well, add beaten egg yolk and milk and stiffly beaten white. Roll to ½ inch in thickness, cut with biscuit cutter, spread with butter and bake 1 to 15 minutes in hot oven.

Mocha Surprise Cake.

4 small sponge cakes
1 cupful strong coffee
1 pint vanilla ice cream
½ pint whipped cream

Slice sponge cakes in halves crosswise. Place them in a dish and pour the coffee over them. Let stand fifteen minutes, add the ice cream and whipped cream. Garnish with chopped almonds and serve.

Salads Solve the Problem

Salads offer a delightful solution to the refreshment problem of innumerable occasions, but because they are such a reliable standby it is more difficult to attain distinction. To aid the particular hostess, however, Nancy Carey has prepared a folder giving a number of interesting recipes for unusual salads. The folder is entitled "Salads for Every Occasion," and may be secured by sending your request, accompanied by self-addressed, stamped envelope to Answers to Readers.

Dear Miss Carey: I would like very much to reduce. Have tried again and again, but do not seem able to keep it up. I am 50 years old, 5 feet 3½ inches tall and weigh 222 pounds. My health is good, although I do not get much exercise. I am ashamed of my weight and would so appreciate your advice. It seems just like I want most the things I should not have.

MRS. F. A.

It will not be difficult for you to reduce your weight, Mrs. F. A., for any one or all of a number of reasons. First, because you are well. Secondly, because you frankly admit you do not get much exercise. Thirdly, because you have reached the stage where you are actually ashamed of your proportions, and, lastly, but by no means of unimportance, because you confess you like best the things you should not eat.

Your diet must be arranged, first of all, so that your health will be maintained. No fad or freak diet. Only trouble and despair, as well as loss of faith in all manners of reducing lie that way. Then we must see that you have some regular exercise every day. Begin gradually, so that you will not become overtired or fatigued. Walking is best of all. Increase the distance until you are walking at least 4 miles daily.

Then make up your mind that you are going to reduce your weight, no matter what. Make a study of foods and food values—you will find it very interesting as well as helpful—and watch your calories very carefully for a time at least. After a little you will know instinctively just how much you should eat and will not have to devote so much thought to the mathematical end of it all.

Keep remembering that every pound you lose brings you just that much nearer improved health and well being. And when you have reached your normal weight (145 pounds), as you will if you follow directions, you will find that even though you may then eat them you will not want the things you should not have. You will never want to take a chance on being too fat again.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"TAURUS."

IF May 4 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8:10 a. m. to 10 a. m., from 3:45 p. m. to 5 p. m., and from 10 p. m. to 11:45 p. m. The danger periods are from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m., and from 7 p. m. to 8:40 p. m.

The astrological promises for May 4 are abundant, and the prizes pleasing in nature. Financial and social positions will be strengthened. The postman will be a welcome visitor, as well as the bearer of many a person's fate. A time of preparation for future turnovers.

The child born on this May 4 will have a robust, enterprising nature, and will begin early in life to do things on its own initiative. Although affectionate and fond of home and home people, it will always resent any attempt to tie it to another's apron strings. It will be full of spontaneous smiles and laughter.

Born on May 4, your character is a compound of contradictions and inconsistencies, and you often envy those other people who are made up of a more harmonious blend. Even when outwardly aloof and contained, you are often a seething volcano within, your outward and inner self at war with each other. Your air of superiority is a mask to conceal ever present qualms of inferiority and uncertainty. Your bold front is a clever trick to distract the eyes of the world from your weaknesses. Your weaknesses are sins of the spirit, not of the flesh; the uncontrolled demands of temperament. Your loves, hatreds, sympathies, prejudices, passions and on through the unlimited score of human emotions are all as transitory as your moods.

You do not mean to be disloyal, but you can not help being a contradictory companion. You can take a bit of understanding, but are worthy of the effort. You can generally be depended upon in the big issues of life. That part of you which is artist appears in everything which you do. Your touch is firm, but dainty. You care little about details, but with the finished job pictured in the back of your mind, work toward the end by whatever means comes to you at the moment.

Successful People Born on May 4th.

Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

IRISES ALWAYS DESIRABLE.

EVERY garden should have its full quota of irises. First, because they are cheap; second, because they have an almost uncanny ability to multiply, and third, because they are easy to grow.

There are so many varieties of irises. The bearded varieties are most common. They are known as German or bearded irises and grow from thick root known as a rhizome. Aside from the German irises we have the low-growing, dwarf pumilas, which blossom very early in the spring. The irises listed as intermediate are also bearded kinds.

The Siberian, Japanese and water irises have fibrous roots, like perennials. These are beardless varieties. As a third type we have the bulbous irises, which include Dutch and Spanish sorts. These classes are always a bit confusing to the amateur, but if you are really interested in irises, visit a botanical garden or ask a dealer to show you a flower or root of each class and you will at once understand these characteristics.

The bearded irises will grow in almost any soil, though they prefer a heavy clay loam. While they do not require an especially rich soil it must be well-drained. They also demand a great deal of sun. They can be planted in a shrubbery border, though they do better and look better when planted by themselves. Old-fashioned bearded irises are always well placed when bordering a pathway. The dwarf types are suitable for tucking among the stones of a rock garden. It is best in such cases to plant single rhizomes. Dwarf varieties are more pleasing when so arranged.—

When planting German irises make the hole sufficiently large to spread the roots normally, and cover only two-thirds of the rhizomes; there should always be a small portion left uncovered so that the sun can reach it. Be sure, when setting out this type, to cut back the leaves to within six inches of the roots. They require frequent transplanting. Once every three years they should be lifted and divided. All bearded irises like lime.

The Japanese and Siberian irises should be planted as ordinary perennials. Work in plenty of well-rotted manure, but omit lime as these plants do not take kindly to a limy soil. Both these varieties like damp locations and are well placed when planted about the edge of a pool.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

Trace Oil and Cream Over Lines and Wrinkles to Dim Them.

UGLY lines formed by frowning and emotion can be dimmed by scientific treatment, providing, of course, the expressions and thoughts etching the lines and wrinkles are held in check. Both skin and flesh are plastic and respond to intelligent treatment with gratifying promptness.

Elsie Pierce.

The first step as in every other treatment is thorough cleansing. This done, dip the forefinger in a good muscle or wrinkle oil and trace each line and furrow with it. Trace the fine network under the eyes and at the corner of the eyes, and the vertical line between the eyes on the forehead. Trace the deep lines from nose to chin, the lines under the chin and those which encircle the neck. Then over it all put a generous coat of nourishing cream or skinfood and commence to pat it in vigorously with the fingertips.

Pat In.

Note that I do not say pat on, but in! If the line or furrow is vertical or slanting, start at the lower end and pat and slap it upward, with a slightly lifting pressure. Leave the oil and cream on as long as convenient, overnight if the skin is dry and you are giving yourself this treatment at bedtime. Next, wet a pad of cotton with a good astringent (if the skin is oily) or a skin tonic (if the skin is dry or sensitive). Pat the lines briskly with a whipping motion, until the skin tingles. For the older woman an astringent is preferable, even if the skin is dry or easily irritated. The astringent should be patted directly over the cream.

If you are impatient for rapid progress, in your leisure moments, before you commence to read, sew, write letters or rest, trace the lines with oil and apply the cream over it, letting it soak in while you are otherwise occupied. Then wipe off with astringent.

The fine lines around the eyes should never be treated vigorously or strenuously, just gentle pressing and lifting from bridge of nose out to temple.

The patting is simple and effective because it causes the blood to circulate in the exact area you wish to change and improve. It stimulates each little cell and gland in that area. The cream makes the skin pliable and nourishes it. I know that scientists disagree as to whether or not nourishment can be taken through the skin. "Doctors disagree" is an ancient adage. While they are taking years to actually decide it, take advantage of the delay and pat cream into your skin nonchalantly and hopefully. If the cream and oil do not return to the surface, if the wrinkles and shadows disappear the furrows fill in, the sagginess and droopiness are lifted, that is all you are interested in. Why worry how or when the fatty part of the cream undergoes the chemical reaction necessary before it is or is not actually taken into the blood to nourish the tissues? Try the treatment and see for yourself!

Fifth Avenue Fashions

A blue and white printed linen, because Paris thinks so well of it, is chosen by this smart junior for her new frock. There's a crisp collar, rather sportive in its unusual size. This is of white linen. The pert bow tie is vivid red ribbon to match the leather belt.

If small daughter looks best in a dress hanging free from the yoke line, it is equally smart with the belt omitted.

Besides linen, pique, plain or checked gingham, batiste prints, rayon novelties, tub silks and jersey can be used for this pretty model.

Style No. 2781 is designed for sizes 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. Size 10 requires 2¼ yards of 35-inch material with ¾ yard of 35-inch contrasting.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

A delightful tailleur in brown woolen stripes, with an unusual under blouse of bright red crepe. (Courtesy of Maggy-Rouff, Paris.)

NEW YORK, May 3.—Have you heard about the gray and beige skirted suits of broadcloth, with lighter tone jackets, which are trimmed in either silver or beige fox? They are absolutely the best looking things you ever saw! A strange combination, that, yet they have just hit that truly chic note that is so desirable yet so difficult to really achieve—and their very strangeness of coloring has carried them 'way over the sea of popularity.

* * * *

And my beloved gray! Everywhere it is being seen, in combinations with red, with blue, or yellow, and in monotone. The newest grays are almost grege—that means that they have sufficient beige or rose in them to be worn with beige accessories. And their warm tone takes their coldness away—which was the only reason, I think, that many women were afraid to wear gray.

* * * *

How many times have you wished you had "something like overalls, but more chic" for little sister to wear "after school" instead of letting her wear her nice school dresses and risking the inevitable "mud-pie" grime and the "over-the-fence or in-the-bushes" rips. Well-l-l-l-l, I think I've 'most nearly solved that problem in the romper-play suit—sun suit—combination garment I designed for sister's 9-year-old. And I thought it soo-o-o-o practical, economical and chic that I just had to make a leaflet of it for you, which is yours for a stamped, self-addressed envelope sent to the Dare Department of The Washington Post. But wait—that isn't all this leaflet tells you how to make. There is also a pajama suit, so easy to make and just what the youngsters beg for, and sun suits for the smaller ones.

* * * *

Fashion French.

Echantillon (eh - shon - tee - young) means "sample" or "model." Our word "simple" is spelled the same way in French, but is pronounced "sample." And it means simple, not "echantillon," which means a sample or model.

* * * *

"Which matches which" this spring is the shoe and bag to a bright summer's dress. Red bags and shoes are being eagerly bought by anticipating jeune filles, and I can just see a chic epidemic of them 'gainst summer sands.

And varicolored sandals as well as multicolored ones—yes, there is a difference—with bags to match, made in the most delightful materials—the bags, of course. Ah, cheers for a colorful and gay summer!

* * * *

Exceptions make the rule—so the black shiny straw hat with tiny white flowers high on one side of the crown—and the matching straw bag with white flower lapel just got itself sketched today. Personally, I would have delighted in a white bag with black flowers, of course to be worn with the black hat and white flowers.

* * * *

Maggy Rouff accepts and accentuates the red note in a gay blouse which she fashions for the brown striped woolen tailleur I illustrated today. The tailleur has an odd blouse and gilet effect of the brown, and the jabot of the blouse floats gayly out in a scarf effect over the collar of the jacket.

Au revoir.

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES McDONALD

IS IT LOVE?

DEAR FRANCES McDONALD: I am a girl of 13. I want to find out whether or not this is what you would call love on the part of the boy. I know this boy who is really quite fine and gentlemanly. Whenever I go near him he always gets silly and acts kind of babyish. He shows off to a certain degree and hits me with books and papers and so forth, in fights which he starts. He always addresses me by my nickname, and he seems to become, sometimes, almost too intimate. Is this what you would call love?

"THIRTEEN."

It is not love, as children of your age quite fortunately do not experience the hardship grownups call love. The boy is growing up, however, and has just become conscious of the fact, and of the still more interesting fact that girls are attractive creatures, who are more inclined to linger if some definite attention is paid them.

If you like the boy there is no reason why you should not cultivate his friendship as these school-day attachments are powerful forces in developing our later lives. Do not encourage his present methods of holding your attention; just be sweet and composed and friendly. And presently the boy will walk with you instead of hitting you with books, and soon he will talk and confide, and lay the foundation of what may be a lifelong friendship.

When we were about your age there was a boy. He had very blue eyes. And he carried our books. And we wore his class pin. And life swept us apart. But we came back. And again life came in. And again the tide roared away. And all the things happened that do happen to people when life steps in. Years took us farther and farther. Love came to each—with the world between. Success came to each and experience and wisdom and all else that comes with living. But do you know that still that boy with the blue eyes who is bald now and a Wall street banker and the father of twins is still our idea of what a nice gentlemanly boy should be? And we are glad that to him we will always stand for something different from all the rest of life. It is a wonderful thing to be the first girl in a man's life. A precious and wonderful and priceless experience that as life goes on you will recall and he will recall. It is the corner stone on which the other stones are laid. That is why we have taken all this space to answer the letter of a little girl much too young to feel love, but old enough to insure a fine, strong corner stone in the structure that will be some man's life. He is only a boy. You are only a little girl. But whatever either of you may become you will remember him and he will remember you. Make those memories fine—like a sunset too beautiful to forget. Be a man's ideal. And whatever life does to you, nothing can change that. And 13 is not too young as you will some day know, not too young to make or mar a picture that will live till eyes are dim and hearts are weary. Make it lovely, dear.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease.

AN IMPROVED TREATMENT FOR WHITE SWELLING.

FOR THOSE people who have white swelling, tuberculosis of bones, dead bones, old bone sinuses, and chronic osteomyelitis, the maggot treatment seems to be superior to all others. These diseases are either the same or else they belong to the same group. In all of them there is chronic infection of the bone, with some tendency to cause dead bone to come away from time to time. In some cases it is the tubercle bacillus which causes the infection; in others it is some one of the pus cocci.

Because the treatment has proved so satisfactory in bone sinuses, it is possible that it may have a place in the treatment of old and bad fistulae. Since the days of legend and myth there has been a lingering tradition that badly infected wounds that got maggots in them tended to get well. Among the stories that have been told after wars was always one of the soldiers badly wounded on the battlefield and so neglected afterward that flies laid eggs in the wounds until fly larvae got into the wounds causing them to heal promptly and well. It seemed against all science and logic, but the evidence was that somehow the presence of fly larvae in a wound seemed to help healing.

In the World War a Johns Hopkins professor of surgery saw some evidence that supported these old stories. He decided to investigate. The result was that he came out in favor of the maggot treatment of infected wounds, particularly where there was an involvement of bone and when the infection had been going on for some time. Many surgeons have tried the method and have reported favorable results.

The medical staff of the Veterans' Service Hospital near Chicago are of the opinion that they have improved the method. They prepare what they call an active principle or extract of the fly larvae and they use that instead of the worms themselves. Sometimes they use the worms themselves for a few days to get the process of healing well started, and they use the active principle to finish up with.

The people who should be interested are those who have old discharging bone sinuses from which some pus flows most of the time and out of which a piece of bone works every now and then; the cases that have had many doctors and who are discouraged. If the active principle treatment works it will be found to have many practical advantages over the older maggot method.

ENCEPHALITIS.

K. K. T. writes:

1. Is encephalitis the same as sleeping sickness?
2. What is the cause?
3. Is there a cure for the disease?
4. Does it lead to insanity or mental incapacities of any kind?

REPLY.

1. One name for the encephalitis is sleeping sickness. There are several kinds of encephalitis. Epidemic encephalitis is the kind that is of interest now.
2. It is an infection and is probably due to a virus.
3. Most cases get well—at least partly so. Good medical care is the only cure we have.
4. Yes, as to both questions. That is an occasional outcome. Sometimes a changed personality results. Sometimes palsy. Complete recovery occurs in other cases.

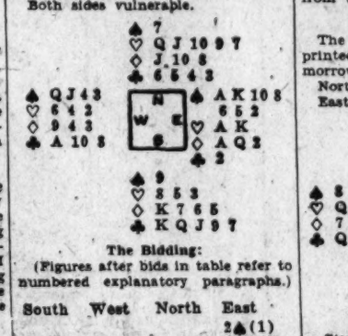
THE OPENING FORCING BID.

INASMUCH as the sixteen hands played around the world were selected to furnish entertainment and thrills and drama to thirty-odd thousand participants in the World Bridge Olympic, the hands varied in texture considerably from those that would be secured by the average foursome sitting down at the Bridge table and bidding and playing their hands as they came. Thus, the number of Slam bids and unusual distributions was greater than would ordinarily be expected.

The Opening Forcing bid of two in a suit, the preliminary to an eventual Slam contract, was illustrated on Deal No. 7. The play of this hand illustrated the principle of the elimination of suits and the use of a card reserved for that purpose to throw the lead to a chosen opponent rather than take a finesse, which might lose.

The hand and bidding were:

East—Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.



The Bidding:

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	West	North	East
Pass	3♠	Pass	2♠(1)
Pass	Pass	Pass	6♠(2)

1—East, with 5½ honor-tricks and a seven-card suit, has an obvious Opening bid of two.
2—After a Raise by West, it is almost a certainty that he holds either the Ace of clubs or the King of diamonds. Consequently, the Slam bid is clearly justified.

The manner in which East developed the hand was instructive. South opened the club King, which was won with Dummy's Ace, and a club immediately returned, which was ruffed in the closed hand. This was the first step in East's winning plan of campaign. The adverse trumps were drawn, this taking only one lead, as North and South each held singletons The Ace and King of hearts were then led and the Dummy hand put in with a small trump in order to lead the last heart from that hand. Thus both East and West hands were stripped of hearts. This card was trumped by the Declarer and another spade led and overtaken in the Dummy, in order to lead the Ten of clubs, which had been saved for the purpose of placing South in the lead. The obvious play would be to trump this card, as it is a loser and East has lots of trumps. This, however, would be an unwise way to play the cards. East, instead of trumping, discarded the diamond deuce, which is an obvious loser. South, forced into the lead, was compelled to choose between the lead of another club, which could be trumped in the Dummy hand, and thus permit East to discard the diamond Queen, or the lead of a diamond up to East's tenace.

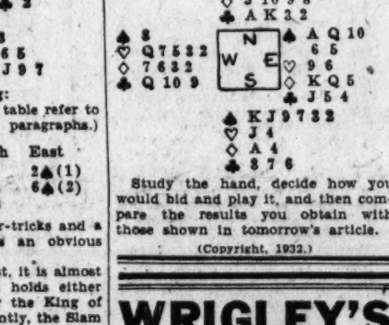
TODAY'S POINTER.

In hands which offer a choice between a chance and a certainty in the play, the certainty should always be selected. This certainty quite often is based on the elimination of suits from the hand.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow:

North—Dealer.
East and West vulnerable.



Study the hand, decide how you would bid and play it, and then compare the results you obtain with those shown in tomorrow's article.

Little Prints for a Woman
$29.50

Little prints have always been favorites among really smart women. This year, the smaller and neater the print, the smarter it is for anybody. Our Second Floor Dress Shop has cornered a raft of little prints . . . twin prints, dark prints, light prints. Jacket styles, with scarfs, with lingerie touches, with surplices, with new sleeves of all lengths and descriptions. And smart women are simply mobbing us! The one sketched comes in black and white, navy and white, brown and white. Sizes 36 to 44.

World's worst job ended by KLEENEX

MADAM, if you like to wash dirty handkerchiefs, don't read this advertisement. We are going to tell you how to get rid of this disagreeable job. We are going to tell you about Kleenex, a handkerchief to use and destroy.

Of soft rayon-cellulose

This disposable handkerchief, Kleenex, is made of softest rayon-cellulose. It is many times more absorbent than cotton or linen, is always gentle and soothing. Kleenex is destroyed instantly after using.

The cost of a big, generous package of Kleenex is about that of one inexpensive handkerchief. So you can see that Kleenex is an economy.

Since the cost is so low, you need use each tissue but once. This means no self-infection from soiled handkerchiefs. No storing handkerchiefs in laundry bags, to scatter germs through clothing.

Buy a package today . . . or better, buy several—a package for every member of the family.

At all drug, dry goods and department stores.

KLEENEX disposable TISSUES

Germ-filled handkerchiefs are a menace to society!

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

WHAT'S WRONG WITH THIS PICTURE?

THINGS may be as bad in this country as they say, but we can't help noting that—

1. The Sunday traffic jams seem as bad as ever.

2. Unless it's an optical illusion, there are a lot of new automobiles on the roads this spring and they carry the usual "spare."

3. Down at the shipyards there is the usual activity in getting motorboats overboard and very few of the owners look like the idle rich.

4. All the pumping stations seem to be able to worry along without distress.

5. It's still pretty tough trying to find room to play any golf course on a nice sunny afternoon and on Saturdays and Sundays it's a real battle to get off the first tee.

6. When you tool up to a golf club this spring on a week-end you'll still have trouble finding room to park your car, and you'll be surprised at the number of new and expensive limousines scattered about the premises.

7. The baseball attendance is up to normal in most places, and in the big parks the concessionaire still gets prewar prices for a nickel cup of coffee and a "dog."

8. Whenever you see a new building operation you'll notice that a lot of the workmen still come to work in their own motors.

9. When you decide to have your house painted, your fence repaired or your shrubbery fixed up you find it's just as hard as ever to locate some competent man with the time to do it.

10. No matter what firm you retain to shingle the house, rebuild the lawn or repair the garage, you find it so busy that it can't attend to the job right away.

11. Hat-check girls are still frowning if they don't get a quarter for watching a hat a half hour.

12. If you want your car overhauled you discover that the service station has work ahead of you and that the job will cost just about what it always did.

13. There still seems to be as many people suing somebody as ever.

14. You can't get a ticket to any New York theatrical hit at $5.40 top unless you go to a speculator or make a reservation four weeks in advance.

15. While the telephone companies say thousands of phones are being disconnected you can't help noticing that you can get nearly anybody you want to talk to over the telephone.

16. The automobilists still outnumber the hitch-hikers from coast to coast and from gulf to border.

17. A hobo still grunts if you give him only a nickel.

18. The circus in Madison Square Garden, New York, playing at $3.50 top this spring, broke a seven-year record for receipts.

19. A man with a hole in his sock is still rare enough to cause comment in most communities.

20. There's been no wholesale return to the old-fashioned depression custom of robbing henhouses to get the eggs.

21. It's still possible to get up a draw poker, contract bridge or pinochle game for money in any smoking car.

22. Obstetricians are charging as much as ever.

23. Living expenses are down a little, yes.

24. But a good funeral costs about the same as in 1929.

TOUGH LUCK.

Queens to Visit U. S. College.

Istanbul, Turkey, May 3 (A.P.).—Robert College, the famous American institution on the Bosporus, is to receive two queens at once tomorrow. The dowager Queen Marie of Roumania, and her daughter, the Queen of Jugoslavia, are coming to visit their old friends, Prof. and Mrs. George Huntington and and Mr. and Mrs. Theron Damon, of New York. The Jugoslavian queen is traveling incognito and there will be no state receptions.

WORLD COURT DELAY URGED BY ROBINSON

Would Aid Fair Action, He Tells Session of Justice Conference.

(Associated Press.)

To make American adherence to the world court more certain and keep the issue from becoming a "political football," Senator Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas, advocated last night that Senate action on the question be put off until after the November elections.

Speaking before the American Conference on International Justice, the leader of the Senate's Democrats indicated a belief that the resolution for joining would have a far better chance of approval if taken up after the present need of "emergency legislation" has passed.

Robinson gave three reasons why the Senate and its foreign relations committee have "deferred final action."

"First," he said, "the Senate has necessarily given priority to domestic emergency legislation. * * *.

"Second, if the resolution of ratification were on the calendar now, under present conditions, a majority of the Senate would not vote to take it up. Frankly, this condition may continue until the close of the present session unless it should be prolonged until late summer.

Two-Thirds Vote Required.

"A two-thirds vote is required for advice and consent under the Constitution, and probably will be obtained if the vote is taken at a time when the pressure of imperative and emergency legislation has been relaxed and the feeling of uncertainty arising from the moratorium, from war debts, reparations and the war in the Orient has subsided.

"If an arrangement should be made to take up the resolution in the Senate in December it may be disposed of then, notwithstanding the session will expire on March 4."

Mr. Robinson explained that the third consideration making for delay is the controversy in the committee over the effect of the Root formula on the Senate's "fifth reservation of 1926 refusing advisory opinions involving the United States without its consent.

Talk on Immigration.

W. W. Husband, Second Assistant Secretary of Labor, spoke on immigration policy, advocating an amelioration of existing laws to admit an annual quota of Orientals in the interest of international harmony and justice.

John J. Esch, former chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission and now President of the American Peace Society, told a luncheon meeting that international peace founded on justice is difficult of attainment.

"In the chaotic state of the world today," he said, "there is greater need than ever before to sustain and encourage the movement of peace between nations.

Difficulties, impossible to be ironed out in a day, must be made to yield, not through force, but through the slow processes of education and more intimate interchanges to a better international understanding. Such understanding, based upon research, dispassionately made, with the rights of parties properly safeguarded, promotes justice and peace."

The luncheon was held at the Hay-Adams House. Dr. Arthur Deerin Call presided and Dr. James Brown Scott, president, the American Society of International Law, also spoke.

Shipping and Justice.

At the morning assembly, Ira A. Campbell, general counsel, American Steamship Owners Association, discussed "Shipping and the Processes of Justice." He held that: "Shipping, in its international aspect, is one of the vital forces making for the maintenance of peaceful relations, because it is the principal means of intercourse among the individuals of the nations."

Magnus W. Alexander, president National Industrial Conference Board, spoke at the same session on, "How Far Are We Interdependent?"

The speakers at this morning's session at the Chamber of Commerce of the United States Building will be: Oscar T. Crosby, formerly Assistant Secretary of the Treasury; Dr. Justin Miller, dean of the Law School, Duke University, and Prof. Philip C. Jessup. Their subject will be: "Practical Agencies for Justice." At the luncheon meeting at the Hay-Adams House, Dr. John Barton Payne and Randolph Leigh will speak. The evening gathering will be addressed by Senator Thomas J. Walsh, William R. Castle, Undersecretary of State; Prof. Edwin M. Borchard, Yale University, and the Rev. Edmund A. Walsh, regent, School of Foreign Service, Georgetown University.

The conference will close tomorrow.

Conservative Gain Seen in Reich Shift

Cabinet Reorganization to Follow Resignation of Economics Chief.

Berlin, May 3 (A.P.).—A cabinet reorganization which would increase the Conservative representation in the German government appeared imminent today.

The illness of Hermann Warmbold, minister of economics, is the reason for the reshuffling. Expectations are that he shortly will present his resignation to Chancellor Heinrich Bruening and that in his place the chancellor will name Karl Goerdeler, burgomaster of Leipsic, who has been serving the Reich in the important post of dictator of prices.

Herr Goerdeler is a member of Dr. Alfred Hugenberg's opposition Nationalist party.

Political observers predict that when this shift is made the chancellor, who also has been serving as foreign minister, will dispose of the foreign portfolio and that he will relieve Gen. Wilhelm Groener, now both minister of interior and of defense, of one of his departments.

Election Is Postponed By Virginia Jewelers

(Associated Press.)

The election of officers of the Virginia Retail Jewelers Association, scheduled for yesterday, was postponed until a meeting to be called within 30 days at Roanoke.

O. P. Russow, Roanoke, secretary of the association, said selection of officers has been deferred so it would not interfere with the business of the convention here. Representatives from Virginia, Maryland, Delaware and the District of Columbia were present.

Grand Jury Probes Keith-Miller Case

Her Flying Partner Held in Jail While Death of Fiance Is Studied.

Miami, Fla., May 3 (A.P.).—His adventurous flying career halted by a charge of first degree murder, Capt. W. N. Lancaster sat calmly in his jail cell today, while a grand jury delved into the mysterious death ten days ago of the youthful fiance of his flying partner, Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller.

State's Attorney M. Vernon Hawthorne has asked the grand jury to indict Lancaster for the shooting of Haden Clarke, 26-year-old writer, with whom he shared a room at the home of Mrs. Keith-Miller, noted Australian flier.

Hawthorne last night obtained Lancaster's arrest on a warrant charging murder after he said the British aviator had confessed forging two notes supposedly left by Clarke before his death.

Lancaster maintains Clarke committed suicide, and that to protect Mrs. Keith-Miller, he wrote the notes and signed Clarke's name to them. A handwriting expert declared the notes were not written by Clarke. Mrs. Keith-Miller has been exonerated by Hawthorne of all knowledge of the shooting, but the prosecutor said he might call her as a grand jury witness.

Many Stars of Films Reported in Dire Need

New York, May 3 (A.P.).—Hundreds of motion picture stars, many of them former "top-notchers," now are poverty stricken, Mike Levee, president of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Science and treasurer of the Actors' Relief Fund, told a luncheon meeting of the Motion Picture Forum today.

"If I were to disclose the names of many of those who appeal to us for help," he added, "you would be dumfounded."

He outlined a plan of cooperative production, with author, star, and director sharing pro rata the receipts. "The present method of mass production, where it is impossible to produce fast enough to meet current expenses, can not survive," he asserted.

Wickersham Lays Crime to Society

Religious Educators Told Curb of Evil Is Up to Communities.

New York, May 3 (A.P.).—Upon society's ability to surround children "with healthy and harmless outlets for their natural spirits," George W. Wickersham said tonight rests the root of the Nation's crime problem.

Warning that "whatever the offenses of the individual toward society, the crimes of organized society toward the individual are infinitely greater," he urged society to "extend a willing and helping hand to the boy or man seriously determined to come back."

Speaking before the Religious Education Association, Mr. Wickersham cited from the various reports of the President's Commission on Law Observance and Enforcement, of which he was chairman, to show that "the majority of the 11,000 police jails and lock-ups are literally a public nuisance and are unfit for the purposes for which they are designed."

Hindenburg's Reelection Declared Valid by Board

Berlin, May 3 (A.P.).—The Federal election board today declared that Paul von Hindenburg's reelection to the presidency April 10 was "good and valid."

A total of 64 objections had been lodged with the board by the juridical representatives of the National Socialist and the Social Democratic parties. The election officials disallowed all of these complaints on the ground that even if a few of them were well founded they could not affect the Von Hindenburg majority of almost 6,000,000.

REALTY MEN SCORE CAPPER RENT MOVE

Deny Charge of Gouging as Letters Pour In Lauding Senator's Stand.

Organized opposition to Senator Arthur Capper's suggested revival of the wartime rent commission developed yesterday in Washington real estate circles, while letters protesting high District rents continued to pour into the Senate District committee.

Statements on rentals charged and returns on investments, prepared by the H. L. Rust Co. and the T. F. Schneider Corporation, were filed by Mr. Schneider with the District committee chairman.

The Rust statement showed returns on eight apartment houses yielded income ranging from 4.2 to 9 per cent on assessed valuations. Returns from the T. F. Schneider Corporation properties ranged from 3 to 8 per cent, the statements declared. Charges varied from $40 a month for one room and bath to $125 a month for five rooms, kitchen and bath, it was claimed.

"Just how it could be figured that we are gouging our tenants under these scales of rents, I do not quite see," Mr. Schneider said. "These buildings last year were practically filled the entire time, the average vacancies not running over 2 per cent, so it could not be said that we were maintaining high rents and at the same time carrying many vacancies."

Scores of letters from tenants commended Senator Capper for his stand. One, from an attorney connected with a local Government agency, alleged a deflation in real estate values resulted from many recent foreclosures and urged that rents be brought down proportionately.

Plan Offered to Deport 2,000 Indiana Mexicans

Hammond, Ind., May 3 (A.P.).—Judge Maurice E. Crites, of the Lake County Superior Court, today presented to the county board a plan whereby he said 2,000 unemployed Mexicans in the county could be deported to their homeland at less cost than it would take to maintain them by charity. He asked the board to approve transportation claims turned in with claims for poor relief expenditures.

Judge Crites said his plan has been worked out with the cooperation of Federal officials. The United States Government, he said, would supervise the transportation of the Mexicans to the border, where the Mexican government would take charge of them and assign them to farms.

Radical Socialists Ask for Voting Aid

Seek Other Organizations' Help in Run-Off in France Sunday.

Paris, May 3 (A.P.).—The executive committee of the Radical Socialist party today called on local organizations throughout the country to negotiate with other political factions in order to "bar the way to reaction" in the run-off Chamber of Deputies elections next Sunday. The executive committee empowered each local group of the party to act as it considered best in these negotiations.

In the election last Sunday the Radical Socialists, led by Edouard Herriot, won 63 seats, against a total of 37 for Premier Andre Tardieu's Left Republicans.

In an effort to prevent any further swing to the Left in next Sunday's run-off, the premier will make a radio appeal to the nation tomorrow night. His talk will precede by a few hours the time limit for the withdrawal of candidates and for the nomination of new compromise aspirants. Although the premier's health has improved, he probably will make the address from his home.

River Still Searched For 2 Cadets' Bodies

West Point, N. Y., May. 3 (A.P.).—The Hudson River in the neighborhood of the United States Military Academy was still being patrolled today in search for the bodies of two second-year cadets who disappeared Saturday after going out in a canoe.

The missing students are Alan J. Light, of Washington, D. C., and Leo A. Keim. Their canoe and two paddles have been found.

'Secret Six' Caused Short-Weight Quiz

Member of Crime Fighters Tells Story at Trial of Chicagoans.

Chicago, May 3 (A.P.).—The "Secret Six" today was revealed as the sponsor of the investigation which led to short-weight conspiracy charges against State Senator Daniel A. Serritella, former city sealer, and Harry Hochstein, his chief deputy sealer.

Edward G. Wright, an agent for the crime-fighting body, told the story of the investigation at the conspiracy trial—a decidedly malodorous affair because of the more than 300 exhibits of year-old fish, meat, vegetables and fruits. The foodstuffs were removed from cold storage yesterday and since have been unioed.

The "Secret Six" representative testified five teams, of two women each, were sent touring the city, purchasing food in stores suspected of cheating in weighing. The purchases, he said, were reweighed on accurate scales, and those found to be short weight were ticketed and placed in storage to be used as evidence. The investigation cost $4,000, Wright said.

Thompson Co. Official Resigns.

Chicago, May 3 (A.P.).—Charles A. McCulloch resigned today as chairman and treasurer of the John R. Thompson Co. to devote himself more fully to duties as receiver of the Middle West Utilities Co. Earl F. Swaim, general manager of the Thompson Co., becomes executive vice president of that corporation.

War Convict, Forgotten 12 Years, Gets Ovation

Kehl, Baden, Germany, May 3 (A.P.).—Paul Schwartz, the man who was forgotten for twelve years while he served as a prisoner of war on Devils Island, Cayenne, returned to his home town today and was deliriously greeted by thousands of persons gathered at the railway station.

Schwartz was born in Corsica of German parents. While he was an infant the family moved to Alsace-Lorraine, and when the war came along he joined the German army, fighting on the western front until the armistice. In 1919 he came back to Kehl, then in the hands of the French, and because he had no traveling papers he was arrested and subsequently was convicted by a French court-martial of high treason—a charge based on the French law that a child of the second generation, born on French territory, is a French citizen.

Granddaughter of Fall Engaged to Editor's Son

El Paso, Tex., May 3 (A.P.).—The engagement of Miss Martha Holman Fall, granddaughter of Albert B. Fall, former Secretary of the Interior, to Allen M. Hunter, of El Paso, was announced today by Mrs. George Millar, Miss Fall's mother. The marriage will be next fall.

Hunter is the son of Hubert S. Hunter, editor of the El Paso Times. He is employed in the advertising department of the paper. Miss Fall is a reporter on the El Paso Herald-Post.

200 Search for Child in Hills.

Los Angeles, May 3 (A.P.).—Two hundred men were recruited today to search the deep brush of the Tehachapi Mountains near Quail Spring Inn for a 3-year-old girl, Cecilia Mitchell, lost yesterday while picking wild flowers with two older girls.

Good Fences Make Good Neighbors

That's what the Frenchmen say. Is your fence in good condition? If not, why not have it repaired now? It can be done cheaper than ever at this time.

Beautiful fences make pleasant neighbors. If the fence is otherwise in good condition why not paint it and keep it so?

There are many idle men—men who do not want to be idle—who would be glad of the opportunity to do that job for you.

How about giving some man an opportunity to earn a few dollars and thereby help make Washington a better city for yourself and others?

Protection Is Asked For Kentucky Quiz

Civil Liberties Union Is Seeking Writ Against Interference.

Covington, Ky., May 3 (A.P.).—A petition for an injunction to restrain authorities of Bell and Harlan Counties from interfering with their proposed investigation of mining conditions in that section was filed today in United States District Court by members of the American Civil Liberties Union. Hearing on the petition was set for May 12, at London, Ky., by Judge A. M. J. Cochran.

The petition was filed by John Randolph Neal, Knoxville, Tenn., and signed by the following: Arthur Garfield Hays, New York, head of the Union; Dudley Field Malone, noted attorney of New York; John B. Matthews, New York, field secretary of the Fellowship of Conciliation; Sutherland Bates, New York; Broatus Mitchell, professor of economics at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, and Gene G. Sales.

New York, May 3 (A.P.).—Four clergymen left for Pineville, Ky., today in response to an invitation to make an independent survey of conditions in the Kentucky coal fields.

Scientist Dies at Auto's Wheel.

Los Angeles, May 3 (A.P.).—Dr. Wilfred W. Scott, 56, distinguished scientist and head of the chemistry department of the University of Southern California, died at the wheel of his automobile while driving home yesterday, the family announced today.

Soldiers "Planted" For Bribes, Claim

Journal Says Guardsmen Met Texas Oil Thieves and Got $1,300.

Longview, Tex., May 3 (A.P.).—The News-Journal says that trusted National Guardsmen "planted" in the east Texas oil fields, obtained bribe money and other important evidence to be used in prosecution of dozens of persons accused of the theft of millions of dollars' worth of petroleum.

Guardsmen placed at points where they were most likely to contact the thieves were said to have collected $1,300 in bribes. The money reputedly was paid at the rate of 3 cents a barrel for all crude permitted to be taken illegally from the military prorated production area.

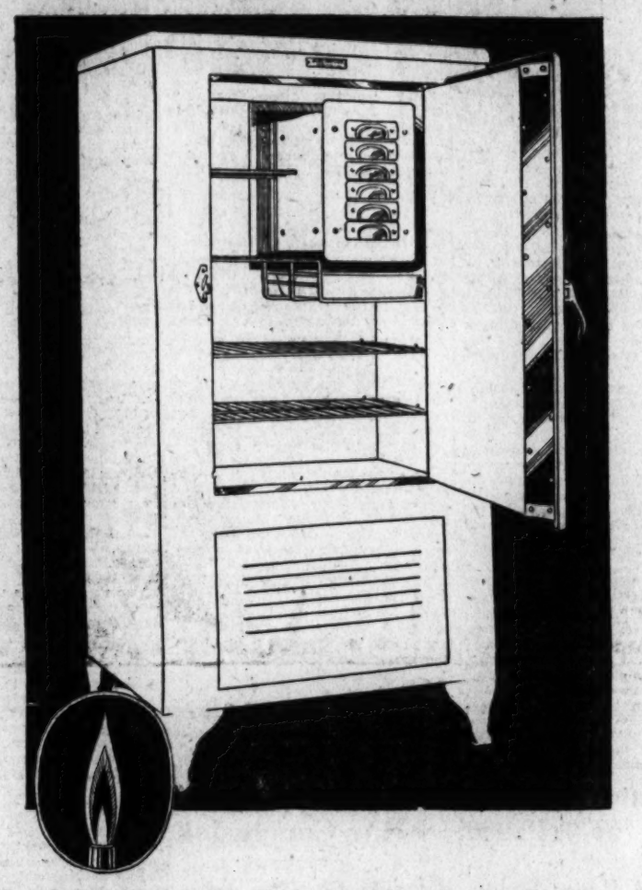
To date there have been sixteen arrests in the Gregg County area and five in Rusk County. Authorities predict that dozens of arrests still will be made. At Longview today, George F. Lovick, freight agent there for the Texas & Pacific Railroad, surrendered to officers and posted $20,000 bond.

Script Plan Proposed at Dayton.

Dayton, Ohio, May 3 (A.P.).—Release of approximately $14,500,000 deposits in the seventeen building and loan associations here, through issuance of script acceptable at face value at Dayton retail stores, has been proposed by the Dayton Retail Merchants Association and the Chamber of Commerce.

WHEN YOU BUY AN AUTOMATIC REFRIGERATOR

buy a



BIG ONE

THE DIFFERENCE IN COST IS ONLY A FEW CENTS A DAY

$20 for your old icebox.
No other down payment.
36 months to pay.
Choice of standard colors at no extra cost

One of the many advantages of automatic refrigeration is the saving in food costs. You can stock up on bargain days, buy in quantity, and save left-overs for later use.

But to do that requires a good-sized refrigerator. At the easy terms on which you can buy a gas refrigerator, an extra-large box costs so little more per week than the smallest, that you'll never notice the difference.

Of course, there are other and perhaps more important reasons for selecting the gas refrigerator. It costs less to operate, it is completely and permanently silent, it has no moving machinery, and it provides constant instead of on-and-off cold.

Because the gas refrigerator is so long-lived and so trouble-free, we can sell it on long and easy terms. Because of these terms and the startling economy of the gas refrigerator, any family can afford to own one. Call NAtional 8280 and let us explain how a gas refrigerator actually pays for itself.

MONTGOMERY ZONE HEARINGS PLANNED

Chevy Chase Land Company Appeal Notification Leads to Action.

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post, 9103 Conn. Ave., North Chevy Chase, Md. Telephone Wisconsin 4205.

Public hearings at a date to be announced later are to be held on the applications of the Chevy Chase Land Co. for rezoning of properties on Wisconsin avenue at the District line and at Chevy Chase Lake, the Montgomery County commissioners announced yesterday. The hearings will be held in the County Building at Bethesda.

The commissioners were notified yesterday by the land company that it intended appealing the adverse decision on its request by the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission. The Wisconsin avenue petition asks that property near the District line be rezoned from residential "A" to residential "C" to permit erection of apartment houses. Rezoning in order that stores and apartments can be erected is asked for the Chevy Chase Lake section on Connecticut avenue, which now is zoned residential "A." Both applications were the cause of vigorous opposition and also of favorable comment by other groups of civic and business organizations.

The commissioners tentatively set the night of June 20 for a hearing on the petition of Dr. Frank H. Schultz for rezoning to commercial "D" of the site of the Bradford Home School on Brookeville road in Chevy Chase, which now is classified as residential "A." This also has been disapproved by the park and planning commission.

The commissioners approved the license to operate an amusement park and dance hall by the Glen Echo Park Amusement Co. The license fee was $1,050 for the season. The commissioners accepted with regret the resignation of Mrs. Lucile Magruder as assistant to the county treasurer.

Frank Davis, clerk of the County Police Court, turned over to the commissioners a check for $5,157.75 collected from the sale of dog taxes and the monthly report of the police court fines for April, amounting to $1,231.50, and costs of $409.50. A petition was presented to the commissioners requesting the improvement of Hipsley Mill road, from the cross road to the Patuxent River.

Representative David J. Lewis, of Maryland, was the principal speaker at a luncheon and card party given yesterday at the Hungerford Tavern by the Rockville branch of the Montgomery County Democratic Women's Club. Mrs. C. E. Roach, president of the United Democratic Women's Clubs of Maryland, also spoke.

The affair was given for the benefit of the Democratic campaign fund. Mrs. W. Ernest Offutt, president of the branch, presided and introduced the speakers. County officials were present and were introduced at the luncheon. Mrs. Mary O'Brien, of Alta Vista, contralto, sang, accompanied on the piano by Miss Helen McLaughlin, of Rockville.

Harry H. Cheatham, found guilty on charges of passing bad checks in Montgomery County Circuit Court at Rockville, yesterday was sentenced to serve two years in the Maryland House of Correction. He was found guilty of passing checks amounting to $46 on Alton F. Billingsley, manager of the Piggly Wiggly store at Takoma Park, Md.

Leo Bender was reelected chief of the Silver Spring Volunteer Fire Department at its annual meeting Monday night. Other officers reelected were: John Feast, vice president; L. L. Swindell, recording secretary; George F. Hamilton, financial secretary; Clay V. Davis, treasurer; Ernest Sayer, sergeant-at-arms, and Charles E. Deffinbaugh, chief, who was reelected for the fifth time.

Members of the executive committee include William J. Jouvenal, George Hall, R. D. Crompton, J. A. Granger, Fred N. Oden. Delegates to the Maryland State Fire Association convention at Frostburg in July are Chief Deffinbaugh, L. L. Swindell, George Hamilton, Mountz Deffinbaugh and Clifford Beall, with T. J. Kennedy, W. J. Jouvenal, Paul Randall, Fred N. Oden and Clay V. Davis as alternates.

The Montgomery County Bar Association will hold its annual banquet meeting tonight at the Manor Club near Norbeck. Officers will be elected. William F. Prettyman, of Rockville, now is president of the body.

Chief Judge Hammond Urner and Associate Judges Robert B. Peter and Arthur D. Willard, of this judicial district, will be guests of honor.

It is expected that revisions of the by-laws considered at a meeting last week will again be discussed at this meeting.

Soviet-Italian Alliance Is Seen

New York Physician Draws Parallel Between Fascism and Communism.

A Russo-Italian alliance against all democratic nations was put forward as a possibility by Dr. Charles Fama, New York physician, when he addressed the Harmony Club of the National Order of Protestant Clubs last night.

Dr. Fama drew a parallel between fascism and communism. "Bolshevism confiscated all private property and moneys of the well-to-do outright; Mussolini is doing it more gradually and surely," he said. "Bolshevism permits no liberty of press, association or thought; fascism has killed all of these."

Other speakers at the meeting were Dr. William McDougall, whose subject was "Real Americanism," and Elmer E. Rogers, of the Scottish Rite News Service, who introduced Dr. Fama.

Reformatory Firemen Save $10,000 Home

Members of the Lorton Reformatory Fire Department saved the $10,000 residence of Fred Henson, of Manassas, Va., from possible destruction by fire Monday night, according to a report made yesterday to the Commissioners by Capt. M. M. Barnard, superintendent of District penal institutions.

The house, situated on a hill beyond Occoquan and neighboring the reformatory, took fire from a water heater. Damage was estimated at $1,000.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

THERE has been such a public clamor for the privilege of assisting the members of the National Theater Players in bearing the financial burden of the recent adjudication of their difficulty with the musicians' union that, from the present outlook something distinctly to the pleasurable advantage of the theatergoer may come out of it.

There have been many offers of direct monetary contributions to those who are "docking" themselves to meet the emergency that threatened to terminate a season planned to continue for ten weeks at the end of two. These naturally, all have been declined. Similar proffers of assistance have likewise been refused, with thanks, by the management. The mail has brought many inclosures of money, so I am told, all of which have been returned to the donors. Thus has the public interest in the Players been unequivocally manifested.

Since none of those concerned will tolerate the suggestion of "charity" relief, and since the management is determined to adhere to its original scale of prices for the National Theater Players' ten-week season, without jeopardizing the equity of the situation by permitting those season subscribers who have offered to pay full rates for the ten plays to be presented to do so, it has been suggested that a testimonial performance be given to enable those who care to, to fulfill their helpful purpose by deriving a dollar's worth of entertainment for every dollar expended for tickets.

This testimonial, as it is tentatively contemplated, would not take the form of an extra performance of any of the scheduled plays of the regular season, but rather of a vaudeville bill presented as a separate and distinct frolic by the members of the National company and such other available acts as might feel disposed to contribute their services to so worthy a cause.

Practically the entire roster of the Players are sufficiently versatile to put on acts and specialities of the highest order. Leona Powers, Donald Woods, Forrest Orr, Owen Davis, jr., Ona Munson, of musical comedy and film fame; Raymond Bramley, Kathryn Givney, Burke Clarke and all the others have many times participated in actors' gambols, frolics, N. V. A. nights and impromptu programs that insure their complete capability to make interesting such an informal evening of unconventional enjoyment as is being seriously considered.

And another thing. Some of the more youthful, courageous and talented of the critical fraternity, of both genders, have indicated to Mr. Cochran, impresario of the National Players, that they, too, are not so bad and will be glad to put on a stunt or two to help the cause along—or vice versa, as the case may be, but probably isn't!

At any rate, it's an idea and Sunday night, May 15, is looked upon, at the moment, as the probable time of its execution.

And, oh yes, after the performance—when, and if, presented—the entire company will hold a reception on the stage, when the entire audience may make the personal acquaintance of those they have been so eager to aid in a period of some tribulation.

It ought to be a lot of fun.

The recent balloting in Maryland, in which the Sunday blue laws were voted down by an overwhelming majority, may have an appreciable effect upon the volume of week-end business in the Washington theaters, both motion picture and legitimate.

Heretofore, on Sundays, the Baltimore pike early in the day has been crowded with cars bearing amusement seekers to the National Capital—and late at night with the same cars bearing them back again. All of the downtown, first-run picture houses, such legitimate theaters as have had Sunday night openings and Mr. Griffith's ball club, when cavorting on the home lot, have profited by these weekly hegiras occasioned by Maryland's, and more especially Baltimore's, Sabbath inhibitions.

Now that all that is to come to an end and Maryland is, according to the vote, to liberalize its Sabbatical restrictions, the effects may be felt, although perhaps only slightly, in the Washington box offices.

Gregory Ratoff, the talented actor who plays the part of the elder Klauber, father of the brilliant young Dr. Klauber, impersonated by Ricardo Cortez, in Fanny Hurst's "Symphony of Six Million," now enjoying its second week of excellent business at RKO-Keith's, you may be interested to know, when not actively engaged as a Thespian devotes his versatile gifts to the adaptation of musical comedies to the abbreviated requirements of the motion picture stages.

The curtailed version of "Girl Crazy," currently at the Palace, is one of his more notable achievements in this field, so on last Monday night the members of the "Girl Crazy" company chipped in and hired a crew of projection booth operators to run off a midnight showing of "The Symphony of Six Million" in order that they might see just what kind of an actor the boss really is, anyway!

The film, the use of the hall, the lights and all of the other incidentals were contributed to the practically gala occasion by Manager Hardie Meakin, of RKO-Keith's, but it was the "Girl Crazy" company itself that put up the real dough to pay the actual overhead.

What they discovered was that the old man knew his material!

Speaking of "Girl Crazy," Hal Thompson, the Danny Churchill of the cast, had one of the principal supporting roles in the Four Marx Brothers' recent production of "Animal Crackers." He has, incidentally, appeared in more than 50 musical comedies, despite the fact that he is only 27 years old.

And reverting momentarily to Gregory Ratoff, he is, I believe, in private life the husband of Mme. Leontovitch, who created the role of Grusinkaya, the dancer, in the stage version of Vicki Baum's "Grand Hotel."

This early to bed (3:30 a. m.) and early (in the afternoon) to rise business cheated me out of the pleasure of breakfasting yesterday with Joseph R. Vogel and Oscar Doob, the Loew home-office executives down for a day to look to the taking over of the Fox Theater by Loews, Inc., as has been so handsomely bruited about of late.

By the time I had gotten around to giving thought to the item of splitting a grape and an egg with them, they were miles on their way back toward New York in a plane that had taken off at noon.

Well, that's the way it goes!

Today's schedule of the musical organizations competing in the second annual music week festival at the Fox includes the Langley Junior High School girls glee club, under the direction of Mrs. E. S. Dorsay, at 12:46, and the American University girls glee club, under the conductorship of Harlan Randall, at 3:30. The Bliss Electrical School men's glee club, George P. Harper, director, will be heard at 6:24, and the Capital City Choristers, under the direction of Mrs. D. R. Emery, at 8:59.

This is a great spring for the flower garden. The only thing that has come up so far is a dispute as to whether or not anything was ever planted!

Chalfonte Building Is Sold for $940,000

Apartment House Bought at Auction by Agents of Noteholders.

The Chalfonte, large apartment building at 1601 Argonne place northwest, was purchased at public auction for $940,000 yesterday by Arthur L. Mittell and Angela T. Kahn, announced as joint tenants representing the noteholders. The purchase price includes a prior deed of trust of $900,000. The sale was advertised by Martin J. McNamara and Martin F. O'Donoghue, substituted trustees. Adam A. Weschler was the auctioneer.

Although only four stories high, this brick and concrete building has a width of 470 feet, a depth of 240 and contains 210 units. It was erected in 1925 at an estimated cost of more than $1,000,000, William S. Phillips being the original owner; Harvey H. Warwick, the architect, and H. Loveless, the builder. Current assessed valuation of the property now is $962,626, of which $98,926 is for land and $863,700 for building.

District building records list among its various owners William S. Phillips and William L. King, Julius I. Peyser and William C. Sullivan, Harry R. Loveless, trustee; Phillips Terrace Apartment House Co. Corporation, and National Capital Apartment House Holding Corporation, Inc.

Building Trade Wages Fought by Shipbuilders

(Associated Press.)

H. C. Smith, president of the National Council Shipbuilders, yesterday told the House labor committee the shipbuilding industry would be ruined if it had to pay building trades' rates of wages. Smith was opposing a bill to broaden the prevailing wage clause of the present law. He complained that the bill would place shipbuilding in that class.

Thomas A. Lane, representing the Bricklayers and Plasterers Union, urged an amendment which would recognize representatives of organized labor in making wage complaints.

"We're opposed on general principles to the Government fixing wages, especially when there is no dispute," he said.

Dr. Robertson Heads Prince Georges Clerics

Dr. B. P. Robertson, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Hyattsville, has been elected president of the Ministerial Association of Prince Georges County, which was formed last Sunday at the church. Other officers are: The Rev. L. I. McDougle, pastor of the Seat Pleasant M. E. Church, vice president; the Rev. W. Keith Custis, of the Riverdale Presbyterian Church, secretary-treasurer.

The executive board is composed of the officers and the Rev. C. I. Flory, of the M. E. Church South of Hyattsville; the Rev. Clyde Brown, of Pinkney Memorial Episcopal Church of Hyattsville, and the Rev. Fred Miller, of the Christian Church of Mount Rainier.

Sign Controversy Nears Conclusion

Bethesda Chamber Votes, in Heated Session, for Immediate Action.

Following a heated debate on the floor, President Thomas Laffin broke a tie vote last night on a resolution which will require the board of directors to report at the next meeting of the Bethesda Chamber of Commerce on the resolution requiring the removal of the controversial welcome sign near Bradley lane on Wisconsin avenue.

The Leland residents claim they are part of Chevy Chase and that the sign misleads the public into believing they are part of Bethesda. The resolution requiring immediate action was presented by J. Harry Welch and the vote stood 12 to 12 when President Laffin voted for the Welch resolution.

A resolution presented by Samuel E. Stonebraker instructs the public utilities committee of the chamber to take up the question of obtaining lower telephone rates for the Bethesda exchange area. The chamber adopted the resolution, which follows the move of the Public Utilities Commission in Washington.

Medical Conclave Will Start Today

115th Annual Meeting of Society to Be Addressed by Dr. Emerson.

The Medical Society of Washington will convene today at 10 a. m. for its 115th annual meeting. Sessions will be held in the Medical Building, 1718 M street northwest.

At the last session of the convention, Dr. Luther Riechelderfer, president of the District Board of Commissioners will preside. The session, which will be a public meeting, will be held at 8 p. m., tomorrow. Dr. Haven Emerson, former president of the Board of Health and Deputy Commissioner of Health of New York City, will address the meeting on "The Mutual Responsibility of the Medical Profession and the Laity in the Organization of Preventive Efforts in a Community."

The annual meeting of the women's auxiliary to the Medical Society of the District will be held this afternoon, 2:30, at the home of Mrs. Christie, 4525 Cathedral avenue. A proposed revision of the constitution and by-laws of the organization will be considered. Election of officers will be held.

Stokowski Leads Jobless Artists.

Philadelphia, May 3 (A.P.).—Leopold Stokowski performed for the masses today when he conducted an orchestra of 200 unemployed musicians in Reyburn Plaza, opposite City Hall. The event was a rehearsal for a Sousa memorial concert to be given tomorrow night for the benefit of the 2,000 jobless musicians in the city.

FAIRFAX ELECTION SET FOR JUNE 14

Council Appoints Judges for Balloting to Select Town Officials.

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST, P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va. Phone Fairfax 166.

The town council of Fairfax, Va., meeting in the office of Mayor Thomas P. Chapman, issued a call for the regular biannual election of town officials to be held on June 14. The council appointed Samuel Sisson, sr., H. M. Gibbson and Mrs. Marion Earle as judges of the election.

In order to have their names printed on the official town ballots, candidates must file with the mayor or town clerk at least ten days prior to the election date. Persons eligible to vote who have not heretofore registered should apply to the town clerk in order to be qualified to vote.

The council discussed the town budget for the next fiscal year. It was decided to hold a special meeting Friday night to consider the proposed budget and set the tax rate. Citizens will be allowed to express themselves on the budget.

The council issued a request to the residents of the town to clean up their premises this week in anticipation of the large number of visitors expected next week during the county garden week and during the Bicentennial celebration this summer. The council plans to cooperate in the clean-up campaign by collecting trash free of charge on Tuesday. The only stipulation imposed on the householder is that the trash must be placed in front of the premises in containers where it will be collected.

The names of the persons who will serve on the felony and civil juries during the next term of the Fairfax County Circuit Court were drawn yesterday morning by jury commissioners Thomas P. Chapman, sr., and F. Shields McCandlish. The May term of court will open on May 16. The names were certified by County Clerk F. W. Richardson to Sheriff Epps P. Kirby, who will summon the required number from the list.

The names of those certified to serve on the felony jury are as follows: H. Oden Dailey, of Dranesville; E. A. Stanard, of Herndon; Guy R. Cole, of Oakton; W. S. Thompson, of Vienna; J. T. Blincoe, of Burke; J. F. Ball, of McLean; A. B. Staats, of Vienna; W. A. Girard, of Dranesville; George C. White, of Burke; Jacob O. Belz, of Falls Church; E. M. Armfield, of Floris; W. S. Browning, of Falls Church; Benjamin B. Iden, of Andrew Chapel; John Koehnlein, of Vienna; L. C. Painter, of Hybla Valley; Vernon Bradford, of Forestville; William R. Taner, of Dranesville; Guy Erwin, of Falls Church; Carl D. Niswander, of Dranesville; Harry H. Henderson, of Floris; M. A. Foute, of Providence District; R. J. Sprague, of Falls Church; S. E. Ayers, of Mount Vernon District; R. E. Lee Hunt, of Providence District; E. D. Vosbury, of Merrifield; Ralph Chilcott, of Vienna; A. J. Milstead, of Dranesville; N. B. Denty, of Accotink; W. E. Broders, of Lorton, and J. W. Ashford, of Lee District.

The names of the persons who will be summoned to appear for civil jury duty on the second day of the May term of court are as follows: Thomas N. Fairfax, of Farrs; Norman B. Shephard, of Ingleside; John W. Preston, of McLean, Charles P. Cawman, of Accotink; H. B. Pearson and J. W. Anderson, of Mount Vernon District; Edmund H. Allen, of Newington; O. K. Miller, of Forestville; Amilie W. Dyer, of Providence District; T. J. Stockton, of Fairfax; J. W. Makley, of Clifton, and Vernon M. Lynch, of Annandale.

Lester Nalls, 17 years old, of Falls Church, was ordered held for grand jury action at the May term of the Fairfax County Circuit Court on a charge of manslaughter by Mayor Edgar T. Bennett, of Vienna. His bond was set at $1,000.

The charges grew out of an automobile accident on April 10, when A. L. Rickert, of Vienna, was fatally injured as he started to cross the highway in front of his home. Rickert died in the sanatorium at Takoma Park, Md. Nalls, represented by Attorney Harry Shockey, of Falls Church, did not testify at the preliminary hearing yesterday.

Prisoner Makes Escape By Leaping From Train

Diving head first out of the car entrance of a passenger train in Potomac Yards, Charles Alvin Tosh, 28, made a successful break for freedom yesterday while being brought here in custody of jail guards from the District workhouse at Occoquan, Va.

Tosh, wanted in Rockville for reckless driving and driving while drunk, was being brought here at the request of Maryland authorities. He had served one year at the District workhouse on a bad check charge.

Rescue Unit Fails In Ambulance Plea

Heads of Prince Georges Rule They Lack Authority for Purchase.

The Prince Georges County commissioners have no authority to give funds to the county rescue squad for the purchase of an ambulance, they decided yesterday. Officials of the Firemen's Association and the squad has asked their financial aid.

A letter from Ben Davis, mayor of Takoma Park, complaining that the sale of fireworks near the town was defeating an ordinance against them, was referred to the Park and Planning Commission by the commissioners. Mr. Davis said that every year fireworks stands were erected near the town but outside its jurisdiction, and that the fireworks sold were discharged in the town.

The Park and Planning Commission has power to issue permits for buildings erected in the county.

ANNUAL MAY FETE IS SET TOMORROW

1,094 Pupils to Take Part in Program on Field in Alexandria.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU, 907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va. Phone Alexandria 523.

The annual May fete of the Alexandria public school children will be held at 4:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon on Baggett's Field under direction of Miss Ruth Frankhouser, physical education instructor. The program calls for 1,094 pupils to participate, representing Washington, Lee and Jefferson schools. A nominal fee will be charged to defray expenses of the exhibition.

City Treasurer Roger C. Sullivan stated yesterday that the announcement given out by him to the effect that Monday, May 9, would be the final date to pay poll taxes to be able to vote in the congressional or presidential elections the coming fall, is incorrect, as Saturday, May 7, is the final date.

The clean-up work inaugurated last week by Fire Chief James M. Duncan, jr., has been halted because of a lack of funds for such activities. Approximately $316 has been expended, and it is estimated $300 more will be required. In connection with this work sixteen dilapidated houses have been torn down and fifteen more are slated to go.

Funeral services for Mrs. Emmaline Chauncey, who died Sunday, will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the home, 605 Cameron street, and burial will be in Bethel Cemetery. The services will be conducted by the Rev. N. A. Lineweaver, pastor of Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church.

PETTY SAFEGUARDS ARLINGTON FUNDS

New County Court Clerk to Quit Private Posts for Official Duties.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST, Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

John A. Petty, newly appointed clerk of the court of Arlington County, addressing the meeting of the Arlington County Civic Federation, announced he will resign as president of the Livingstone Heights Civic League and also as delegate to the federation, in assuming county duties.

Mr. Petty has made arrangements with banking institutions to take care of all public funds, to safeguard the county against loss.

The federation indorsed a resolution offered by the school committee providing for the appointment of a woman as member on the county school board. The appointment of four members for a term of four years will be made on July 1.

William C. Hull, chairman of the committee to prepare petitions calling for a special election to determine whether or not Arlington County shall remain under the provisions of the Byrd road act, announced that there will be a special meeting of the committee tomorrow night in the rooms of the chamber of commerce. This committee will meet with the legal committee and complete the preparation of the petition.

Arrangements for the annual carnival of the Arlington Volunteer Fire Department will be started at a meeting of the department tonight in the firemen's hall at 8 o'clock. Chief Scheffel will report on progress of the firemen's first aid class and improvements being made to the fire house.

Election of officers will be the principal business to come before the meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of the Woodrow Wilson School at Fort Myer Heights tonight. Preceeding the meeting, a supper will be served in the school building from 5 to 8 o'clock.

Announcement was made yesterday that the play entitled, "Contents Unknown," scheduled to be presented under the auspices of the Clarendon Rebekah Lodge, No. 28, this evening in the Odd Fellows Hall at Clarendon, has been postponed. A later date will be announced.

Art Exhibition Planned Today in Alexandria

Paintings and sketches by Miss Blondelle Malone, depicting famous gardens in all parts of the world, will be exhibited today from 11 a. m. to 7 p. m., at 120 South Fairfax street, Alexandria. Proceeds will go to charity.

The artist's paintings, which have been exhibited in many art centers both here and abroad, will be shown today in an old colonial home, erected more than 100 years ago on land purchased by Lawrence Washington when the town of Alexandria was established. Tea will be served from 4 to 6 o'clock by a section of the Women's Auxiliary of Christ Church, Alexandria.

Hyattsville Postpones Action on Garage Drive

After a heated discussion last night at a special meeting the Hyattsville Town Council decided to postpone until May 12 action on the application of H. G. Machen for a driveway across the sidewalk in front of his garage. A public hearing will be held at that time for the residents on Guy avenue who will be affected.

The council granted permission for driveways into a filling station on the Edlavitch property, with certain restrictions. Negotiations for the sidewalk right of way in front of the property are going on.

RICE'S DOUBLE BEATS YANKS IN WEIRD GAME, 5-4

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

GRIFFITH STADIUM was no place for the faint-hearted yesterday. Bobby Burke and Monte Weaver issued almost as many passes to first as the business office did to the free clientele.

Burke created an ominous situation in every one of the seven innings he worked, and 12,000 human tickers that were palpitating furiously with the Nats holding a slender two-run lead throbbed at new speed when Weaver walked our Yanks in his one-third inning tenure.

During the first three frames Burke apparently worked on the theory that it wasn't a legal inning unless he walked at least two Yankees. He issued only single passes in the fourth and fifth, but fell into evil ways again and walked two more in the sixth.

Burke was aiming at the major league record of eight bases on balls in a single inning when he was yanked by Johnson in the seventh after having filled the bases with three passes.

Weaver left the game after pitching one-third of an inning with a unique record. Five men faced him. He walked four and put another on base with a personal error. He was still in the midst of walking Chapman in the eighth when Johnson delivered him from the horror of it all.

Babe Ruth was an outstanding figure in the traffic down first base way all afternoon. He was up five times and drew four walks, three from Burke and one from Weaver.

Gehrig fouled one into the left field boxes in the third inning and the ball was promptly tossed back onto the field by a fedora-hatted gentleman whom the fans openly charged was a stockholder in the Washington club.

The correspondents with the New York team moaned aloud when Pennock was nominated to pitch, endangering the club's chances of making the six o'clock train, but Burke, not Pennock, proved to be the culprit.

Lou Gehrig was wired for sound when he struck out in the sixth with two on base. The fans could hear as well as see Gehrig swing. His groan as he missed a wide curve was probably heard in the center field bleachers.

When Monte Weaver and Moe Berg, the Nats' intelligentsia battery which boasts four college degrees, pooled their intellect and conferred on the problem of pitching to Pinch-hitter Combs in the seventh, it seemed that the developments could not be otherwise than momentous. But they proved quite ordinary, Combs drawing the thirteenth Yankee walk of the day.

Weaver and Crowder pitched almost a full game in the bullpen waiting for Burke to join the Royal Order of the Derrick into which he was finally inducted in the seventh. Before the game was over, Marberry and Brown had also seen bull pen duty.

This morning finds the Nats three full games in front of the Yankees and seven full games ahead of the Athletics, which is a respectable lead, even if 136 more games are still on the schedule.

The wise fans in the vicinity of the press box thought the business of walking Lazzeri and Jorgens in the seventh was a plot to get Allen out of the Yankee line-up in favor of a pinch hitter. Allen had allowed the Nats no semblance of a hit in five and two-third innings.

The Johnsonian theory of left-handed batting against right-handed pitching was proven when Sam Rice came through with his momentous double in the seventh, when he pinch-hit for Ossie Bluege. Sam was cheated of a triple when Judge played safely and held third.

Little Johnny Kerr, sensing the successful conclusion of the game if he got the relay of West's throw from Meyer in time, budged not an inch in putting the ball on Jorgens in the ninth, to complete a brilliant double play. Kerr waved the ball in Owens' face just to prove he didn't drop it.

Mat Referee Stops Match At Bolling

Riley Is Disqualified for Roughness; Winters Wins.

Koloff Tosses Heslyn in Six Minutes in Feature.

WRESTLING history was made last night at Bolling Field before a crowd of 800 who didn't seem to care a great deal when Referee Billy Jones, one of those hard-working foils of the mat game, disqualified a rassler, somebody named Pat Riley, and awarded a match to Dan Winters.

It took everybody by surprise, even the rasslers, who continued plying their trade about three minutes after the ultimatum. The charge was unnecessary roughness, and it must be admitted that it was almost half as rough as a Bull Martin vs. anybody match.

It was the first disqualification since the flying tackle injected monkey glands into the mat game hereabouts.

Fans Enjoyed Referee's Efforts.

The decision came after about ten minutes of amiable cuffing, hair pulling and nose tweaking in what was by far the best bout of the night. The boys were taking some beautiful ear dives on the loose plank when Jones spoiled it by calling it off. It was fun watching him call it off, for he had to dig down in a great animated pretzel hold the boys had on each other, and Riley nearly threw him during the lecture.

Dan Koloff, known modestly as the Bulgarian Lion, roared through to a six-minute win over Jim Heslyn, whose birthplace, Australia, produced another great mat man in Tom Heaney. The patrons were still buying intermission hot dogs when Koloff won, shattering an age-old tradition that feature bouts must run 38 minutes. Koloff won on a presentable body slam. He weighed 230 and seemed very powerful. He rassled barefooted.

Other Sextet on Card Looked Alike.

The other boys all looked alike, varying only in the amount of hair on their chests, but a visit to the official hold and timekeeper proved that in reality they were six different men and produced three different matches.

They were as follows: Lee Wycoff defeated Charles Leahman in 13 minutes with a headlock; Ivan Vakturoff defeated Mike Getteson in 16 minutes with flying mares, and John Rogoski and Lewis Allaire rassled for the world's worst wrestling championship, but it ended in a 30-minute draw.

De Glane, Title Claimant, At Next Bolling Show

Matchmaker Goldie Ahearn announced last night that Henri de Glane, recognized in some States as world's wrestling champion, would meet Lee Wycoff next Tuesday night in an outdoor show at Bolling Field. In the event of rain the match will be held in the Bolling Gymnasium.

Zachary's Relief Work Lets Braves Top Phils

Philadelphia, May 3 (A.P.).—The league-leading Boston Braves evened the series with the Phils today by the score of 9 to 4.

Excellent relief work by Tom Zachary after the Phils had knocked Seibold from the mound, gave the Braves their victory. Benge, who started for the Phillies, was not only hit hard but accorded poor support. Hal Lee hit his first homer of the season in the third inning.

165 Seek Amateur Ring Titles Tonight

Four D. C. Boys Crave A. A. U. Honors and Olympic Chance.

New York, May 3 (A.P.).—Cocky kids of the Nation, who fight for the fun of it, and a medal, cut loose their rolling punches in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night in the first round of the forty-fifth annual National Amateur Athletic Union boxing championships.

In the field are 165 warriors, champions of 29 district associations. They come from half the States of the Union to fight for titles in eight classes, and the glory of entering the Olympic tryouts in San Francisco.

Four Washington amateurs will compete in the tournament. They are Louis Gevinson, District bantamweight champion; Steve Muti, middleweight champion, and John Ryon and Kirkwood Burke, runners-up, respectively, for the local featherweight and light-heavyweight crowns.

U. S. TO KEEP NET TEAM INTACT

Same Line-up to Face Mexico That Beat Canada Here.

NEW YORK, May 3 (A.P.).—The same Davis Cup squad that was powerful enough to sweep last week's five-match tie with Canada at Washington was named today to represent the United States against Mexico in the North American zone semifinals May 13, 14 and 15 at New Orleans.

Ellsworth Vines, Wilmer Allison and Frank Shields again will share the singles assignments, while Allison will team with Johnny Van Ryn in doubles.

Vines won two singles matches against the Canadians, while Allison and Shields each captured one. Unless Mexico provides unexpectedly stiff opposition, the same line-up probably will be used. The matches will be refereed by J. Mills Newton, of New Orleans.

Scattered at present, the United States squad will assemble again this week-end for exhibition matches at Chicago and Kansas City before continuing to New Orleans. Allison left today for his home at Austin, Tex.

Simmons' Homer Helps A's Beat Red Sox, 6 to 1

Special to The Washington Post.

Boston, May 3.—The Mackmen kept pecking away at the offerings of Pitcher Danny MacFayden here this afternoon and beat out the Red Sox, 6 to 1. Until the ninth, the visitors had to be satisfied with one run at a time, but they rallied and scored three in their final turn at the plate.

Al Simmons cracked out two hits, including a homer.

Shorey and McKee Top Qualifiers

76s Lead First Day Field in Army-Navy Tourney.

Remaining 144 Shoot Today; Women in Team Play.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST.

SUNNY skies and cool, refreshing breezes with greens in fine condition, to say nothing of playing from improved lies, all combined yesterday to contribute to a successful opening of the spring invitation golf tournament of the Army-Navy tournament. All of these advantages, enjoyed by a field of 157 players who included numerous leading golfers of the District, should have resulted in a multitude of low scores. On the contrary, only nine golfers were able to turn in cards in the 70s. The stories of misadventure on the course would fill a book.

The low cards of the day were turned in by John C. Shorey, of the Manor Club, and Craig McKee, a student of George Washington University, each with 76. Shorey is a former District junior who has been a leading figure in golfing circles for some years, while McKee, who registers from the Grand View Country Club of Des Moines, is the amateur State champion of Iowa.

McKee Early Leader.

McKee's card of 76 led the field throughout the day until late in the afternoon when Shorey had finished his round, and then Shorey naturally regretted that his encounter with a rock pile on the fifteenth hole and a missed putt on the eighteenth hole had prevented him from leading the procession. The cards of the two leaders:

Out—
Shorey	4	5	4	5	5	3	4	4	4	—37
McKee	4	5	4	5	5	3	4	4	4	—36
In—
Shorey	3	4	5	5	5	4	4	3	4	—39—76
McKee	3	5	3	6	4	5	5	3	4	—40—76

The scores of the nine contestants who broke 80 were as follows:

John C. Shorey, Manor	39	37—76
Craig McKee, Grand View C. C.	36	40—76
M. B. Bennett, Congressional	39	39—78
Luther C. Steward, jr., Cong	41	37—78
M. Parker Nolan, Congressional	39	39—78
D. W. Atherton, Montrose C. C.	42	36—78
Harry G. Pitt, Manor	39	40—79
P. B. Hoover, unattached	40	39—79
J. J. Jankowski, Catholic U.	40	39—79

Although the entry list for today numbered 144, including many well-known golfers, the probability is that these nine players will qualify in the first sixteen. Pitt's 79 was somewhat of a disappointment, even though he expressed himself as thoroughly satisfied after starting 5—7—5—5. The course severely penalizes erratic drives and Pitt's tee shots showed a fatal tendency to wander from the straight and safe line which runs down the center of the fairway.

Harrell Has Hectic Round.

Many of the scores showed interesting features, one of the most remarkable being turned in by R. T. Harrell, of the Washington Club, who was 12 strokes over par on four holes, including an 8 on the second and fourth, but who managed to go out in 40 and return in 43.

When all the cards had been placed in the rack last evening there were 52 players at 90 and under, indicating that this figure will at best be on the ragged edge of qualification. The scores of 90 and under were as follows:

80—Chas. W. Cole, jr., Indian Spring; Henry D. Nicholson, Washington Golf and Country Club.

81—John P. Holzberg, Columbia.

82—E. B. Wagner, Indian Spring.

83—Louis Pusch, unattached; R. T. Harrell, Washington.

ADOBE POST NEW DERBY THREAT

Seen Certain Starter After Easy Victory Over Eligibles.

By C. ROBERT KAY.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 3 (A.P.).—Adobe Post, heretofore lightly regarded as a Kentucky Derby candidate, was the surprise winner of the Preparation Purse at Churchill Downs today, defeating ten other Derby eligibles, and became an almost certain starter in the $50,000 added stake to be raced Saturday.

The Knebelkamp & Morris nominee disposed of the crack field of Western Derby candidates with ease and finished 2½ lengths in front of the late Joseph Leiter's Prince Hotspur, which beat J. W. Parrish's Cold Check for the place by a head. Adobe Post ran the mile in 1:38 4-5.

Overlooked by most of the bettors, who had made Prince Hotspur and A. B. Letellier's Sazerac the cofavorites at 3 to 1, Adobe Post rewarded his backers $23.56 for a $2 win ticket, $11.88 to place and $5.32 to show. Prince Hotspur's place price was $5.62 and show, $3.52. Cold Check paid $4.18 to show.

Indian Runner Is Fifth.

The Jackson Park Stable's Crystal Prince, a rank outsider, was fourth by a head, and Hal Price Headley's Indian Runner fifth, also by a head. A length back was Norman W. Church's Gallant Sir. Other also rans were Charles T. Fisher's Cee Tee, J. P. Respess' Our Fancy, Mrs. W. T. Anderson's Cabezo, Plunkett & Chinn's I Pass, and Sazerac.

Indian Runner led most of the way around, and his effort was considered especially good in view of the fact he had completed a long trip from the East only yesterday and had no chance to loosen up before entering the $1,200 purse race today.

Adobe Post was off last and was among the tailenders until the head of the stretch when he moved around fast and won going away. The winner was on familiar ground, as he had won a race for juveniles on Derby day last year.

6 Derby Eligibles In Action.

Six Derby eligibles are entered in races at the Downs tomorrow. A seven-furlong race for fillies will include J. W. Parrish's Depression, which may start in the Derby coupled with Cold Check if she wins to-

Dodgers Score 8 Runs In 9th to Beat Giants

New York, May 3 (A.P.).—The Brooklyn Dodgers came through with one of the season's prize rallies in the ninth inning today, scoring eight runs to defeat the Giants, 11 to 7. The defeat kept the Giants in last place.

The Dodgers collected seven hits and two passes in the ninth, along with a couple of Giant errors. Johnny Frederick started the rally with a homer with one on. He made five hits in six times at bat. Mel Ott and Len Koenecke hit homers for the Giants, accounting for five runs.

Inception Scores His First Victory Over the Jumps.

By WALTER HAIGHT
(Post Staff Correspondent).

PIMLICO RACE TRACK, May 3.—Sun Meadow scored a notable victory here today but little Danny McAuliffe, the rider, was unable to return to the judges stand to receive the royal welcome the backers of Mrs. Kathrine Elkins Hitt's Sun Briar colt had prepared for the horse and boy. Sun Meadow, after winning the race from Happy Scot, Ladder and other crack sprinters, ran to midway of the backstretch before McAuliffe could slow that terrific speed that carried Sun Meadow the 6 furlongs in 1:12.

The colt shied at a little brown dog that happened on the track and threw McAuliffe off and against the rail, stepping on the boy as he lay on the track. A crowd gathered at the spot and the injured rider was taken to the track hospital to be weighed out before being transferred to the South Baltimore General Hospital.

McAuliffe suffered severe injuries, including a skull fracture. His condition was regarded as critical at the hospital last night.

The race was the tenth running of The Jennings, worth $3,030 to the winner, and some 12,000 were on hand to witness the card. Happy Scot was installed an even-money favorite, with Ladder, which won this race last year, second choice.

Proteus and Microphone Early Leaders.

Proteus and Microphone were first to show speed and this pair fought it out along the back stretch, with Happy Scot third and Ladder and Sun Meadow just behind. On the turn into the stretch, the order began to change. Proteus and Microphone were slowing. Happy Scot was charging to the front, but the expected move of Ladder failed to materialize.

Sun Meadow chased Happy Scot until straightened out in the stretch where McAuliffe moved the colt ahead to stay. His margin at the finish was a length and a quarter. Microphone managed to hang on to take the show end.

The card opened with the defeat of an odds-on favorite. Grace Blotter, paying a $35 mutuel, stepped down in front of Star Fairy, the choice, with Royal See, another long one, third. Grace Blotter, a Trueman-trained filly, was prominent from the start but it appeared that Star Fairy would take the race as the pair turned into the stretch on about even terms. However, Bejshak managed to gain a length advantage with the field a sixteenth from the finish and applied the whip to seal the victory.

Inception Winner Over Jumps.

Inception, once popular stake horse, scored his first victory over the jumps, defeating a field of nine which accepted the tussle in the Monkton Steeplechase. Citron was second ahead of Totalisator. Jockey W. Collins had the gelded son of Sporting Blood well in hand for the first trip around but let out the wraps as the field was opposite the judges' stand and his mount moved up to take the lead on the final turn. He outran Citron when the last jump had been cleared. Beelzebub tired after setting most of the early pace.

Rigan McKinney, owner of Inception, would have liked to have had the mount on Inception, but he must idle due to a broken collarbone suffered in yesterday's nightmare steeplechase.

Illusive, the medium of a pile of late wagering, won the third race. Peeved was second with Gallic, the favorite, which suffered interference, third. Most of the race was between the first two horses, and they finished in about the same positions as they rounded the stretch turn.

Chosen Pal, Mrs. B. F. Christmas' Playfellow gelding, won the fourth race in convincing fashion. Starting slowly, as usual, Chosen Pal went to the outside to circle the field and win going away in the stretch drive. Worthington was second with third money going to Hurawuy.

The victory for Chosen Pal was a popular one, the public going to him in a great big way. At that, he paid a $6.20 mutuel.

JOE AND ASBESTOS

(Watch Sunday's Post for New Secret Code) —By Ken Kling

They again scratched Asbestos' horse yesterday so the bank roll stood still and is $20.15. He is now on his way to Kentucky to try and spot the winner of the Derby. His code horse lost.

Meanwhile the old boy is betting $2 on Prince Athelin at Churchill Downs.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—GRACE BLOTTER, $35.00, $8.50, $6.30; STAR FAIRY, $2.50, $2.30; ROYAL SEE, $5.30.

GRACE BLOTTER, displaying good speed and well handled, withstood a bold effort from STAR FAIRY when entering the home stretch and was slowly moving clear approaching the finish. STAR FAIRY, rushed hard to secure racing room after meeting with early interference, raced to even terms with the winner, but was not good enough after swerving into GRACE BLOTTER at the final furlong pole. ROYAL SEE saved ground and closed gamely to outstay BLACK SHEEP. Latter, vigorously ridden throughout, raced well. SNOWDRIFT was unable to menace the leaders. NUTTING raced evenly. TREMENDOUS, GALA TIME and APPREHENSIVE were carried wide around the turn.

SECOND RACE—Two miles. Purse, $2,000; allowances. The Monkton Steeplechase. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start poor. Won ridden out; place, driving. Went to post at 2:29. Off at 2:29½. Winner, R. M. Kinney's dk. ch. g., by Sporting Blood—Chrysalis II. Trained by W. A. Harris. Value to winner, $1,400; second, $400; third, $200. Time, 3:52. (13 jumps).

Two-dollar mutuels paid—INCEPTION, $7.80, $5.30, $5.30; CITRON, $11.60, $6.30; TOTALISATOR, $9.50.

INCEPTION, fencing in clever fashion and reserved for the first mile, went to the leader after the tenth fence and, gaining command at the twelfth fence, was steadied along to outstay CITRON. Latter, saving ground at all of his fences, entered stiff contention in the final half mile, landed badly at the final fence, but recovered quickly and finished gamely. TOTALISATOR raced BEELZEBUB into submission in the first mile, took a slight lead and then held on resolutely when challenged. BEELZEBUB, rated along for the first mile, weakened steadily thereafter. HUON JOY was held safe throughout. POLINOS was outrun. ALPHEUS went well for the first mile. RED ROCKET II fell at the eleventh fence.

THIRD RACE—Four and one-half furlongs. Purse, $1,300; claiming. The Oriole. For 2-year-olds. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:06. Off at 3:11. Winner, Miss M. Two-dollar mutuels paid—ILLUSIVE, $8.10, $5.70, $2.90; PEEVED, $5.40, $2.70; GALLIC, $2.30.

ILLUSIVE, avoiding crowding when leaving the back stretch, assumed command midway of the turn, continued stoutly when displaced at the final furlong pole and, coming again outfinished PEEVED. Latter, stoutly ridden, took a brief lead when straightened into the home stretch, but was unable to withstand the winner. GALLIC suffered early interference, secured racing room entering the home stretch and finished gamely. BORA showed a good test. CHANGEABLE saved ground and raced evenly. THE BLACK lost a great deal of ground when moving into the home stretch. NORTH SHADOW was held safe. SKITTER was crowded back while racing with the leaders leaving the back stretch.

FOURTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good from gates. Won ridden out; place, driving. Went to post at 3:40. Off at 3:42. Winner, Mrs. B. F. Two-dollar mutuels paid—CHOSEN PAL, $6.20, $3.30, $2.60; WORTHINGTON, $5.00, $3.10; HURAWAY, $5.00.

CHOSEN PAL, blocked and forced to take up going to the first turn, was taken wide for racing room when settled on the back stretch, continued on the outside when moving into contention, came gamely when straightened into the home stretch and disposed of WORTHINGTON inside the final furlong. WORTHINGTON, a keen factor from the start, took command in the home stretch, but could not resist the winner. HURAWAY, outrun for six furlongs, finished gamely on the inside. PAS ENCORE was used up setting the pace and tired. HIGH SOCKS and FLAMINO MAMIE weakened when put to a drive. GAYOLA was never a factor. FIFE weakened badly.

FIFTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $3,000 added. The Jennings Handicap. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:15. Off at 4:16. Winner, E. R. Two-dollar mutuels paid—SUN MEADOW, $19.30, $6.30, $4.60; HAPPY SCOT, $3.00, $2.40; MICROPHONE, $3.80.

SUN MEADOW, outrun for the first three furlongs, reached the leaders with good speed when put to a drive and, wearing the pacemakers down inside the final furlong, was drawing clear under pressure nearing the finish. He was worked out a mile and unseated his rider when shying from a loose dog on the track. HAPPY SCOTCH rated in close pursuit of the leaders, slipped through the inner rail rounding the turn to take command, but was unable to stall off the winner. MICROPHONE raced PROTEUS into submission and held on well for the closing drive. PROTEUS had keen speed for a half mile. BLACK JACKET had no excuses. LADDER weakened fast after a half mile.

SIXTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,300; claiming. The Forest Park. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:55. Off at 4:58. Winner, S. W. Two-dollar mutuels paid—MEXICO, $9.00, $4.40, $3.30; FAIR JACK, $5.10, $3.50; FERVOR, $4.80.

MEXICO, going forwardly from the beginning, gained stoutly when straightened into the home stretch and vigorously ridden, wore FAIR JACK down approaching the finish. FAIR JACK, a keen factor, raced GERARD into defeat and fought it out willingly in the final drive. FERVOR, outrun early, worked his way up on the inside and was going strong at the end. GERARD displayed good speed for five furlongs and tired fast thereafter. PORTAM tired in the final stages. ANUBIS raced evenly. AL GREEN lacked speed.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. The Magnolia. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 5:29½. Off at 5:29½. Winner, E. R. Bradley's b. c. (4), by Black Servant—Bit of White. Trained by W. Hurley. Value to winner, $900; second, $250; third, $150. Time, 0:23 3-5, 0:48, 1:13 2-5, 1:39, 1:45 4-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—B'AR HUNTER, $5.40, $3.70, $3.10; HIGH PROOF, $5.50, $4.80; AVALON, $6.10.

B'AR HUNTER, taken under stout restraint while forcing the pace, wore AVALON down when straightened into the home stretch and finished with speed in reserve. HIGH PROOF worked his way up on the inside the entire trio and closed gamely in the final test. AVALON, rated in front and saving ground in the early stages, held on well when challenged. WILLIAM T., taken under restraint early, made a stout effort in the final half mile, but was not good enough. DAISABURO was outrun. BUCK AND WING was done early.

WESTERN WINS FROM TECH HIGH NINE IN ELEVENTH, 7 TO 6

Payne Wins His Game On Bunt

FRIDAY'S GAME.
Eastern vs. Business.

"THE bunt is mightier than the swipe," a learned man said many years ago, but it took until the late date of May 3, 1932, for the high school baseball series boys to realize it. Western High was the realizer, and the sudden-found knowledge enabled it to beat out Tech High yesterday, 7 to 6, and boost itself into a second-place tie with Central.

Tech, fighting like fury to win its first game of the series, tied up and outdistanced Western, 6 to 5, in the ninth inning, but Western came back in its last half of the inning to knot it at 6-6. The teams were held at bay in the tenth.

It was the last half of the eleventh inning and one down. Robertson booted Clark's grounder. DeStephan singled off the tiring Ed Turner, and Big Bill Payne lumbered to the plate. At bat in the inning before, Payne ingloriously struck out, with the winning run on third. This time he waved his big bat as though he were going to practice mayhem on the first pitched ball, but when it hummed down at him he laid a neat bunt along the third-base line. Everybody was safe.

Reds Mulloch, Western's little first baseman, who had hit a home run in the third inning, came up, and the Western supporters pleaded for another such display of socking power. But Reds, for some unaccountable reason, also bunted, to the complete amazement of the Tech infield, and Clark rattled across the pan with the ball game dragging in his spikes.

Payne rescued Raedy in the ninth when that worthy, after a good performance for a couple of hours, weakened and saw his game come cluttering down about his ears, when Fritz Nau battered a home run over the right field cyclone fence with Wills and Crenshaw ahead of him.

Payne was pretty much of a pain to Tech's chances, striking out three men during the tenth and eleventh and chalking up his second series win.

Martin, of Western, hit the longest home run of the series in the fourth when he cleared the head of Eddie Wills in left field with a drive that would have hit the Griffith Stadium wall on the pick-up. Virnstein was Tech's batting tyro, leveling out three hits in five appearances at the plate. The teams divided twenty hits.

TRIPP HURLS NO-HIT, NO-RUN GAME

Pitches for Big Print Shop as Gulf Refiners Bow, 4-0.

BILL FLESTER, president of the Industrial League, is credited with a remark that the best week-day baseball this year will be seen in the loop he presides over.

Terminal and Constructioneers bore testimony to the truth of his statement by battling six innings to a 5-5 tie in the opening game Monday.

Yesterday "Lefty" Tripp added another bit of prestige to Bill's reputation as a forecaster by twirling eight innings of no-hit, no-run ball as his Big Print Shop mates pounded another "Lefty," this one a lad named Stevens, for a 4-0 victory over Gulf Refining.

Tripp Fans Eight Batters.

Tripp was in rare form. He fanned eight and issued five passes. With men on base he was well-nigh invincible. Although combed for nine hits, Stevens was far from being an easy mark for his opponents. He scattered the hits effectively, with the exception of the seventh inning, when the Printers bunched their blows for a trio of runs.

Departmental League Games Result in Ties

The two games played in the Departmental League yesterday resulted in ties. Agriculture and Treasury played five innings to a 5-5 deadlock, and the Union Printers battled D. C. Repair Shop to a 2-2 stalemate in nine innings of play.

PRO NETMEN PLAY HERE SUNDAY

Tilden and Kozeluh in Feature at Wardman.

BILL TILDEN, for years the leading figure in the game of amateur tennis, and since 1931 the king of pro netmen, estimates that in conjunction with three other players he earned in the neighborhood of $1,000,000 for tennis associations, clubs and causes during his amateur days.

Tilden came along during the ten greatest years of American sport, the period between 1920 and 1930, a decade that produced Dempsey, Jones, Man o' War, Rickard and Babe Ruth. More people witnessed athletic events during this ten-year stretch than ever before, or ever since.

Tilden's great battles with Billy Johnston, between 1920 and 1923, his brawls with Vincent Richards from 1924 to 1926 and his memorable matches against the French triumvirate of Rene Lacoste, Henri Cochet and Jean Borotra drew the biggest gates tennis has ever seen.

40,000 Failed to Get In.

At Wimbledon, against Cochet, Tilden drew 16,000 and saw nearly 40,000 applications for tickets turned down. Forest Hills Stadium has only been packed (15,000 capacity), when he played. He tramped for ten weary years from one end of the civilized world to the other, and his every appearance brought revenue to tennis groups.

Rapidly approaching 40 years of age, the gaunt Philadelphian is attempting to turn his last few years of wizard-like tennis into currency, and while he has not been doing badly, times being what they are, it is rather certain that he will never earn as much as a professional as he and his confederates made for the associations as an amateur.

On the other hand he probably never will, during the remainder of his career, meet more stern competition than Sunday afternoon at Wardman Park Hotel, when he tackles Karel Kozeluh, the famous Czechoslovak professional, in a five-set match. Kozeluh beat Tilden, 7—5, 6—1, last Saturday night in Cincinnati.

Also on the Wardman card will be Hans Nusslein, 22-year-old professional champion of Europe, who will make his local debut, meeting Roman Najuch in a preliminary singles match. A doubles will follow, matching all four players.

Gonzaga, Business Battle to 4-4 Tie

Gonzaga and Business fought it out to a 4-4 tie game yesterday afternoon on a Monument Grounds diamond, but were evicted by a reservation at the close of the seventh inning. During the duration of the abortive game, Gonzaga outhit the public high boys 7 to 5, but left their men stranded.

IN THE WAKE OF THE GAME

BLANK dates in the schedule are drawn by the Nationals today and tomorrow, with the first invasion of the Western clubs opening on Friday, the second "ladies' day" of the season. It will not be a day of rest for the natives, for Manager Walter Johnson has ordered them to report this morning for a stiff batting drill. The Yankees will not idle, either, as they left here last night for Bridgeport, where they stage one of those exhibition things this afternoon.

Thirteen games will be played against the Western invaders, the teams showing here in this order: Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit and St. Louis. The latter will be here for four games, with the others playing three each.

Monte Weaver will be seeking his fourth successive win against the revamped White Sox when they open here Friday.

Double-header dates, as a result of postponements, have been assigned the Nationals, as follows: At Boston, June 2 and 4; at New York, May 19 and 21.

Catcher Bill Dickey drew a three-day suspension for his remarks to Umpire Brick Owens when he was banished Monday for too strongly protesting a called third strike. Jorgens replaced him.

Pennock opened the game for the Nats by passing Myer on four successive balls.

Allen's first two offerings to Bluege, after he relieved Pennock in the first, were strikes. Then he walked the third-sacker to fill the bases.

When Allen followed by fanning Berg and Burke it was his sixth strikeout in succession and represented all of the putouts of his major league career, for he fanned the only three to face him in his one other start under the big tent.

Chapman was credited with the first single off Burke, getting it in the third, but the lanky southpaw had walked five at this early stage of the proceedings.

When Burke walked Ruth in the fourth it filled the bases with two dead and brought Larruping Lou Gehrig to the tee. He kindly tapped to the pitcher.

Gehrig made a great catch of Berg's foul in the fourth, falling over the bats into the Nationals' dugout after snaring the ball. It was fortunate for him that he was not injured.

When Burke passed Chapman on four successive balls opening the seventh it was his tenth pass of the game.

Reynolds' hit in the eighth was the first National safety since the first round.

Had Judge been a mind reader and known that Sewell was going to fumble Spencer's roller, the Nationals would have scored another run in the eighth. Judge headed for home and then stopped so Spencer could carry on to second during the run-down.

Schmeling-Sharkey Postponed to June 21

New York, May 3 (U.P.).—The New York State Boxing Commission today granted Madison Square Garden's request for permission to postpone the heavyweight championship fight between Max Schmeling and Jack Sharkey from June 16 to June 21.

teen men left stranded during this stretch. True, they molded a run in the fourth, but this came as a result of an opening triple by Lazeri and a single by Jorgens, which followed.

This marker left the Yankees two runs behind, for the Nationals had started off with a rush and counted three times in the first while pounding Pennock off the peak. Of the first six batters to face the southpaw, two walked, Manush and Cronin doubled and West and Reynolds singled. There still would have been none out when Allen relieved Pennock, but for the fact that Cronin was nipped trying to make a triple of his blow.

Once Allen found his bearings, he was invincible. He filled the bases by passing Bluege when he first toed the slab but then fanned both Berg and Burke and had not yielded a hit when he retired after the sixth.

One Yankee Run Forced In on Walk.

Weaver found the plate swinging like a pendulum when he started the eighth and he quickly walked Sewell and Ruth. His poor peg to Judge on Gehrig's roller filled the bases and, when two balls were called on Chapman, he was sent to the crying room and Crowder called into action. He finished what Weaver started, walking Chapman to force in a run. Crosetti's fly was long enough to let Ruth score and Gehrig take third and the latter tallied with the run that put the Yankees in the lead when the Nats missed a double-play on Lazeri's roller to Cronin. Result: Three runs without the need of a hit.

The fight was not knocked out of the Nats, though, for they won the game in their half. After West coaxed a pass and was forced on Cronin's attempted sacrifice, Reynolds singed and the sacks were loaded when Judge watched four wide ones pass him. Andrews was rushed to the hill and Rice put at the tee in Bluege's place. He doubled, two Nats scurried over the plate, and the baby rally ended.

All the Nats had to do was to hold the aliens in their final turn at the tee and they did so, but had a little trouble and gave the fans some more worry before finally doing so. Jorgens led off with a single and pinch-hitter Saltzgaver fanned. Byrd singled Jorgens to second and Sewell lofted to West. He made the catch and his return to Myer was rifled to third in time to nip Jorgens, who tried to advance after the out.

Reynolds kept up his hitting pace by getting two singles in four times up, while Jorgens was the only Yankee to hit safely more than once. Ruth and Gehrig went hitless, although men were on the runways practically every time they went to the tee.

Capital City Midgets, Juniors Meet Tonight

ENTRIES in all divisions of The Post's Capital City League, with the exception of the Insects, will close next Monday at midnight with the league secretary at The Post sports department. At this time all teams must post their franchise fees and submit the signed contracts of players who will participate in the opening games.

Several teams already have submitted their players lists. All who possibly can are urged to return their contracts as early as possible. Teams entered in all but the unlimited division are reminded to return birth certificates with their player contracts. Any player not registered with the league by Monday at midnight will be ineligible to participate in the opening games.

A joint meeting of the midget and junior divisions will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in the office of the playground department at the District Building. The senior teams will meet Friday night at the same hour in the same office. The meetings will be the last before the opening of the league.

COTTON PRICES RISE AFTER EARLY LOSS

July Contracts Sell Higher, Closing at 5.74; Buying in Liverpool.

New York, May 3 (A.P.).—An early advance which appeared to be influenced by the overnight announcement of the Federal Farm Board's selling policy, was followed by reactions in cotton today, but after selling off from 5.80 to 5.59, July contracts steadied up again and closed at 5.74, on a renewal of trade buying and covering.

The final tone of the market was steady at net advances of 2 to 6 points.

The opening was steady at unchanged prices to a decline of 6 points on overnight selling orders and in response to indifferent Liverpool cables. The comparatively small offerings were quite readily absorbed, however, and the market worked upward during the morning.

The Federal Farm Board's announcement that 650,000 bales of the stabilization holdings would be marketed in an orderly manner during the year beginning next August, was considered constructive and was probably reflected by some of the buying which sent May up to 5.62 and October to 6.04, or about 6 to 12 points above yesterday's closing quotations.

Later some selling was encouraged by stock market weakness reports of favorable weather in the South and complaints of a continued slow demand for cotton goods. May sold off to 5.49, and October to 5.85, making net declines of about 5 to 13 points, but offerings were absorbed and prices stiffened up again during the last hour on a continued trade demand spurt of covering.

According to the New York Cotton Exchange Service, world's consumption of American Lint Cotton for the month of March amounted to 1,157,000 bales against 979,000 last year.

Liverpool cables reported covering and trade calling in that market but said business in cotton cloths and yarns was slow to develop.

Exports today were 21,121 bales, making 7,502,236 bales so far this season.

A New York Cotton Exchange seat sold today at $11,000, a decrease of $1,200 from the previous transaction.

World consumption of American cotton in March was larger than in any other month since January, 1930, according to the New York Cotton Exchange Service. It aggregated 1,157,000 bales, compared with 1,066,000 in February and 979,000 in March a year ago.

FRISCO CHIEFS PLAN INTEREST SLASHES

Railroad Studies Ways to Meet I. C. C. Verdict in Granting Loan.

New York, May 3 (A.P.).—Consideration of ways and means of complying with the Interstate Commerce Commission's stipulation for a reorganization of capital structure occupied the attention of St. Louis-San Francisco Railway officials here today.

The I. C. C. approved a loan of $1,800,000 to the road from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, provided that the company presents a plan, before June 1, for reducing its fixed interest charges.

It was understood that the railway's officials had already acceded in principle to the commission's ruling and that, in all probability, the loan would be granted even before the submission of the reorganization plan.

E. N. Brown, chairman of the company, said discussions were now under way as to the procedure to be adopted which would best protect bond holders.

A number of conferences, he added, would be necessary between the road's officials and interested bankers before any plan could be adopted. The company's bankers here are the Chase Securities Corporation and Dillon & Read.

While details of the proposed reorganization are yet to be worked out, it was generally assumed that a paring of interest rates on all the road's maturities was to be expected. At the same time, under the existing circumstances, officials do not expect any serious objections from bond holders.

Market Comment

Following are excerpts from yesterday's leased wire market comment in Washington brokerage offices. These tabloid surveys will appear daily on the market pages of The Washington Post.

Westheimer & Co.—Poor earnings and dividend prospects, taxes and political uncertainties and the possibility that other railroad reorganizations may be necessary in view of the I. C. C. recommendations in the St. Louis-San Francisco case, are still the predominant market factors. Until something occurs to change the outlook, only spasmodic rallies are likely.

G. M.-P. Murphy & Co.—Activities of Congress continue the most important market factor. Passage by the House, by large majority, of a pension bill and a bill directing Federal Reserve officials to raise commodity prices to about 1926 levels does not make very inspiring reading. It is little wonder that neither market nor business can display more confidence as a result of better financial developments, when they consider such indications as to what Congress will do to measures concerning taxes or economy.

Statement of condition of member banks, published this morning, confirms the indications shown by statement of New York City banks Friday. Time and demand deposits are up substantially, apparently because of continuing increase in public confidence in the banks, but the statement also shows that the banks are slow in taking advantages of the larger credit base. Loans are down sharply, both collateral and other, while investments in securities other than governments are also lower. However, if the changed deposit trend continues, the others will soon change.

The statement applied for the week ended April 27. The bond market since then has given no hint of substantial bank buying.

Waggaman, Brawner & Co. — A favorable sign has been the increase in deposits of the New York banks for the last five weeks. The total deposits April 30 were $6,247,124,000, as compared with $5,911,330,000 on March 26, an increase of $336,000,000. The bank stock market is almost at a standstill. Quotations have sagged in sympathy with the general market. At present levels, New York bank stocks are selling at an average price equal to 78 per cent of their book value and yield from 6 to 10 per cent. Insurance stocks have been weak in sympathy with the declining stock and bond market. Stocks of the old line companies are selling at 50 per cent of December 31 liquidation values.

Poor's Financial Survey—Seven major declines in stock prices place the industrial stock index for May 1, at 82 per cent below its high in September, 1929. Poor's Index of general business has dropped 56 per cent since August, 1929. Each stock index recovery—save one—failed to reach the high of the preceding upturn. The seventh decline was more precipitous than any of those preceding except the first.

U. S. BANKERS FAILED TO SEE MATCH DATA

Boston Financier Declares Firm Relied on Honor of Ivar Kreuger.

New York, May 3 (A.P.).—Testimony that Lee, Higginson & Co., which conducted the American financing, had never seen documentary proof of Government match concessions that formed an important part of the assets of the Kreuger & Toll enterprises was offered today before Oscar W. Ehrhorn, Federal referee in bankruptcy.

More than $168,000,000 of United States money was invested in the enterprises in eight years, it was brought out at a hearing in the International Match Corporation receivership.

Fred M. Allen, a director of Lee, Higginson & Co., and president of the International Match Corporation since two weeks after Ivar Kreuger's suicide in Paris, testified he and his associates always had implicit confidence in Kreuger's integrity and had no fear as to the affairs of the company until after the Swedish financier's death.

Kennecott Copper Proposes Merger

Offer Is Made to Nevada Stockholders on Share Exchange Basis.

New York, May 3 (A.P.).—The Kennecott Copper Co. today made an offer to minority stockholders of the Nevada Consolidated Copper Co. under which Kennecott will exchange one share of its own stock for each two shares of Nevada.

Kennecott has controlled Nevada consolidated for a number of years, through its holdings in the Utah Copper Co., which in turn holds a large interest in Nevada.

Deposits of Nevada stock with Kennecott Corporation would be made between May 12 and June 15.

Properties of Nevada Copper are located in Nevada, Arizona, and New Mexico. Latest available records show that about 45 per cent of the companies' capital stock is owned by Utah Copper.

Announcement of the exchange offer was made at Kennecott's annual meeting by Stephen Birch, president, who said that complete conversion of the Nevada shares would increase Kennecott's outstanding stock to 10,734,000 shares against 9,394,000 at present.

Giving effect to the consolidation, the combined companies, he states, would have more than $50,000,000 in cash, marketable securities and metal.

Since January 1, President Birch said, Kennecott's operations have broken "about even." Mine output has been slightly less than shipments.

"Recovery in copper," he declared, "must depend on improvement in general business."

Stocks and Bonds Decline Under Persistent Selling

New Low Prices Recorded in Dull Trading as Losses Range From 2 to 3 Points; Curb Market Continues Downward After Resistance.

By JOHN L. COOLEY.

New York, May 3 (A.P.).—Today's stock market was cut to a familiar pattern—losses of 2 to 3 points in perhaps a dozen issues and moderate or nominal declines among not only the rank and file but also most leaders.

Trading was dull. Nevertheless, evidence of persistent liquidation emphasized prevailing uncertainties and acted as a damper on a modest recovery that endured for most of the first hour. Subsequently, the weakest stocks were those which had had the largest declines on Monday, namely, Hershey, Western Union, U. S. Steel Preferred, Bethlehem Preferred, Woolworth, Penney & Safeway, to which were added American Can, Columbian Carbon, Industrial Rayon and Coca Cola. Auburn joined this group in the late trading with a 4-point break.

Special liquidation, such as the cleaning up of bank loans on security collateral, was believed in brokerage quarters to be playing an important part in the continued heaviness of the market. Selling of Western Union was linked to the proposed Federal tax on communications, but American Telephone held up better than it did yesterday.

Special Selling Blamed.

Weakness of such issues as Penney & Lehman Corporation was said in sources close to the companies to reflect special selling, rather than new developments within the organizations.

Oils were firm for a time, notably Royal Dutch and Standard of New Jersey, in response to news of the arrival of Russian Oil chiefs in this country to attend an international conference in an effort to end cutthroat competition in world markets.

A private survey of leading brokerage houses by one of the larger investment trusts found the majority of the opinion that liquidation had not altogether spent itself, although a substantial minority was described as feeling that selling was about complete in many issues. Favorable factors mentioned was the Federal Reserve credit expansion program and increased confidence in banking. Unfavorable factors included uncertainty over congressional activities, continued fiat business, and doubt as to the outcome of the Lausanne conference next month.

For U. S. Steel common, American Telephone, Allied Chemical, Du Pont, National Biscuit, Union Carbide and Case net losses averaged barely half a point.

Rails were quiet and fractionally lower for the most part.

Oils, interested in the forthcoming international curtailment conference, did fairly well, Royal Dutch being helped by its strength abroad.

National Lead broke away from the trend with a 5-point advance while Homestake rallied nearly 3.

Sales totaled only 899,410 shares.

Dollar Weak Abroad.

Foreign currencies, which recently had been quiet, shied away from the dollar, apparently because of fresh fears that inflationary talk in this country might be translated into action. Bankers attributed part of the dollar's weakness to speculative selling. There were rather large exchanges into European moneys still on the gold basis.

During the past month or so Europe has been content to reserve judgment on our national finances pending attainment of a balanced national budget, but it was pointed out by bankers that congressional disagreements, enactment of the Goldsborough bill by the House and controversies over governmental economies had undoubtedly caused renewed restlessness abroad.

United States Bonds Sag.

United States Government bonds sagged today for the first time in a number of weeks, but corporate issues displayed a somewhat better tone than they have shown recently.

While the average for 60 principal loans again reached new low levels for the year, the decline was only fourtenths of a point compared with a drop of seven-tenths yesterday.

At the same time, trading was a little more active, sales totaling $11,434,000 par value.

Trading in the Federals was much heavier than usual and most of the Treasuries were off around one-half point, with the Liberties fractionally lower. The selling of this group was attributed partly to a barrage of profittaking and to uncertainty regarding economy measures being considered at Washington.

The rails, although emerging losers on the day, displayed considerable resistance. Early rallies in the low-priced carriers failed to hold, as a rule, although there were a number of modest advances retained.

Some of the modest transportation gainers included Allegheny Corporations 5s, New York Central consolidated and debenture 4s, Frisco 4½s, Southern Pacific refunding 4s and Southern 6½s.

Baltimore & Ohio liens were especially weak.

Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis refunding 5s lost 10 points.

Bonds of Armour & Co., American International, American I. G. Chemical, Childs Co., Chile Copper, Goodyear, International Telephone and Western Union were under pressure. The latter company's liens sank to new lows for 1932, off from 1 to 5 points.

Obligations of American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, Portland General Electric, North American and Liggett & Myers held their own.

Bonds of Australia and New South Wales advanced from 1 to 4 points, French 7½s made another new high for the year as did British 5½s. Ontario Power Service 5½s advanced 8½ points.

Curb Prices Lower.

Several sporadic efforts were made by the curb market to resist liquidation today but prices closed generally lower with the main body of favorites off fractions to 1 or more points.

The turnover was 120,000 shares, unchanged from yesterday.

The oil stocks held stubbornly, reflecting speculative interest in the forthcoming international conference of oil interests in an effort to end price warfare in the foreign markets. The Standard Oils were especially steady, the Indiana and Kentucky companies holding at yesterday's closing prices while Standard of Ohio moved up ½ point, to 24½. Gulf Oil lost ⅛ to 28⅝.

Electric Bond & Share common was off ⅝ point, to 11⅞, and the $6 preferred lost 1½ points, to 37½.

Eastern Gas & Fuel preferred made one of its infrequent appearances on the tape, selling at 39, off 20 points from its last previous quotation.

Cities Service issues were fractionally lower.

Gray Telephone Pay Station rallied 1⅜ points on rumors that Western Electric interests were seeking an interest in the company, although there was no confirmation of this report.

Appalachian Gas sold unchanged at ⅛ following announcement of receivership.

Technicolor and Tech Hughes closed the day unchanged. The former company issued its 1931 report showing net profit of $37,936, and Tech Hughes issued a report for the six months ended February 29 showing net income of $1,661,110.

Wall Street Briefs

Business failures numbered 610 in the week ended April 28, as compared with 603 in the previous week, according to Bradstreet's. The gain of 1.2 per cent contrasts with a normal expected drop of 6.3 per cent.

The General Public Service Co. announced today that it will purchase up to $128,000 face value of its 5 per cent debentures, due 1953, at 67, and accrued interest until May 12.

Steady liquidation throughout April resulted in a loss in value for 240 stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange, composing the 20 largest groups, of $2,534,657,948, according to an unofficial compilation. This depreciation was equivalent to 26 per cent, and compares with a depreciation of $1,926,902,983, or 17 per cent in March.

May opens with steel demand a trifle more sluggish but with increased steel production against Ford requirements as an offset, says the American Metal Market. Ingot production this week may be forecast at 22 per cent of capacity, a 1-point rise from the rate of the last three weeks, the journal states.

It is estimated by B. W. Dyer & Co., sugar economists, that United States consumption of sugar for the first three months of 1932 was less by 16,317 tons, or 1.34 per cent, than that of the like 1931 period.

It is reported in textile trade circles that blanket manufacturers in increasing number are going into the manufacture of piece goods for garments. Continued dullness in their own line and the prospect of some small profit in the new field are the principal factors in their action, it is said.

The National Electric Power Co., holding company for the Insull Eastern properties, has reduced its notes payable to banks and others by more than $3,000,000, according to Harry Reid, president of the company. Funded debt maturities in the next twelve months will amount to less than $3,000,000, of which more than $1,000,000 are owned within the system.

The tone of the bulk gasoline market at Chicago is reported easier with the low grade material below 57 octaine moving between 4¾ and 5 cents a gallon, compared with 4½ to 5 cents recently. The market is said to be reflecting a less-than-expected increase in consumption.

Exports of crude rubber by British Malaya during April showed a further contraction, totaling 36,670 tons, compared with 39,903 tons in March, and 43,483 tons in April, 1931, the Rubber Exchange of New York, Inc., reports.

RADIO NET EXCEEDS PREFERRED DIVIDEND

Profit for Quarter Reaches $503,224; Outlook for Future Hopeful.

New York, May 3 (A.P.).—Radio Corporation of America more than covered the quarterly dividend requirements of 87½ cents on its class "A" preferred stock in the first three months of this year, President David Sarnoff announced at the stockholders' annual meeting today.

Net profit after all charges was $503,224, equivalent after the "A" dividend, to 20 cents a share on the "B" preferred, on which dividends have been discontinued. In the first quarter of 1931 the corporation had net of $1,566,519, equal to 2 cents a share on the common, after preferred disbursements.

"Although the entire industry has been going through a trying period," said Mr. Sarnoff, "I can make the hopeful statement that I do not believe the situation has become any more aggravated in recent months. My view is that conditions through which we have passed have emphasized the inherent soundness, rather than weakness, of radio. We have been swimming upstream but nevertheless the last year has been marked by a great deal of progress.

Radio Covers Preferred.

"I believe that the constructive efforts being exerted in many quarters will begin to bear fruit during the current year, so that, although industry may not for some time regain its normal levels, the readjustment to new conditions will have advanced sufficiently to justify the expectation of an acceleration in business."

The corporation has continued its experimental work with television, Mr. Sarnoff reported. He believed a premature attempt to market television, however, "would severely retard a development that has great promise" and said receiving equipment would be offered to the public when practical results could be assured.

Union Tank Car Co.

A quarterly dividend of 35 cents on the common stock was declared today by the Union Tank Car Co., placing the issue on a $1.40 annual basis, compared with $1.60 previously. The dividend is payable June 1 to stock of record May 16.

Congress Cigars.

Congress Cigar Co. reports first quarter net profit of $102,913, equal to 30 cents a share, compared with $222,911, or 68 cents a share, a year ago.

Mack Trucks.

Mack Trucks, Inc., reports for the quarter ended March 31 net loss of $313,071, compared with net loss of $178,737 in the first quarter of 1931.

Allegheny Steel Co.

The Allegheny Steel Co. had a first quarter net loss of $366,378 after depreciation, interest and taxes, compared with net profit of $285,632, or 37 cents a share on the common stock in the March quarter last year.

Amerada Corporation.

Amerada Corporation reports for the quarter ended March 31 net income of $225,386, after depreciation, depletion, abandoned leases, drilling expenses and other charges, equivalent to 24 cents a share.

This compares with $58,235, or 6 cents a share, in the first quarter of 1931.

Stocks.

Foreign fears of American inflation under the Goldsborough bill appeared to dominate market sentiment and the list sagged to new lows in all categories.

Bonds.

The United States Government list broke for the first time in several weeks, and the averages also were lower for the combined leaders.

Curb.

Uncertainty over taxes, budget and inflation, together with a large crop of unsatisfactory earnings reports, made for general weakness. For the most part, the trade followed the big board.

Wheat.

An early rally was offset by sentiment that bullish crops reports had been more than discounted and the close was about 1 cent lower for the day.

Cotton.

Southern selling was liberal, but the Farm Board's new sales policy was generally interpreted as constructive. The tendency was lower, but the net change was small.

APPALACHIAN GAS RECEIVERS NAMED

Corporation Answer Admits Insolvency; Debenture Issue Is $13,029,500.

Wilmington, Del., May 3 (A.P.).—Three receivers were appointed in Chancery Court today for the Appalachian Gas Corporation, a holding concern controlling numerous public utilities. The receivership bill was filed by Theodore W. Hauer, of Drexel Hill, Pa., owner of 500 shares of the corporation's common stock.

The receivers named are Arthur B. Koontz, of Charleston, W. Va.; O. Howard Simonds, of Glen Ridge, N. J., and Elwin Evans, of Wilmington.

The corporation filed an answer admitting insolvency and consenting to the appointment of receivers.

The corporation has an authorized capital of 500,000 shares of preferred stock and 10,000,000 shares of common. It has outstanding convertible 6 per cent debentures in the principal amount of $13,029,500.

The business of the corporation consists of owning stock and other securities of other corporations. It owns 100 per cent of the common stock of Texas Gas Utilities Co., Monroe Consolidated Gas, Commonwealth Gas Corporation, Carbon Black Production Corporation, and Appalachian Management & Engineering Corporation.

The corporation also has large stock interests in the West Virginia Gas Corporation, Wayne United Gas Co., Ohio Valley Gas Corporation, the Empire Corporation, the Memphis Natural Gas Corporation, and the Allegheny Gas Corporation.

The bill of complaint states that the corporation will not have available funds to meet and discharge the semiannual interest payment on its debentures, the principal amount of $818,000 on a note, and accounts payable, all falling due this month.

The bill adds that a protective committee representing owners of debentures has been or is about to be formed to make a plan of reorganization and that such reorganization could be carried out only if receivers were appointed.

Further improvement in Italy's economic and financial position is reflected by the recent deduction in the discount rate of the Banca D'Italiano 5 per cent, says Romolo Angelone, Italian commercial attache at New York.

Coast Standard Oil Declares Dividend

California Company Earns $2,930,241 Net in First Quarter.

San Francisco, May 3 (A.P.).—Standard Oil Co., of California, declared the regular quarterly dividend today of 50 cents a share, payable June 15 to stockholders of record May 16. The company issued a financial report for the first quarter of this year, showing net profit after estimated income tax, of $2,930,241, compared with the 1931 first quarter net of $4,368,609.

Dividend requirements on the 13,102,000 shares of common stock, which constitute the sole capitalization of the corporation, will require $6,556,000—or well over twice earnings.

The company reported operating income of $7,193,819 compared with $8,563,116 in the first 1931 quarter.

Ten Nations Agree On Tin Yield Bar

Output to Stop for June and July; Run Cut for August.

London, May 3 (A.P.).—Tin production in the principal tin countries will be suspended during June and July and resumed in August at the rate of 40 per cent of the present assigned quotas, it was announced today.

The international tin cartel, in which the Malay States, Nigeria, Bolivia and the Dutch East Indies participate, decided upon this drastic action to improve the market for their product.

Beginning in August production will be resumed at 40 per cent of the quotas until the minimum selling price has been increased to £200 a ton. Then production will be raised to 50 per cent.

Meanwhile the tin pool will release one-third, or 7,000 tons, of its stock on hand. But should the price fall back below £200 the 40 per cent production will be resumed. The remaining two-thirds of the pool stock will be released only when the price of tin has averaged £210 a ton for the calendar month.

As an alternative to total suspension of production, the cartel's statement said, production may be maintained at a rate of 13 1-3 per cent during June, July and August. The effect of that device would be about the same, it was said.

The "standard" quota for the affected countries is 161,846 tons each, but the present quota is 91,096 tons. The present minimum release price of the pool is £165 a ton.

The statement said the production control scheme had been unanimously approved on the theory that the sacrifices involved would be compensated for by higher prices and more stable conditions.

Sugar Future Prices Record All-Time Lows

New York, May 3 (A.P.).—Early declines of 1 to 2 points in sugar futures today, with May contracts selling at 53 cents a pound, established a new all-time record low for that month, and new lows for the season on some of the more distant positions.

The decline reflected the unsettled refined market and the inactivity in raws and was accompanied by selling through houses with producing connections, but the offerings were pretty well absorbed and the market steadied later and at the beginning of the last hour was about net unchanged to 1 point lower.

New Financing to Date Totals $220,197,000

New York, May 3 (A.P.).—Only $220,197,000 of new public financing was done in the United States in the first four months of 1932, excluding domestic and Canadian municipal financing, according to figures compiled by Otto P. Schwarzchild, president of the National Statistical Service, Inc.

This amount compares with $1,380,959,000 for the same period of 1931 and with $2,300,799,000 for the first four months of 1930.

Dollar Values Abroad Drop on Budget News

New York, May 3 (A.P.).—Weakening of the dollar in the foreign exchange markets was one of the notable developments of the day in Wall street, and was generally attributed in international banking quarters to the obstacles encountered in Washington in the way of budget balancing and the passage by the House of the Goldsborough bill, directing the reserve system to endeavor to restore commodity prices through manipulation of credit and currency.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

CUTTING glass with a piece of string is very simple; all you need is a bottle, a string and some cold water. Wrap the string one turn around the bottle in the place where the cut is to be made, so that by sawing back and forth, the string saws against the bottle evenly. In a short time, the glass will become heated where the sawing takes place. Then, if it is suddenly dipped in cold water, the bottle will crack apart very nicely.

BITTER FIGHT LOOMS OVER WAGE CUT FOR LOCAL CARPENTERS

Labor Group Orders 25 Men to Stop Work Owing to Pay Reduction.

WILL SPREAD WALKOUT TO ALL LOW-SCALE JOBS

Builders Not to Compromise, Citing Need of Action; Nonunionists Hired.

A fight to the finish over a reduction in wages was declared yesterday between the Master Builders and the carpenters in their employ.

Incensed over the 30 per cent wage cut put into effect by the contractors Monday, the officials of the Carpenters District Council ordered 25 men to stop work at jobs which did not pay the union price of $11 per day. Business agents of the union will continue to remove their members from construction work which is not operating under the union regulations, L. H. Hartison, president of the council, stated.

J. R. Skinker, president of the Master Builders, said in reference to the "walk-out" of carpenters that his organization would not negotiate a compromise with the union and that contractors would replace the strikers with men, both union and nonunion, who would be willing to accept a minimum of $5 and a maximum of $8 per day. Contractors, he asserted, would employ men on an open-shop basis.

Opposing Stands.

The strike, Hartison said, will be organized and directed by carpenters' general office in Indianapolis. "Our organization is out to fight to the limit before we yield to any wage reduction," he declared. W. L. Allen, representative of the national office of the union, arrived here Monday, and said he will remain here until the wage dispute is settled.

Vacancies caused by the strike will be filled from a list of applicants, mounting into the hundreds, Frank J. Sheehan, secretary of the Master Builders, said. Numerous offers were made him by unemployed carpenters to work at the reduced wage, he stated.

The reduced wage, building officials said, became necessary because of the reduction of building activities in the city.

Held Only Remedy.

Contractors, Skinker stated, were clamoring for help, and the wage slash was the only immediate remedy possible.

The $8 scale, building officials said, was the prevailing scale, and that outside competition was one factor that made the reduction necessary. The number of carpenters employed by the association was approximately 200, it was estimated.

The Master Builders stated that they did not expect a general strike of the trades. There was a possibility of a sympathetic strike however, they declared.

A wage slash for finishers and rodmen in the employ of the Cement Contractors Association will be put into effect in a short time, according to members of the association. The present wage of $10 per day will be reduced to $8, it was stated.

Commissioners Decline To Act in Wage Dispute

The District Commissioners yesterday washed their hands of the wage controversy between the Washington Building Trades Council and A. Lloyd Goode, Inc., of Charlotte, contractor, erecting the Paul Junior High School, and advised the complaining employes to seek recourse in court.

This action was recommended by Corporation Counsel William W. Bride following an investigation by his office, and Lieut. K. B. Shilling, of the Engineer Department, into charges made by ten workmen that they had not been receiving the prevailing wage, in accordance with the Bacon-Davis law.

The contractor contended that the complaining workmen were not entitled to more money than they received. In one instance, it was said, the workmen were hired as helpers and had demanded the wages of full-fledged carpenters.

Previous wage complaints by the Building Trades Council against the W. P. Rose Co., of Goldsboro, N. C., were settled by District officials and the contractor was forced to pay the workmen the difference between what they had received and the prevailing wage for the District.

Missing Kitty Gives Writer Good Theme

It's just little things like this that keep policemen and newspapermen from dying of ennui.

Saturday Sixth Precinct police arrested two carnival men in connection with an alleged "flim-flam" involving a "knock the kitty off the box and get a cigar" game. The kitties, of course, are made of cloth and sawdust.

Now go on with the story.

The precinct telephone jangles and Desk Clerk J. J. McAuliffe answers.

"I read in The Post this morning," says a feminine voice, "about how you arrested those horrid men for letting people throw at those poor kitties. I believe they are the ones who stole my little cat. She hasn't been home for four days and I think those mean men went about the neighborhood gathering up cats for people to throw at and I think something ought to be done about it. You didn't find my little cat when you arrested them, did you?"

Child, 7, Injured by Automobile.

Eugene O'Neil, 7 years old, of 315 Third street northeast, was injured last night when struck by an automobile at Fourth street and Massachusetts avenue northeast. The car was driven by Joseph E. Martin, 37 years old, of 419 B street northeast. The child was treated at Casualty Hospital for injuries to the left leg.

WOMAN PRESIDENT NAMED BY CITIZENS

Mrs. Margaret H. Worrell Is Elected by Group in Columbia Heights.

The Columbia Heights Citizens Association last night elected its first woman president in the association's 38 years of history. The new president is Mrs. Margaret H. Worrell.

Other officers elected at the meeting at the New Amsterdam Hotel last night are: Seneca B. Bain, first vice president; Mrs. Marie F. Maddox, second vice president; William H. Coneby, third vice president; William C. Strauss, treasurer; Charles A. Stott, recording secretary; W. I. Swanton, corresponding secretary, and Albert E. Stephan and Albert E. Westrater, delegates to the Federation of Citizens Associations.

A committee was named to prepare for celebration of the association's thirty-eighth anniversary on June 14.

The association adopted a resolution reaffirming its request for an amendment of the traffic regulations calling for vehicles to come to a full stop 8 feet behind street cars taking on or discharging passengers on Fourteenth street northwest, regardless of safety zones or lack of safety zones. It also urged that the director of traffic make a survey of traffic conditions in the area bounded by Florida avenue and Shepherd street and Georgia avenue and Sixteenth street northwest in the light of the association's recommendations.

A resolution of regret was adopted on the death of Dr. William Tindall, veteran employe of the District, and copies will be sent to members of the family. Charles Edward Russell talked on symphony orchestras.

Dr. Perkins Heads Welfare Council

Mrs. Harry Bernton to Be New Vice President of Social Agencies.

Dr. Frederick W. Perkins has been elected president of the Washington Council of Social Agencies by the board of directors of that organization, Mrs. W. A. Roberts, executive secretary, announced yesterday. Mrs. Harry Bernton was elected vice president and E. C. Graham, treasurer. Mrs. Roberts was again named as executive secretary.

Dr. Perkins, as vice president of the council, has taken an active interest in the work of this organization, presiding at a number of the meetings in the absence of Miss Grace Abbott, former president, whom he succeeded. He will assume office at the next meeting of the council, Monday, aat 12:30 o'clock, at the Y. W. C. A. This meeting is sponsored by the Social Service Exchange and is the annual meeting of that department.

Miss Edith J. McComb, director of the medical social service department of St. Christopher's Hospital, Philadelphia, and chairman of the subcommittee of the community relations committee of the American Association of Hospital Social Workers, will be the principal speaker. Her topic will be "The Social Service Exchange—the Keystone of Social Work."

A. C. Mayer Is Elected As Jewelers' President

A. C. Mayer, of Washington, yesterday was elected president of the Maryland, Delaware and District of Columbia Jewelers Association to succeed Arthur J. Sundlun, also of this city, at the conclusion of the association's eighteenth annual convention, held at the Mayflower Hotel.

Other officers elected were J. T. Montgomery, Wilmington, Del., and E. G. Sturmer, Easton, Md., vice presidents; James H. Levi, Baltimore, secretary, and William H. Wright, Washington, treasurer.

Janitor Burned as Furnace Backfires.

His clothing saturated with burning oil when a furnace at a garage at Twenty-first street and New York avenue northwest backfired yesterday, James Wood, colored janitor, 30 years old, of 1211 Kenyon street northwest, was taken to Emergency Hospital in an undetermined condition.

Driver Finds Skates no Use In Rum Flight

If the roller skates in William P. Jordon's car were intended for use in case of motor trouble he did not get the opportunity to use them last night.

The skates were found in Jordon's automobile along with a pint of alleged liquor by Policeman H. H. Hodge of the Second Precinct, who stopped Jordon in an alley near Fourteenth and Irving streets northwest after a long and fast pursuit.

Hodge was off duty and, after attending the theater, was driving north on Fourteenth street when at New York avenue a large car made a right turn in front of his car, nearly striking it.

He saw two policemen in a taxi pursuing the fast traveling sedan and took up the chase. The car was pursued up Twelfth street, across N street to Vermont avenue and up Fourteenth street.

The operator of the fleeing car threw out several glass objects, believed to have been bottles, Hodge said. The policeman saw the car turn in the alley, so he drove around to its outlet and succeeded in stopping the man.

He was taken to the Second Precinct police station, where he was charged with transporting liquor and reckless driving.

CUT IN PORT FUNDS AROUSES PROTESTS

Commerce Chamber Directors Decry Necessity of Stopping Work.

A vigorous protest on the cut in appropriations for the District which will necessitate closing the ports of Alexandria and Georgetown, the Nation's earliest ports, was voiced last night at a meeting of the board of directors of the Washington Chamber of Commerce.

The ports are not only of historic importance, it was pointed out, but closing them will force water shipments destined for Washington to go to Baltimore or some designated port and then be reshipped. The board took the stand that this move was particularly unfortunate in view of recent agitation for a port authority for Washington City, including both Alexandria and Georgetown. Former appropriations for the port of Georgetown have been in the neighborhood of $41,000.

The board also reaffirmed its opposition to the Capper bill to tax certain transportation agencies in Washington on the ground that it was piecemeal legislation and such taxation should not be undertaken without a thorough study of the situation.

Alleged Slayer Caught In Detectives' Round-Up

Headquarters detectives succeeded in picking up a suspect wanted in Greensboro, N. C., for the slaying of a railroad detective yesterday and at the same time took in ten additional prisoners. Sergts. Brodie and Dowd said they took in all eleven men found at 1119 First street northwest when a number of dirks were thrown on the floor as they entered.

The man wanted in North Carolina is John Harris, alias John Lampkin, colored, 24 years old. According to a message received here yesterday, he is wanted in connection with the shooting of a railroad detective named Brown, attached to the city police force, in 1930. Police are holding the other ten on investigation charges for the line-up tonight.

Social Hygiene Expert to Speak.

Dr. Paul L. Benjamin, of the Social Hygiene Society, will speak tonight at a public meeting of the District of Columbia Public School Association in the Franklin School Building, Thirteenth and K streets northwest.

BURIED POWER LINES AT AIRPORT UPHELD

Commissioners Back Move to End Flying Hazard of Electric Wires.

Culminating a series of conferences extending over a year, the District Commissioners yesterday approved a recommendation of Maj. D. A. Davison, acting Engineer Commissioner, that they request the Public Utilities Commission to order the Potomac Electric Power Co. to place underground its high tension wires in the vcinity of the Washington Airport throughout that portion of the right-of-way over which the District government has jurisdiction.

Senator Hiram Bingham recommended this procedure after the directors of the airport had flatly refused to pay half the share of an estimated $11,600 to remove the poles along the Washington - Alexandria highway and to place the wires underground.

Conferences on the proposal started early last summer and dragged out through the fall and winter with apparently no progress. At first the power company refused to pay any of the cost of effecting the change and then later agreed to compromise on a 50-50 basis. Removal of the power lines was first suggested by the airport officials on the ground that they constituted a hazard to aviation.

Several reasons were set forth by C. E. Fauntleroy, of the Washington Airport, Inc., in his most recent letter to Maj. Davison as to why the power company should bear the entire expense of the work. The first of these was that the "Federal Government or the District of Columbia have advised us they propose to establish title to approximately 40 acres of land now owned by Washington Airport, Inc., and that any expenditures made on this property will be for the account of the Government if they are successful in establishing their claim."

Hoover Today Receives Appeal for Equal Rights

President Hoover will receive at the White House at noon today a committee representing the National Woman's Party, led by Mrs. Harvey Wiley and Mrs. Stephen H. Pell. They will solicit the President's support for the equal rights reservation to the World Court covenant.

The Senate foreign relations committee, meeting at 11 o'clock, will be asked to consider the same matter.

Father and Son Named In Auto-Accident Suit

A suit for $20,000 damages was filed in the District Supreme Court yesterday by Sydney Small, 5518 Chevy Chase parkway, with Woodie J. Hicks and Carl L. Hicks, 16 years old, of 3408 Morrison street northwest, named as the defendants.

Through Attorneys Charles H. Merillat and George H. Zeutzius, Miss Small claimed that on February 19 she was seriously injured when Carl Hicks, driving his father's car, struck her at Connecticut avenue and McKinley street northwest.

Ashes of 'Bob' Ingersoll To Lie in Arlington Today

Representative William E. Hull, of Illinois, will speak at services in Arlington National Cemetery today when the ashes of Robert Green (Bob) Ingersoll, who died at Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., in 1899, are brought here for final interment.

Mr. Ingersoll, whose agnostic views prevented his advancement to political fame, was the founder and leader of the Eleventh Illinois Cavalry during the Civil War. His ashes were brought to Washington yesterday by his daughter, Mrs. Wallace Marcus Probasco, of New York.

James G. Blaine was nominated for the Presidency by Mr. Ingersoll at the Republican convention in 1884. Blaine was dubbed the "Plumed Knight" in a burst of oratory by Mr. Ingersoll.

During the Civil War Mr. Ingersoll was captured by Confederate forces and, after waiting in vain to be exchanged, resigned from military service while still a prisoner.

UTILITY BODY MOVES TO CUT PHONE RATE; HEARING TO BE HELD

Notifies Company Hearing Will Be Scheduled in Near Future.

PROPERTY VALUATION EXPECTED TO BE MADE

Commission Holds Back Suit for Violation of Anti-Merger Act.

Having effected reductions in gas and electric rates in the District this year, the Public Utilities Commission yesterday took the first step toward bringing about a cut in the telephone rates. A formal notice was given the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. that a public hearing will be scheduled at the end of ten days.

The move is the culmination of a series of conferences which began last fall between the commission and telephone company officials. The latter are understood to have declined to reduce their rates voluntarily as did the Potomac Electric Power Co. and the Washington Gas Light Co., and consequently the utilities body intends to force such a reduction.

Valuation Is Due.

A general valuation of the telephone company's properties is expected to be undertaken also, though the time of this is dependent upon the outcome of the rate hearing. At present there is no valuation of the utility, as that made on an investment basis in 1914 was set aside by the District Supreme Court in 1925, when a compromise rate of $5 a month was ordered by the court. This rate remained in effect for two years from June 10, 1925, after which it was cut to $4.75 by agreement for the next year.

Based on the 1914 figure, the company's valuation, revised to include net additions and betterments to date, is $32,000,000 gross, or $28,000,000, when depreciation is taken into account. As the company's net income in 1931 was $2,318,000, it is estimated roughly that its earnings last year reached 8 per cent on the depreciated valuation.

Suit Is Held Back.

The commission in its notice ordered the telephone company "to furnish the commission without delay your complete rate schedules and statements of the cost of furnishing service to different classes of your customers, and the revenues derived from each class."

The commission also is holding back a suit against the company for violation of the La Follette antimerger act until a decision can be obtained in the more important case of the Washington Gas Light Co. This action grew out of the unauthorized transfer of $7,000,000 in approved capital stock by the local organization to the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., the parent concern.

Stuart Junior High Will Give Operetta

"Mount Vernon" to Be Produced Tomorrow and Friday.

Stuart Junior High School will present its spring operetta, "Mount Vernon," by Marten and Stoughton, in the school auditorium to morrow and Friday nights at 8 o'clock. The operetta depicts scenes in the life of George Washington, showing his home life over a period of 25 years.

The principal parts are taken by Clarence Ellis, as George Washington; Freida Trueman, as Martha Washington; Mable Harston, as Eleanor Calvert, and John Wright, as Jack Custis. There is also a large group of minor characters and a chorus of 65.

The operetta has many lovely dances, including the minuet, Virginia reel and gavotte. It was prepared under the direction of the dramatic committee of the school, Mrs. L. B. Berryman, chairman.

Alpha Eta Epsilon Meeting.

Alpha Eta Epsilon, honorary dramatic organization of George Washington University, will meet formally at the Carlton Hotel to receive Constance Conner Brown, director of dramatics of the university, tomorrow at 8 p. m.

POLISH GROUP LAYS WREATH

CITY RULE ALTERED TO CUT GAS DEATHS

Commissioners Provide for Full Inspection on Flue Connections.

In an effort to prevent further fatal accidents caused by faulty gas pipe connections on heaters, the District Commissioners yesterday tightened the regulations governing inspection of installation upon recommendation of Capt. Hugh P. Oram, director of inspection.

An amendment providing that "flue pipes from gas water heaters * * * shall not be connected with a chimney flue until the flue has been inspected and aproved by an inspector from the office of the inspector of plumbing" was attached to the gas fitting regulations. Heretofore a large number of gas heating boilers have been installed in residences without any inspection "other than the casual visual inspection which may be given by the building inspectors," according to A. R. McGonegal, District plumbing inspector.

The investigation which led to this amended regulation was brought about by the gas poisoning death recently at 1208 Holbrook Terrace northeast.

Reporting on the accident, Mr. McGonegal said that the failure of the builder to make an opening from the chimney crock into the flue lining had caused the stoppage. His inspectors have not been in the habit of requiring mechanics to remove flue pipes to examine chimneys, he said.

The plumbing inspector said that during the busy season an additional inspector or two will be needed to take care of the extra work if inspectors are required to examine chimney flues.

Visitor Reports Theft Of Articles From Hotel

E. R. Fellows, of Springfield, Vt., yesterday reported to police that articles valued at $447 were stolen from his room in the Mayflower Hotel.

The loot consisted of a quantity of photographic equipment, valued at $170, and a gray squirrel coat, valued at $277, he said.

Diamond Rings Stolen By Apartment Robber

Two diamond rings, valued at $150 apiece, were stolen from the apartment of Mrs. Arthur Brandes, 1631 S street northwest, last night while she was in another room of the apartment.

The burglar gained entrance by removing a screen and climbing in the window. He took a pocketbook containing the jewelry and $11 in cash and departed silently. While Mrs. Brandes was only a short distance away, she heard nothing, she told police, and discovered the robbery when she came back in her bedroom.

Citizens Indorse Two Capper Bills

North Cleveland Park Body Backs Old-Age Pensions and Traffic Plans.

Two bills introduced into the present session of Congress by Senator Capper, of Kansas, were indorsed last night by the North Cleveland Park Citizens Association at a meeting at 3923 Windom place northwest. The association will offer prizes this summer for the best gardens in the community and a prize committee was named.

The bills indorsed by the association were the old-age pension bill and one fixing responsibility of nonresidents of the District in automobile accidents incurring civil liability occurring within District limits. The latter measure has now been referred to the District Commissioners and the Director of Traffic and the association urged its approval by them.

John B. Dickman, sr., president, announced that the association will attempt to increase its membership in the next few weeks. R. A. Ashton, of 3626 Windom place northwest, and Mrs. Virginia M. Ambler, of 3634 Windom place northwest, were voted in as new members.

POLISH CELEBRATION HONORS WASHINGTON

Ambassador and Other High Officials Aid; Wreaths Are Laid at Monuments.

The Ambassador of Poland, Tytus Filipowicz, last night led the closing program of the Polish day celebration of the George Washington Bicentennial, at ceremonies in the Central High School auditorium.

During the day, exercises were held at the monuments of Gens. Kosciuszko and Pulaski under the direction of the Polish National Alliance. Wreaths also were placed at the base of the Washington Monument and at the tomb of Washington at Mount Vernon.

The celebration was started at 10 o'clock with a Bicentennial mass at St. Paul's Church, Fifteenth and V streets northwest. Then the group moved to statues of the Polish patriots, Kosciuszko and Pulaski, where children in native Polish costume placed the wreaths.

Speakers at the closing ceremonies in Central High School auditorium were Representative Leonard A. Schuetz, of Illinois; Dr. H. Pawlowski, vice censor of the Polish National Alliance; Miss Emilia Napieralska, general president of the Polish Women's Alliance; Thomas P. Littlepage, second vice president of the District Bicentennial Commission, and Ambassador Filipowicz.

On the musical program were the Harmony Society of Baltimore; Miss Jadwiga Czarnecka, Sidney Zamanski, Dr. Donald Brown and the Army Band, under the direction of Capt. William J. Stannard.

Police Hold Youth After Gun Battle

James Kosch Detained to Await Charges Following Chase in Auto.

James Kosch, 18, of 1203 G street northeast, was being held at the Fifth Precinct station last night, pending formal charges against him in connection with a wild chase he led police early yesterday, in which a number of shots were fired.

The youth, driving an allegedly stolen car, is said to have been perceived by Private Thomas V. Slominski, to strike a parked automobile near Lincoln Road and T streets northeast and continue on his way.

The policeman gave chase in his car. The pursuit continued all the way to the Highway Bridge, where park policemen joined the procession. Slominski said Kosch fired several times in the direction of his pursuers.

Boy, 5, Is Bitten by Dog; Eight Stitches Required

A 5-year-old boy was badly bitten on the face by a small dog yesterday. Eight stitches were required to close wounds in his lips, on his nose and right cheek.

The child, Paul Staples, who lives with his mother at the Gordon Hotel, was taken over to visit his sister, Mrs. S. C. Gruber, of 1324 Nineteenth street northwest. The dog of a neighbor happened to be in the back yard. When the child attempted to play with him the dog leaped and bit him. The Health Department placed the dog under observation for rabies.

Hoover Dam's Progress To Be Shown in Pictures

Pictures showing the development to date of Boulder Dam, also known as Hoover Dam, the $100,000,000 hydroelectric power and irrigation project of the Government in Boulder Canyon, Nevada, will be shown tonight at 8:20 o'clock in the assembly hall of the Central Y. M. C. A., 1736 G street.

Colored stereoptican slides made from a series of recent photographs will be exhibited. The scenes will be explained by Fred W. Willicutt, power expert. The public is invited. There will be no admission charge.

Beggar Slashes Lip of Man Who Took Him to Breakfast

The mendicant bit the hand that fed him, Walter L. Jenkins, 31-year-old carpenter at the Y. M. C. A., complained to police yesterday. Or more literally, he cut the lip that said "yes" when Jenkins was asked for a "dime for a cup of coffee."

Jenkins said that he was on his way to work when the man accosted him at Twelfth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest and told a sad story of being out of work and starving. The carpenter replied that he was on the way to breakfast himself, and asked the beggar to join him.

After the meal the beggar, evidently to show his appreciation, said he would accompany his benefactor as far as his place of work. They chatted pleasantly until they reached an alley short-cut to the Y. M. C. A., between Seventeenth and Eighteenth streets, Pennsylvania avenue and G street northwest, when the mendicant pulled out a knife and demanded Jenkins' money. Jenkins hardly had time to refuse before the beggar made a swipe at him, cutting him across the lip, and then ran.

BAR GROUPS TO WAR ON CHANGE PLANNED IN BANKRUPTCY LAW

Committee Will Testify at Hearings Today Before Congress Group.

ADMINISTRATOR'S IDEA IS CALLED DANGEROUS

New Association to Conduct Campaign to Prevent Favorable Action.

Definite steps in the proposed campaign to prevent passage by Congress of the new bankruptcy law in its present form were taken at meetings yesterday and last night of the American Bar Association and the National Association of Federal Practitioners, a newly formed organization.

A committee representing the American Bar Association, headed by Jacob M. Leshley, of St. Louis, will appear before a joint hearing of the Senate and House judiciary subcommittees this morning to present its views on the proposed new bankruptcy law which, among other changes, would establish a system of administrators in place of the present bankruptcy courts.

Hold System Dangerous.

The two associations, composed of Federal court lawyers of long experience, view the administrative system "as dangerous during the present period of economic uncertainty." "A few simple changes" in the bankruptcy law will be recommended.

The decision to appear before the congressional subcommittees was reached at a conference yesterday of the American Bar Association bankruptcy committee and a special committee of the National Association of Federal Practitioners at the Mayflower.

Campaign Is Planned.

The Practitioners Association, which was formed this week, also organized an executive committee yesterday, composed of prominent lawyers in various parts of the country, which will form branches of the Practitioners Association throughout the United States for the purpose of campaigning against the bankruptcy law as it now stands.

Judge Max Isaacs, secretary and treasurer of the National Association of Federal Practitioners, and editor of American Bankruptcy Review, will continue the work of the organization in Washington. He will maintain headquarters at the Raleigh Hotel.
